PARKER AT HELM; SHAKEUP RESULTS

GINGER FOR CAMPAIGN.

Names Gorman as the Actual Manager and Discusses Slate for the Empire State Democrats.

[BY RAYMOND.]

New York, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—This has been Alton B. Parker's busy day. From the time when he landed from the yacht Sapphire at 9 o'clock in the morning at Thirty-fifth street and was given the freedom of the city by Steve Darcy, who keeps the free bath at that place, until he crawled between the sheets late at night in his hotel room on Longacre square, the democratic candidate for the presidency hadn't been idle a moment.

He had to start in on the reorganization of the democratic campaign machine and at the same time to agree with the party managers on the outlines of a state ticket to be put up the convention at Saratoga next week. If he did not actually accomplish both of these big tasks, Candidate Parker at least took a long step in that direction, and once for all established his capacity as a rapid fire managing politician.

Gorman Becomes Manager.

As the result of a series of extraordinarily secret conferences which the presidential candidate held with the managing spirits of the party, it was practically agreed that Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland should have the actual charge of the democratic campaign. Tom Taggart is not to be supplanted officially, but he will be expected to confine his attention carefully to the western states.

A tentative slate for the New York state ticket was talked over. It will contain the name of William Travers Jerome, the reform district attorney of New York City, who was visited in person by Senator Hill today and asked to permit the use of his name. He may be put on for first place, or for the vacancy in the Court of Appeals which the presidential candidates leaves. Daniel S. Lamont, Edward M. Shepard, or John B. Stanchfield may be given the nomination for governor, in which case Jerome will be promoted from the district attorney's office to the Court of Appeals. If neither one of the three mentioned is selected Jerome will be nominated for governor.

Parker Proves His Cleverness.

All these deductions from the series of conferences today seem to show Mr. Parker is a clever politician, to say the least, because before he went to bed he had made extraordinary progress in the direction of harmonizing matters between the different factions of New York democrats, and the party lords tonight are jubilant, whereas only a week ago they were whispering they could not carry New York state.

Candidate Parker had a lively time of it on the Hudson river last night. He left Hyde just before dinner time on the yacht Sapphire, which is owned by John B. McDonald, the subway contractor.

Now, a funny thing is that this same John B. McDonald is a personal friend of Charley Murphy, the Tammany boss. McDonald taught Murphy how to play golf and introduced him to his club, where the two men met constantly on the links. It was perhaps for this reason that Mr. Parker, instead of taking a train to New York, which would have brought him here in a couple of hours, took the yacht down and had a tempestuous night of it.

Hurricane Strikes Yacht.

A hurricane of wind and rain struck this part of the country soon after the presidential candidate left the landing where he has been accustomed to take his morning plunge into the Hudson. As the yacht proceeded down the river the storm increased in its intensity. The Hudson in places is pretty wide, and the wind comes whistling down between the hills on either side in a lively fashion. The boat is a river craft, not built for high seas, and it was rolling in bad shape, constantly shipping water, and rendering the situation dull on board decidedly unpleasant.

So bad was the hurricane that when the craft reached Cornwall it was found absolutely necessary to seek shelter. The boat was anchored in a safe little cove, where it was partly sheltered from the effects of the storm, but there was not much sleeping aboard, and there was plenty of time for political discussion, although unfortunately there was none of the big leaders aboard, Mr. Parker being accompanied to the city only by Smith M. Weed and Judge O'Brien.

Late in Reaching Hotel.

It had been planned that the yacht should reach New York early in the morning, but the storm delayed the arrival until 9 o'clock. It was for this reason that when Candidate Parker reached the new Hotel Astor, in Longacre square, he found Henry Gassaway Davis, his aged running mate, and William F. Sheehan, his blue eyed campaign manager, already waiting for him.

They had been there an hour, cooling their heels in the lobby and wondering what had become of the candidate. He had breakfasted on the Sapphire before he landed, and so was ready to begin the series of conferences, which were conducted with remarkable secrecy and rapidity and which have captured the enthusiasm of the practical politicians of this city.

Arrangements had been so made that each man wanted was invited for a specific hour, and for a definite length of time. He was introduced to the candidate's suite on the fifth floor by various devious passageways and private elevators. The crowd in the lobby down below was given scarcely a glimpse of the campaign managers, as they were rapidly brought face to face with the candidate himself, who took hold of the details of the campaign management as if he had never been buried in the dignified seclusion of the bench of the Court of Appeals.

Letter of Acceptance Considered.

Senator Davis and Billy Sheehan had been asked to be there early in the morning for the express purpose of listening to the finished product of Mr. Parker's letter of acceptance. It is about half as long as it was when he first prepared it. He cut it down for the express purpose of contrasting it with the letter of President Roosevelt, which the democratic leaders admit was a strong document, although they have asserted it was much too long. Every paragraph of Candidate Parker's letter was read over to his associate on the

SECOND RUSSIAN RAIDER SIGHTED

BIGGER THAN THE LENA.

Vessel Is Believed to Be Out in Search of Merchant Ships with Goods Destined for Japan.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 15.—Members of the crew of the H. M. S. Grafton, just arrived from Como, report the presence of the Russian armed auxiliary vessel Corea in the Pacific, off the northern coast of Vancouver island, steaming slowly southward. They expect that the Corea will come to Esquimalt or Victoria. It is described as a larger vessel than the Lena and is commanded by an officer of high rank in the Russian navy.

The news has caused much excitement at Esquimalt, where preparations to deal with its case, should it enter, are now being made.

British Ships Making Ready.

H. M. S. Grafton, the flagship of the Pacific squadron, will enter the drydock at daybreak Fri[illegible] morning for a "rush" cleaning. It is to be out in twenty-four hours.

H. M. S. Flora is at its moorings in Esquimalt harbor under steam, ready to put to sea on an instant's notice. The Grafton will also be ready for immediate sea service on issuing from drydock.

Plans to Coal and Get Away.

The officers of the Grafton said they had learned that the Corea was bound for Esquimalt or Victoria to coal and refit for its return voyage to Petropavlovsk, Siberia, the only port available to Russian vessels in the west Pacific.

The ship is reported to be crowded with exseamen of the Russian Pacific fleet, released recently at Vladivostok.

Menace to British Shipping.

The Russian vessel is regarded as a direct menace to British shipping. H. M. S. Flora could put to sea in ten minutes. It has steam up and its cable ready for shipping any moment.

Another serious report from Esquimalt this evening is to the effect that imperative orders have been received from London to rush to completion the Signal hill fort, commanding Esquimalt and ten miles of the strait.

Work will accordingly be hurried night and day, and the huge nine inch siege guns mounted without delay.

One of the navy officers remarked a few days ago that grave apprehension is now entertained of Germany's entrance into this quarrel; hence, no doubt the feverish activities in and around Esquimalt.

Must Dismantle at Once.

At Esquimalt tonight the navy men are confident the Corea will report within twenty-four hours.

A commissioned officer of the Grafton said that if the Corea puts in here its case will be attended to in short order, hinting that the commander of the station has instructions already from the admiralty as to what to do, and that the order will be to dismantle unconditionally.

H. M. S. Shearwater is ashore on the rocks off the Alaskan peninsula and efforts to get it off have failed. It went on six or seven days ago. The Shearwater is the British naval patrol vessel to guard British seal interests in the Bering sea. It was on its way to Esquimalt, after spending some months in Bering sea and Alaskan waters.

Corea Bought from Denmark.

A Corea formerly belonged to the Danish-Russian East Asiatic Steamship company and was, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen, Aug. 31, together with the same company's Kitai, equipped as a Russian auxiliary steamer. The two vessels, it was stated, would be attached to the Baltic squadron.

Orders the Lena to Disarm.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—Acting Secretary of State Adee today gave out a statement regarding the Russian ship Lena, now at San Francisco, saying:

"The president has today issued an order through the secretary of state directing that the Russian armed transport Lena, now at San Francisco, be taken in custody by the naval authorities of the United States and disarmed.

Commander Requests Action.

"This action has been taken upon the written request of the commander of the Lena, addressed to Rear Admiral Goodrich, setting forth that as the vessel is incapable of putting to sea without needful repairs it must disarm, and asking that needful repairs be permitted after disarmament."

The disposition of the crew will be arranged for later, although most of the members of it express the belief that they will be allowed to return home under parole.

CZAR'S SLIP OF THE PEN COURTS DEATH FOR TROOPS.

Volunteers Who Express Desire to Give Lives for Empire Met with Hope That Their "Wishes May Be Realized."

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 15.—Considerable amusement has been caused by a slip of Emperor Nicholas' pen in accepting the offers of several companies of Siberian militia who volunteered for service at the front. The petition read:

"We humbly lay at your majesty's feet our desire to be permitted to fight and die for the fatherland."

The emperor, in accepting, wrote on the margin of the petition in his own hand:

"I thank you sincerely and hope that your wishes may be fully realized."

CUT THIS OUT TODAY

September....., 1904.

Dear Sir:

Those Illinoisans who live outside of Chicago will be distinct gainers if Chicago gets its new charter, and therefore, with the greater confidence, I ask you to vote for the charter amendment.

This amendment cannot possibly be carried without the votes of a great many—probably 300,000—Illinoisans who live outside Cook county. But if Chicago, by generous outside help, obtains its new system of local government it will be a more satisfactory place for all Illinoisans to visit and to trade in. It will be able to borrow money with which to make necessary improvements. It will be able to manage its affairs more efficiently and economically. Its merchants will have better facilities for doing business. Persons and property will be better protected.

I would not ask you to vote for the amendment if its effect were to help Chicago at the expense of the rest of the state. But that cannot happen.

It has been said in some quarters that the object of the amendment is to rid Chicago of the payment of state taxes and put a heavier burden on country taxpayers. That is untrue. The city will continue to pay as large a part of the state taxes as it does now. Indeed, the impetus given to its growth by a new charter will be such that it will bear a larger proportion of state taxation than it does now. Thus the ratification of the amendment will tend to lower the taxes of the property owners of the outside counties.

Yours very truly,

.....

SALAD PROVES HIS UNDOING.

Backslider Is Discovered and Returns to His Pasture.

New York, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Señor Santos, a Cuban grass eater of Brooklyn, who follows Nebuchadnezzar for his stomach's sake, has a disciple. True, his disciple was a backslider, but he is in the fold again.

Frank B. Taylor, who runs a delicatessen store in Brooklyn, is the first to follow Señor Santos. He says it cured him and will cure others. Taylor, who is a Maine Yankee, and along in years, has been troubled with indigestion. He tried everything for it, even doctors, he says. The doctors gave him up. And then came the discovery that Santos, who lives two blocks away, had been cured by native blue grass.

Taylor emptied a salad bowl, went to the park and gathered a peck of grass tops. He cut out his regular food and chewed grass all day long. All about him were tempting potato salads, ripe frankfurters, and Virginia hams. They tempted him not; he closed his nostrils.

Tempter Begins Work.

A week passed. Taylor felt as strong as an elephant—too strong, for a tempting desire for flesh came upon him. It took all his New England conscience and Maine backbone to resist the slices of Westphalia ham and bologna which he set daily in the showcase. On the fourteenth day of Taylor's new life his daughter was out and he was alone in the shop, and the potato salad gave out. He had been letting his daughter mix the salad, believing it best to remove temptation wholly from his path. But that salad had to be mixed.

"Anyhow," mused Taylor, "it won't do any harm to smell the stuff. Having an appetite for good victuals is a healthy sign. I won't taste the stuff. I will just smell it."

Potato Salad Causes Fall.

That, as his tutor would have told Rollo, was the first fatal step. He got out boiled potatoes. Such nice, creamy, firm potatoes they were it gave him a pleasurable sensation just to cut into them.

"It does beat all how his old stomach keeps a-grippin' a man," said Taylor. "But I've found a better way."

He chopped in onions and parsley, and they certainly smelled good. He mixed the salad dressing.

Fortifying his mind thus he dumped the potatoes in a salad bowl and poured out the rich, creamy, tempting dressing and mixed it up. He looked at it a long time.

To Taste Is to Know.

"I wonder now," he said, "if I got that dressing just right? How am I going to know if I don't taste it?"

"Of course, how can you tell? One little taste will do no harm," whispered the voice of the tempter. And then, with a mad, despairing sigh, the disciple of Santos and pure living fell.

When Miss Taylor came back to the shop she shrieked at the awful sight she beheld. There her father was sitting on the floor. Beside him was the empty salad bowl, the skins of three bolognas, the crumbs of two loaves of bread, and an empty jam jar. With a joy gone mad, he was sinking his teeth into the pink fragrant heel of a Westphalia ham.

"I was tempted and I fell," said Taylor as he reached for a plate of smearcase.

Returns to Pasture.

This eating jag should have killed Taylor, but it didn't seem to affect him at all. No woe developed and he continued as strong as an elephant. He ate as in the old days in Maine. Two weeks of the great Santos cure seemed to have restored his digestion when doctors had failed.

Last Tuesday, however, it all came back. He was sick and all the delicatessen in the store couldn't tempt him. So Taylor returned to the straight and narrow path. He took a little grass hamper and went forth to Sunset park and came back chewing the cud of simplicity.

"It beats all how strong old Adam is," said Taylor, "but I have learned my lesson. When I get sick of Sunset park grass I'm going to try some good old Maine white clover. White clover used to taste good when I was a boy.

"But I guess I'll let some one else mix the potato salad," concluded Taylor. "The tempter gets too powerful sometimes."

ITALIAN HEIR BORN.

Queen Helena Gives Birth to Boy at Racconigi.

WILL BE NAMED HUMBERT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Sept. 15.—An heir to the throne of Italy was born tonight at 11 o'clock at the royal palace at Racconigi, where Queen Helena had gone in expectation of the event.

The queen and the future king are doing well.

The first boy born to King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena will be named Humbert, after his grandfather, the late King Humbert, and will be given the title of "prince of Piedmont," which was borne by King Humbert while he was crown prince.

"Prince of Rome" Unlucky.

For a time the king and queen thought of giving their first boy the title prince of Rome, but finally decided it would be tempting fate to do so.

In the first place it would have given offense to the papacy at a moment when efforts are being made to establish more friendly relations between the vatican and the Italian monarchy.

In the second place the title "Prince of Rome" is too strongly suggestive of "King of Rome," which was the title given by Emperor Napoleon to his unhappy and short-lived son, whose story has been retold in the play of "L'Aiglon."

Father's Title Not Liked.

The title of prince of Naples, borne by Victor Emmanuel while crown prince, was discussed, but it was not a popular title, by reason of its being in a measure usurped, since it served to call attention to the fact that the late king had taken advantage of the revolutionary movement of Garibaldi against the Bourbon king of Naples to annex the latter's dominions to his own.

The arrival of the heir will, it is feared, add bitterness to the feud existing between Queen Helena and the king's cousin, the duchess of Aosta.

Duchess of Aosta Disappointed.

The birth of a son to the queen is a sore disappointment to the duchess, whose son some day would have been king had no heir been born to King Victor Emmanuel. The duchess is an exceedingly ambitious woman, and it is said that when two daughters were born to the king and queen, and no son, she openly expressed her hopes. The feeling existing between her and the queen because of this rivalry of heirs has been strong, and has been expressed in various acts showing a bitter dislike.

The two little princesses were born in 1901 and 1902, and are great favorites with their father. Their full names are Yolande Margherita Milena Elisabetta Romana Maria and Malfada Maria Elisabetta Anna Romana.

The arrival of an heir to the throne of Italy following so closely on the birth of an heir to the throne of Russia is also looked upon as fortunate, and the excitable Italian people are busy looking up all the lucky omens surrounding the event.

STEALS A BIG AUTOMOBILE AS OWNER LEAVES THEATER.

Bold Thief Appropriates Touring Car and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morris Ride Home in Street Car.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Morris, 1930 Deming place, came downtown in an automobile last night. After attending a performance at the Garrick theater they returned home on a street car. A thief appropriated the touring car.

Mr. Morris is a member of the firm of F. Westerman & Co., bakers, at 127 North Sangamon street. He and his wife on entering the theater left the automobile in charge of their chauffeur. Toward the time for the performance to end the chauffeur grew hungry and went to a nearby restaurant.

Then the show ended, and just as Mr. and Mrs. Morris emerged the thief jumped in the heavy touring car and started it off at a high rate of speed, manipulating the lever cleverly. Several street cars were in the path of the vehicle, but the thief dodged them and turned the machine north in Dearborn street.

Mr. Morris and a crowd were close on the machine, but they quickly were left behind. The automobile is valued at $3,000.

FIRE MAY COST LIVES

HEROIC RESCUES A FEATURE.

Lieutenants Rush to Save Pipemen and Suffer for Bravery.

Heroic rescues of firemen by their brethren marked a spectacular west division blaze last night. Two men who, obeying orders, ventured into the midst of flames, received burns which may be fatal.

Those who dragged them unconscious to safety also were severely injured.

The fire started in the old car barns of the Chicago Passenger railway company at Western avenue and Flournoy street. One company went inside and to the top floor and quickly the two members, who were at the nozzle of a lead of hose, found themselves surrounded by flames. The injuries and the rescues followed.

May Be Fatally Hurt.

McDonald, T., 32 years old, rescued with Nolan and carried from building; burned on hands and face and it is believed he is internally hurt; taken to county hospital.

Nolan, Peter J., 28 years old, taken from second floor of building unconscious; burned on face and hands; at county hospital; condition critical.

Others Injured.

Finlader, William, engine company 26; struck by falling bricks and dragged from beneath them by his companions; right hand crushed; severely bruised; taken to county hospital.

Hosey, James, lieutenant engine company 26; burned about face and hands in assisting Quinlan in rescuing his men.

Mallaney, Capt. J. J., engine company 26; struck on head by falling bricks and knocked to pavement.

Ald. Scully Discovers Blaze.

The blaze was first seen by Ald. John Scully of the Thirteenth ward, who was passing, and he at once sent in an alarm. After waiting for the first of the fire companies to arrive he hurried with them to the burning building and assisted in attaching the hose to hydrants.

The building, a two story brick structure, which until a few months ago was used as the West Division High school, burned rapidly, and the firemen had hard work in keeping the flames from spreading to houses on Harrison street. Several times they leaped across the wide alley at the north of the burning building and attacked the rear porches of residences.

Firemen Encircled by Flame.

With the arrival of the firemen, members of engine company 66 were ordered into the building to fight the fire at close quarters. Leading his men up the wide hallway that extended almost the length of the building Lieut. Quinlan carried a line of hose and reached the top floor. Hardly had they turned a stream of water on a burning wall when a burst of flame encircled them.

Nolan and McDonald, who were at the nozzle vainly endeavoring to extinguish the fire in front of them, were overcome by the heat and dropped unconscious to the floor. Seeing the danger, Quinlan shouted for assistance and seizing Nolan, carried him out of the building. He went back a second time accompanied by Lieut. Hosey and carried McDonald to safety.

As the men emerged from the structure, their clothing burning, they were greeted with cheers by the thousands who had gathered to witness the work.

With the falling of the south wall, hundreds of persons narrowly escaped, and it was there that other firemen were injured.

Fight Fire from a Stable.

Fearing that the fire would get beyond control if the north wall collapsed and the fire spread to the Chicago Livery stables, immediately behind in Harrison street, Chief Musham ordered a company of men to fight the flames from the windows and roof of the stables. The wall, although swaying, stood the strain.

The barn buildings, it is said, had been leased by the Heywood Bros. & Wakefield company, manufacturers of chairs and furniture. The structure was undergoing alterations, but no fixtures were in the place at the time of the fire. The loss is estimated at more than $75,000.

OYAMA ORDERED TO FORCE BATTLE

Report from Tokio Says He Must Retrieve His Failure to Crush Kouropatkin at Liaoyang.

TROOPS ARE RUSHED OUT.

Rumored Terms of Peace to Be Demanded Are Published, but Without Official Sanction.

POSITIONS OF THE ARMIES SEPT. 11

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 16, 3 a. m.—The Tokio correspondent of the Express says Field Marshal Oyama has received the most rigid instructions to resume the offensive as soon as his troops are recuperated, as the roads will permit an attack upon Gen. Kouropatkin before winter begins. Should the Russians retire to Harbin to avoid battle Field Marshal Oyama will pursue them with his three armies. The collapse of Oyama's scheme to surround Gen. Kouropatkin at Liaoyang caused this order, which, it is stated, is inspired by the emperor.

Oyama Must Retrieve Loss.

The general staff is bitterly disappointed by the escape of Gen. Kouropatkin and Oyama must retrieve himself, for, according to the Japanese view, his strategy failed. Consequently a desperate attack may be expected, which, if directed against Tieling instead of Mukden, must be accompanied by terrible slaughter.

The entire force now is suffering from absolute exhaustion and needs sleep equally with food. It may be several weeks before Oyama is ready to advance. It is certain, however, that the Japanese do not intend to close the present campaign until they make another desperate effort to crush the Russian army.

Transports now are loading troops and supplies at Kobe and Hiroshima. These are to be landed at Yinkow and sent north by railroad. It is understood at least 100,000 men and 100 guns will be added to the Japanese army before Oct. 1. The majority of these are seasoned troops from northern Japan who are able to withstand the Manchurian winter.

Rumors of Peace Terms.

The Telegraph's correspondent at Tientsin says he hears from a trustworthy source that Baron Komura, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, has issued a circular stating that Japan intends, when Port Arthur is captured, to hand it and the whole Liaotung peninsula over to the Chinese, who, it is understood, will declare Port Arthur a free port. He says also he learns Japan wishes after Mukden is occupied to take Saghalien. Then Japan will be prepared to entertain peace proposals, which must include the following points:

First—An international syndicate to take over the Manchurian railway and operate it as a strictly commercial enterprise.

Second—Russia to pay an indemnity equivalent to $500,000,000.

Third—Russia to hand over all her ships in Chinese waters to Japan.

The Japanese will be willing to lease Saghalien to an American company for $25,000,000.

The correspondent mars his own story by adding that all of these reports must be taken for what they are worth.

Russians Object to Serving.

The Odessa correspondent of the Standard says: "The order for the mobilization of reserves in the southern provinces of Russia has caused depression. There is not the slightest enthusiasm anywhere. Eight thousand reservists are missing in Kherson. It is understood they are mostly Jews, who emigrated. There are 3,000 absentees in Ekaterinoslav and Bessarabia.

"Not only is there disaffection among the reservists, but it is spreading to the officers. Seventeen of the latter have been arrested in the Kieff district. They will be tried by court martial for openly declaring that the war is over, and it would be a senseless waste of life further to withstand the victorious Japanese.

"Peasants and artisans have met, and declared they will not answer the summons to mobilize, and if they are compelled to mobilize they will not fight. Among the officers the opinion prevails that Russia was squarely beaten at Liaoyang. This precludes the hope of a final Russian victory."

Misery Among Chinese.

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Mukden pictures a pitiable condition of the natives in the area of operations. Chinese refugees, he says, are now pouring into Mukden as they earlier streamed into Haicheng and Liaoyang. There are sad processions on every road carrying remnants of their possessions.

Destitution faces them this winter, and the whole fertile plain south of Mukden is depopulated. The Hun river valley country west and east is all deserted.

Use Bombs at Port Arthur.

A dispatch from Shanghai says it is reported that two Japanese crept from the entrenchments to Ponlungshan fort at Port Arthur and threw bombs which caused so much destruction that the Russians fled and the Japanese occupied the place.

New Taxes for Japan.

The correspondent at Tokio of the Standard says that the Japanese cabinet is now considering a scheme of military finance to be submitted at the next session of the diet, which involves increased taxation.

The Morning Post's correspondent at Shanghai reports that the Japanese government has confirmed John McLeavy Brown as director of Corean customs.

TONGHAK RISING IN COREA.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Sept. 15.—A dispatch from Seoul reports that several hundred Tonghaks are arming at Phyrongando. Two hundred Corean troops have been dispatched against them.

Two correspondents who were with the Russians have joined the Japanese forces at Liaoyang. Four hundred Chinese were killed during the engagement there.

The Nichi Nichi reports the capture of a number of Russian documents, including Gen. Stoessel's instructions to his men to keep under cover and reserve their fire until the Japanese approach within 100 yards and then pick off the officers first. Russian officers are instructed to occupy advance blinds. The general encourages his men to remain calm.

With complete quietude in the north, public attention again is being fixed on Port Arthur. There are rumors of an impending attack on a large scale, and the straitened condition of the garrison, but none can be traced to an authentic source.

Buried 3,100 Russian Dead.

Field Marshal Oyama telegraphed today that the positions of the Russians in the direction of Mukden are unchanged. The total number of Russian dead buried at Liaoyang was 3,100.

Promotion of a Hero.

Capt. Yegami, who commanded and led the Twentieth regiment of Japanese infantry in the charge on the Russian redoubts at Yusfangmiao Sept. 3, after all the officers above the rank of captain had been killed, has been promoted to the rank of major.

JAPS FORTIFYING LIAOYANG.

MUKDEN, Sept. 15.—The Japanese are reported to be intrenching around Liaoyang and to have repaired the bridge over the Taitze river.

Twelve thousand soldiers wounded at Liaoyang have been treated at the Red Cross hospital here.

Going Up Liao River.

According to Chinese advices the evacuation of Liaoyang by the Japanese has been forced, owing to the danger of illness from dead bodies.

The Japanese were on Wednesday fortifying the approaches by way of the river. Small detachments of Japanese moved northward from the Taitse river, preparations for an advance evidently still continuing, although the second stage of the Japanese movement has not yet been completed by any means. The first was to the north, as if for a turning movement, but Gen. Kuroki is now going east, while to the westward preparations are being made to send a large force up the Liao river. For this purpose the Japanese already have taken 100 large barges with which they intend to ascend as far as Tie pass.

It is stated that the Japanese are carefully preparing their turning and flanking movements, and will not engage in another big battle before the occupation of Tie pass. These preparations are expected to occupy a month.

Discuss Battle Incidents.

Stirring incidents at the battle of Liaoyang are the sole topics among the officers and soldiers here. Heroic feats are recounted, and the desperate nature of the Japanese charges south of Liaoyang and their incredible advance repeatedly over the dead bodies of their comrades are constantly alluded to. The Russians also made several bayonet charges, among the most brilliant being that of the Morshank regiment, headed by its wounded colonel.

The youthfulness of the Japnese soldiers surprised the Russians. Some of them are not more than 18 years old.

The reports that the Japanese bolstered up their courage with intoxicants are classed as nonsense, the best evidence to the contrary being the remarkable endurance which they displayed.

EYES TURN ON PORT ARTHUR.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16, 1:30 a. m.—The almost complete quiet prevailing at Liaoyang and Mukden is accepted here as the natural and inevitable consequence of the furious activity of the last three weeks. The view taken at Mukden that there is not likely to be a resumption of fighting in that immediate locality for a month is regarded here as probably correct.

It can hardly be expected that much actual news will develop in central Manchuria for some time to come, and attention is now turning toward Port Arthur, where, as Gen. Stoessel's latest report indicates, the Japanese are gathering strength for another spring at the fortress.

It is taken for granted here that there will soon be news of importance from Port Arthur since the Japanese throughout the war have seemed to alternate their attentions between the beleaguered fortress and the Russian army toward the north. It thus appears that it is Port Arthur's turn to keep up the excitement while Field Marshal Oyama is preparing for the fall campaign.

Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, head of the Russian mercantile marine, has gone to Libau to inspect the converted cruisers there before they depart for foreign waters. The Baltic fleet remains at Libau awaiting orders.

No Fighting on Wednesday.

Gen. Kouropatkin telegraphs that there was no fighting on Wednesday. The general says strong detachments of Japanese infantry have advanced three miles north of the Yental station.

Call on Stoessel to Yield.

A dispatch from Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, says the Japanese are actively constructing fortifications on the Samhon mountain and at other points and that they continue to bombard the forts and harbor. On Sept. 2 they threw 250 shells into the town.

Baltic Fleet at Libau.

The report that the Baltic fleet will make a stay of some duration at Libau is semi-officially confirmed.

EMPEROR AND CZAR MAY MEET.

German Monarch on Hunting Trip in Poland, Where It Is Possible He May See Russian.

BERLIN, Sept. 16, 3 a. m.—The newspapers this morning print special dispatches from St. Petersburg saying that it is rumored that there would be a meeting between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William at Skierniewice, Poland, but beyond the fact that Emperor William left today for Cadinem, where he will spend several days on his private hunting grounds near the boundary of Poland, nothing is obtainable here confirmatory of the report that a royal conference will be held.

HARD TIMES FOR COREANS.

Efforts to Get Hearing from Emperor According to Time Honored Way Are Failures.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A dispatch from Seoul says: "For a week parties of Corean officials have been pursuing the ancient custom of kneeling before the palace gates praying the acceptance of a memorial to the throne petitioning the emperor to adopt a strong anti-Japanese policy. The Japanese authorities, in accordance with their policy of denying the right of free speech to the Coreans, repeatedly arrested the petitioners and subsequently released them, whereupon they again went to kneel at the palace gates. In the meantime the emperor, fearing Japanese wrath, declines to accept the memorial."

JAPANESE AFTER COMMANDER ISLES

LANDING PARTIES KILLED.

Mikado's Officers Said to Have Issued Proclamation Annexing Territory.

LOCATION OF COMMANDER ISLANDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 15.—The emperor has received a dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated Sept. 14, saying he has received the following reports from Gen. Stoessel, dated Port Arthur, Aug. 31:

"A dispatch from Yakutsk, eastern Siberia, dated Aug. 13, says the Commander islands, off the coast of Kamchatka, had been besieged by Japanese fishing schooners and steamers up to July 28. Two of these schooners and the steamers were armed with guns. In driving them off ten Japanese were killed and many wounded. We sustained no loss.

Five Japanese Crews Wiped Out.

"Near Kamchatka five Japanese fishing schooners have been burned. Their crews were annihilated.

"The Japanese announced the annexation of the territory and proclaimed it a Japanese protectorate. They were subsequently captured by 120 Russian reserves.

"Kamchatka remains true to her old traditions. The inhabitants have taken up arms and are ready to shed their blood for their faith, their czar, and their fatherland.

Powers May Take a Hand.

The Commander islands are the islands for whose protection against these expeditions arrangements were made by Russia with Great Britain and the United States.

It is not supposed that the affair will lead to a diplomatic incident.

An official report has also been received of the landing of a Japanese force of 150 naval reserve men on the west coast of Kamchatka, who declared the sovereignty of Japan over the peninsula, but were afterwards defeated by a Russian force, as announced in earlier dispatches received from Petropavlovsk.

JAPS DEVELOPING RAILWAYS.

Network of Lines Being Spread Over Corea by Military and Government Engineers.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

SEOUL, Sept. 11, via Chefoo, Sept. 15.—The Japanese minister, Hyassi, has recommended that the government immediately undertake the construction of a railway from Seoul to Gensan, under military engineers, as a war measure.

The Japanese hold no concession for this line, but under the terms of the Japanese-Corean protocol, signed in February of this year, they can claim rights for strategic purposes. The railway, once laid, will undoubtedly operate as a commercial venture.

The construction of the railway connecting Fusan with Masampho was commenced a week ago under Japanese military engineers. Thus Corea rapidly is being covered with a network of Japanese government owned railways, which are destined to play an important part in Japan's claims for control of Corea in peace negotiations.

GRAVE CHARGE AGAINST JAP.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 15.—Somewhat of a sensation has been caused by the arrest of a Japanese at Skagen, North Jutland. He had been shadowed by the police for some days. It is alleged he is suspected of having chartered a steamer to attack the Russian Baltic fleet with dynamite. Many conflicting stories are printed of the doings of the prisoner.

Bark Supposed to Have Been Running Port Arthur Blockade Said to Have Been Destroyed.

NAGASAKI, Sept. 15, 3 p. m.—A British sailing vessel, supposed to be the British bark Lucia, struck a mine recently off Port Arthur. One person of those on board was rescued. It is considered probable that the vessel was running the blockade.

REBEL VICTORY IN PARAGUAY.

Town of San Antonio Attacked by Land and Sea and Government Troops Defeated.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 15.—The rebel vessel Sajonia attacked the port of San Antonio, Paraguay, this morning. Gen. Ferreira making a simultaneous attack by land with cavalry and infantry, after a reconnaissance in the direction of Litcrono, where a considerable number of government troops were encountered. The combat lasted three hours and resulted in the defeat and dispersal of the government forces. The extent of the losses is unknown.

JAPAN RIGHT, CULLOM SAYS.

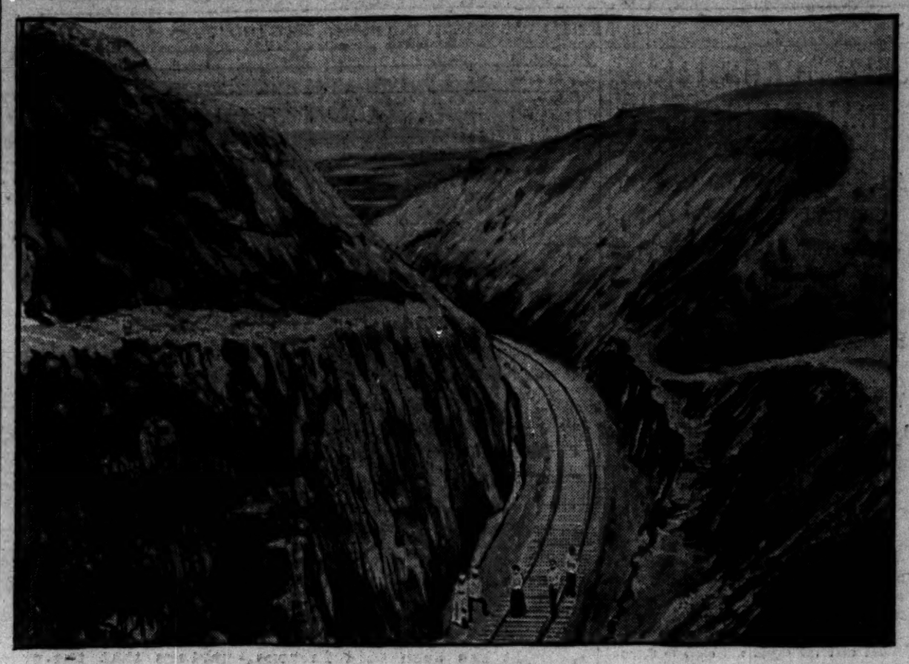

Senator Declares in Speech That Islanders Are Fighting for Their Citizenship.

Duquoin, Ill., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—"Japan is warring for the defense of her own country and for the integrity of her citizenship, so that the war on the part of Japan would seem to be right and on the part of Russia to be wrong."

These words were used by Senator Shelby M. Cullom, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in an address delivered here today at the southern Illinois soldiers and sailors' reunion.

Senator Cullom confined his remarks mainly to the subject of wars, and said among other things that while war is brutal, good comes out of it at times. This was the case in 1776 and again in 1861.

ENTER MORE AUTOBOATS.

INTEREST IN PROPOSED TRANSATLANTIC LAUNCH RACE.

Marcel Gassier Says He Will Be Ready to Start in November and That He Does Not Need a Specially Constructed Boat—Anthony J. Drexel Interested in the Plan, but Is Inclined to Be Skeptical—End of Craft as Plaything Foretold.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Apropos of Mr. Bowman's counter offer of $20,000 in the proposed transatlantic autoboat race, Marcel Gassier has written to the Yachting Gazette saying he will be ready to start on the voyage early in November. Furthermore, he says, it would be child's play to cross in a specially constructed boat, and that he will not use one. He hopes, therefore, Mr. Bowman's offer will remain good, as he says he expects to get that as well as Charley's $10,000.

Everybody is talking about the proposed race. It is the one absorbing topic of conversation in automobile circles. The general opinion was at first almost entirely skeptical as to the possibility that one of these frail craft could succeed in pushing its way from Havre to Sandy Hook. But now it is beginning to veer, the question being asked is not "Can the thing be done?" but "What is the best month to try it in?"

Mr. Drexel Doubtful.

Anthony J. Drexel said when asked for his opinion: "I don't know exactly what to think about the matter. It seems to me that it will be a difficult thing for one of these small craft to get across the vast expanse of water. For my part I think a launch starting from New York would have a much better chance of making the passage, as prevailing Atlantic winds are westerly.

"It will be a most serious undertaking, and I should say the most satisfactory plan would be to go by way of the Azores and the Bermudas and keep in the good weather zone as much as possible."

Would Benefit Navies.

When asked if he thought there was any benefit to be obtained by such a feat he replied: "It will show the people something in these boats. I should think boats that can make a voyage like the one suggested would have great value and ultimately become valuable as an asset to the various navies of the world."

Mr. Drexel remarked that May had been suggested as the month in which to attempt the voyage. This he considers too early and too treacherous. It is his opinion that June or July would give the venture the best opportunity of succeeding.

Further entries have been made. One is by M. Garcin. He is the owner of the Bohemian, and he says his boat has shown such remarkable seagoing qualities that if he can find a constructor to build him a 100 horse power engine he will come into line.

Hulls to Be of Heavy Material.

M. Thubron intends to send a boat across, and M. Vedrine also announces his intention of risking the perils of the deep in an attempt to win Mr. Charley's $10,000. "I shall build a launch from fifty to fifty-five feet in length, and fix a motor of 200 horse power," said M. Vedrine. "Up to the present time it has been the practice to build the hull of a racing launch of exceedingly light material. All that will be changed by the transatlantic contest. Stability will be an essential qualification. This race will be the end of the motor launch as a plaything."

TAKES UP ANTI-JEWISH ISSUE.

Novoe Vremya Resents Reported Effort of United States to Classify Russian Population.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16, 6:40 a. m.—The Russian press is awakening to the fact that the question of American Jewish passports has been raised. The Novoe Vremya this morning follows the lead of the Journal de St. Petersburg, the semi-official organ of the foreign office.

It combats the right of a foreign country to "make overt classification of our population under the fiction of right acquired by naturalization."

The Novoe Vremya proceeds to berate the United States for presuming to interfere in Russia's internal affairs, but finally dismisses the whole matter as "an American election maneuver."

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Marshall Field of Chicago has quite recovered from his trifling indisposition. He went out this morning and spent most of the day walking and riding.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

MEXICO CITY—President Diaz's seventy-fourth birthday celebration was participated in by the diplomatic corps, the cabinet ministers, senators, and representatives, officers of the army and navy, city officials, and the governors of states.

BERLIN—Emperor William's interest in and partiality for Americans is shown by the dispatch of a number of large signed portraits which his majesty is sending as personal gifts to Americans with whom he has had social relations.

BERLIN—Capt. von Grumme, naval aid to Emperor William, has entered the management of the Hamburg-American Steamship company. It is stated that the appointment was made at the personal request of the emperor.

LONDON—William Thomas, alias John Smith, in whose place Adolf Beck was arrested and served two years, has been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for obtaining money and jewelry under false pretenses.

OVERZEALOUS BOY KILLS.

JUMPED TO CONCLUSION THAT VICTIM WISHED TO ABDUCT SISTER.

John Nelson, Agent for a Chicago Musical Goods House, Had Driven to Seibert Farm in Quest of a Customer—His Companion Was a Deadly Enemy of the Youth's Family, but the Solicitor Did Not Know It at the Time.

Oskaloosa, Ia., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—John Nelson, aged 27, a country solicitor for a Chicago musical goods house, was shot and killed this afternoon three miles northeast of this city by James Seibert, a 17 year old boy. Nelson was the victim of the boy's vigilance in protecting his sister against a supposed plot by Charles Carpenter and others to abduct her.

Carpenter was convicted of attacking the boy's sister two years ago. He has been free on bond pending a hearing in the Supreme court. The Seibert family have long feared Carpenter.

Today Nelson, seeking to make a sale of an organ, drove up to the Seibert home with Carpenter in a buggy. The father and son, having been told of Carpenter's supposed design to steal the girl, thought the appearance of the men was a plot to carry out the design. The elder Seibert opened fire. Nelson jumped from the rig and fled into the hazel brush near the house. Carpenter whipped up and escaped down the road.

The boy obtained a gun, jumped into a rig standing near, and followed Nelson half a mile across the country, overtaking him. He emptied both barrels into the man's back. Nelson fell into the door of a farmhouse where he had sought refuge. He lived but a short time.

Nelson disclaimed any knowledge of the Carpenter affair with the Seibert family. He had met Carpenter by accident a short time previous to the shooting and did not know why he was shot. Both Carpenter and young Seibert are under arrest.

MORGAN JR. TELLS OF COPE.

Says Father Bought It Innocently, but That's None of Public's Business.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In an interview on the subject of the ancient cope, alleged to have been stolen from the cathedral of Ascoli, Italy, which was purchased by J. Pierpont Morgan, the latter's son says his father bought the cope of a London dealer, who came into possession of it in the ordinary way of business. Young Morgan added that he knew nothing of the matter except what appeared in the newspapers, but it seemed to him to be his father's own affair. It has nothing to do with the public, who are concerning themselves about it, but is purely a private matter.

TREATY FREES TIBET CAPTIVES.

Prisoners, Some of Them in Confinement Twenty Years, Released—Surprise for Dungeon Victim.

LHASSA, Tibet, Sept. 10.—[Delayed.]—According to the treaty between the British and the Tibetans signed on Sept. 7, prisoners on both sides were released today. The occasion afforded a picturesque ceremony. Some of the prisoners released by the Tibetans had been in captivity over twenty years. One old man, who was imprisoned for assisting Sarat Chandradas, had been kept in a dark dungeon and had gone blind. He at first refused to credit the fact that he was being given his freedom and thought he was being led out for torture.

STEEL WORKERS TO GO OUT

ORDER AFFECTING 20,000 MEN ISSUED BY SHAFFER.

Blow Is Aimed at Carnegie Company, Although General Manager Jenks Agrees to Every Demand Except That He Discharge Employes Who Have Stood by the Concern—Strike Will Extend to Other Plants Unless Agreement Is Reached.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—President T. J. Shaffer tonight ordered all the members of the amalgamated association in the Mahoning valley—about 20,000 men—to strike Saturday night. The blow is aimed at the Carnegie Steel company. The strike is on in the upper steel hoop mills at Youngstown, O., and the hoop mills at Girard, O.

I. W. Jenks, general manager, avowed that he would employ only such men as made individual contracts. The Carnegie Steel company recently booked some large orders for hoops. Jenks today notified the amalgamated association officials that he desired to confer with them. Shaffer has been sick, but he got out of bed and attended the conference in the office of Manager Jenks. The latter was willing to agree to all of the propositions made by Shaffer with the exception of discharging all the men he had employed during the strike.

He called attention to the fact that he had given his word that these men would be retained. Shaffer demanded that every man who went out on strike should be reinstated, and that none but union men be employed in the plant.

This led to the strike order tonight. Shaffer said the strike would be extended to other plants unless an agreement was reached.

70,000 WORKERS MAY STRIKE.

Report That Skilled Employes of New York Are Angered Over Continuance of Lockout.

New York, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—It is said that 70,000 skilled workmen, angered at the continuance of the lockout by the employers, have decided to strike if the employers do not give in.

NEWS OF THE LABOR WORLD.

PITTSBURG, PA.—A strike is threatened on the Fort Wayne system and its branches of the Pennsylvania road. The members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen are now taking a vote on the strike proposition, and the result will be announced on Monday.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—The hearing of the injunction suit against the Ziegler union mine strikers was postponed until a master in chancery can hear testimony. The temporary injunction stands meanwhile.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor adjourned to meet on the train which will carry them to the general convention at San Francisco about Nov. 1.

BURGLAR BETRAYED AND SHOT.

Confidant Had a Posse of Citizens on Guard When Alva Rivers Broke Into Warsaw, O., Bank.

Coshocton, O., Sept. 15.—Trapped while robbing the bank of Warsaw, O., by police, to whom William King betrayed him, Alva Rivers is in jail here mortally wounded. His brother, Verne, was captured later, after a desperate hand to hand fight.

King, who had the confidence of the Rivers boys, with a party of citizens was waiting on guard at the Warsaw bank when Alva Rivers broke into it. The citizens poured the contents of their shotguns into the burglar, who has fifty-six shots in his body.

The brothers were suspected of burglaries and safe blowings recently. Fifty sticks of dynamite that they had with them at Warsaw have been identified as stolen from a magazine lately.

Madison Treasury Deficit $18,651.58.

Madison, Ind., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—At the meeting of the council tonight the report of Expert Knobloch was read, showing a deficit in the late Treasurer Robinson's accounts of $18,651.58. Of this amount $15,698.80 is in taxes unaccounted for and $2,952.78 in cash. Before he committed suicide he made good, in insurance policies, etc., about one-half the shortage.

GIVE UP A LONG STRIKE.

PRINTED BOOK BINDERS GO BACK TO CHICAGO SHOPS.

Many Denied Employment Because New Men Have Been Hired During Five Months' Fight—Twenty-four Members of Typothetæ Are Victors—Three Hundred Sheep Butchers Decide to Remain Out—Pullman Shops Shut Down Until December.

Following the lead of the butcher workmen, the printed book binders have abandoned their struggle. The members are seeking their places after an idleness of five months. Many cannot be reinstated at present, the employers declare, as others have been engaged.

The printed book binders walked out of the shops in the Chicago Typothetæ, in sympathy with the bindery women, who struck a few days earlier. The women demanded a contract and a slight increase in wages. Twenty-eight of the printers signed a pact not to yield to the union, and twenty-four have fought to the end. Representatives of the binders now have decided to cease a hopeless fight.

Sheep Butchers Still on Strike.

Owing to the interpretation put by the stockyards sheep butchers on the contract signed nearly a year ago, few union members have returned to work. The agreement expires Oct. 5. The butchers declare it has not been vitiated by the two strikes.

The men met and sent a grievance committee to all of the plants except that of Armour & Co. In that establishment the force returned. The committee sought employment for all members of the local under the old agreement. They were told to come back as individuals, but they refused, and announced that they still were on strike. Of the 400 sheep butchers, 300 are idle.

Car Shops Closed Till December.

Officials of the Pullman company declare the great plant at Pullman will not be reopened for the manufacture of cars and equipment before December. Repairing will be continued in a small way.

"The railroads bought large numbers of cars in the season now over," said one of Vice President Wickes' assistants, "and now they have more than they need. Many of their purchases were made in anticipation of the business to be done to and from the St. Louis exposition. This traffic has not reached the expectations.

"Another cause for the want of orders to keep the men employed is the general trade depression. The roads cannot afford to buy new rolling stock and will get along with what they have until they are in positive need or until traffic improves. The Pullman company has 200 passenger cars on hand. Repairing is done by the roads at their own shops and at the many scattered shops of the Pullman company."

FISHERMEN NOW IN A UNION.

Men Who Thus Earn Living on the Great Lakes Are Being Organized.

A union of "professional" fishermen is to start on the great lakes. Already it is being formed by the Lake Seamen's union.

It will include, according to the plans made public, all men who go down to the lakes in quest of fish for profit. President Hansen of the seamen declares there are 2,500 persons qualified by employment for membership.

The greater part of these men work for the Booth and other companies on Lake Superior, upper Lake Michigan, and Lake Erie. Chicago is represented, in the original estimate, by 150 fishers who cast their nets off the Indiana shore at the south end of the lake.

MILITIA GUARDS HUNTSVILLE JAIL.

Threat to Rescue White Lynchers Moves Executive to Prompt Action.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 10.

Picket Line Established, and Martial Law for Entire City May Be Declared.

Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Companies G and K of the Alabama infantry are guarding the Madison county jail against possible assault by infuriated citizens.

This time the citizens do not wish to lynch any one. A special grand jury today returned bills of indictment against several of the most prominent men of the community for participation in the hanging of Horace Maples, a negro, recently.

Threats of Rescue Made.

Threats have been made openly that those indicted shall not be locked up, and these threats were conveyed to Acting Governor Cunningham, who acted promptly.

No names have been given out and only one person has thus far been arrested. He is Benjamin Hill and he is now in jail. There are said to be bench warrants out for nine others.

When Judge Speake heard a rumor of impending trouble he promptly wired the executive and the troops, under Capt. Louis Brown, were on the way by special train in a few hours.

Pickets guard all the approaches to the jail and no trouble is anticipated immediately.

Jury Considers "Impeachment."

Capt. Brown has orders to preserve the peace of this community even if the city is placed under martial law. He has camp equipment and is fixed for a long stay.

After the report of the jury was read, Judge Charles P. Lane addressed the court, saying:

"If the grand jury, in their wisdom or discretion, see fit to impeach the high sheriff of Madison county and his honor, the mayor of the city of Huntsville, for failure to discharge their duty in executing the law, we desire to do it legally. Therefore, we ask your honor for a full and complete instruction in all formalities and specifications, so that we may avoid errors, irregularities and technicalities."

Capt. Brown has strict instructions from Acting Gov. Cunningham.

A court martial was today called by Acting Gov. Cunningham to investigate the conduct of Capt. R. L. Hays and the members of his Huntsville company in not giving Maples protection from the hands of the mob.

It is charged that after the lynching some of the Huntsville soldiers laughed at the idea of protecting the negro. Maples was accused of the murder of a white peddler.

Negroes Attend Law and Order Meeting.

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 15.—Several days ago James Horne, a merchant of Metcalfe, eight miles south of here, received an anonymous letter advising him that he had been marked for slaughter by a "Before Day club." The writer professed to be a friend of Mr. Horne, who desired to save him. The letter was followed at an early hour today by the firing of Mr. Horne's store. This was the work of incendiaries.

The better class of people counseled a mass meeting, which was held today. Many negroes than whites were present. The meeting seemed to clear the atmosphere and it is now thought that no trouble will follow.

Whitely Williford, the negro who murdered Hanon West, was sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 6 at Camilla today. He was brought to Thomasville, 120 soldiers under Col. R. L. Wylly guarding him. Later he was sent to Albany, Ga., and the troops returned to their homes.

MERGER REPORT REVIVED; DENIED.

BOTH SIDES DENY STORY.

Declare No Pool Exists for Purchase of Stock Which Is in Open Market.

R. R. Govin went back to New York yesterday at noon. His departure revived the story that Union Traction interests in New York had got control of the Chicago City railway property, and it was stated absolutely in La Salle street that such was the fact. The assertion was made that a majority of the south side stock was already in the strong boxes of the Gotham financiers.

Two men in Chicago, each of them in a position to know, denied this last evening. One of them is prominently connected with the Chicago City company and the other with Union Traction. Their statements agreed exactly. One man said:

"That the New York people holding Union Traction stock have been trying to get control of the Chicago City property is an old story. That plan has been in their minds for a year and a half. That they have got control of it is, however, untrue.

Syndicate Story Fanciful.

"The stories of a $36,000,000 syndicate in Wall street to purchase the property are fanciful. The sum of $36,000,000 was probably named, because a Chicago City man once said it would cost that amount to buy the property. The figure might as well have been made $50,000,000 or $20,000,000. There is no syndicate at all, nor could there be, until a price was fixed. When that is named it would be time enough to hustle around to get the money.

"The stories about a majority of Chicago City stock being in the hands of a protective committee, to be disposed of in bulk, are fairy tales. The Chicago City protective committee was formed with an exactly opposite idea. It was to assure the smaller stockholders that their interests would be taken care of, not to dispose of their holdings. There never was any deposit of stock with it, nor was one invited.

New Yorkers Must Buy in Market.

"Chicago City stock is in the market just as any other security is. The man who buys it, however, will have to pay for it. If the New Yorkers want to get control of the property they will have to go into the market and pay the price. No plan of uniting the two roads into a complete system and issuing new securities which the Chicago City owners will take in exchange for their present holdings will work out. The south side people are from Missouri and they will have to be shown. The money must be in the bank before they will transfer their stock.

"The mission of Mr. Govin in Chicago during the last few days has been to find out whether there was any way of securing a majority of the Chicago City stock. He did not come here to buy it, but to find if it could be bought. That is the explanation of his conferences with John J. Mitchell and other bankers.

"It has been presumed that because the south side company formed a protective committee that committee had the matter in charge, and it was stated President Hamilton held an option on the majority of the stock. That protective committee was formed largely to be in the fashion. The Union Traction company had one and some of the south side stockholders were getting nervous over the talk about their road being absorbed. So it was thought that if protective committees were becoming stylish the Chicago City might as well have one as the Union Traction did. It cannot, however, transfer the party. If that is done it will have to be the sale of the holdings of the individual stockholders.

Union Traction's Holdings Small.

"There has been a great deal of talk of the large holding Union Traction people have of Chicago City stock. So far as I have been able to find out they have not more than 100 of the outstanding 190,000 shares to do what they please with. Some of this has been deposited with Wrenn & Brewster, and perhaps with Townsend, for stock trading purposes. It has been sold back and forth, and the prices quoted have established the market. They were all fictitious sales, the same stock being simply passed from one man to another and back again. Any one who wanted really to buy Chicago City stock found the market advanced on him at once.

"Whatever is done in the way of the New York people's securing control of Chicago City will have to be done in New York. President Hamilton will be back from Europe at the end of the week and the Union Traction people undoubtedly will see him. If a sale is made it will be there, not here. Mr. Hamilton, however, can do no more than sell his individual holdings. He holds no option for other stockholders."

Denies Existence of Pool.

The other man put the situation after this fashion: "There is no syndicate in New York or anywhere else which has formed a pool to buy up the Chicago City property. This could not well be until it is known what the property will cost and that no one else knows. When the price is fixed it will be time enough to raise the money.

"That negotiations have been going on for the purchase for over a year I suppose every one knew. The fact has been printed often enough during that period. There has been not yet, however, been any bargain struck or agreement made. No price has been set. Where the sum of $36,000,000 was got at I am sure I do not know. Whether the trade will be made I cannot now say. It may and it may not. I would not like to prophesy."

Chairman Foreman of the council committee on local transportation sent a formal notice to the receivers of the Union Traction company that they must get out of the Washington and La Salle street tunnels by Jan. 1. He also said he would be glad to furnish the traction people a plan of rerouting the cars in the business district, proposed by the committee, and suggested an early conference.

HAAS CAPTURED IN PANAMA: WANTED FOR TAKING $20,000.

Chicago Embezzler Who Escaped Authorities in Mexico Is Surrendered as a Matter of "Comity."

Herman E. Haas, charged with embezzling $20,000 from the Corn Exchange National bank, has been captured at Colon, Panama, according to a cablegram received yesterday, and will be detained by the Colon authorities until a detective is sent for him from Chicago.

Haas was arrested upon information furnished by the American minister to Panama and later was identified fully through papers found in his possession and a description sent from Washington, D. C.

Haas has escape from Detective George Miller of the Chicago police department in Mexico through a refusal of the Mexican government to detain the fugitive until extradition papers arrived from Washington. Haas has been living on the isthmus, considering himself safe from arrest because no extradition treaty between Panama and the United States has been ratified.

American Minister Barrett is reported to have induced the government of Panama to arrest Haas as an act of "international courtesy." Haas had assumed the name of "Frank Edwards." He had $800 in a handbag when arrested.

Sells Estate Case Settled.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 15.—The Sells estate case, involving the possession of $300,000, has been settled out of court. Willis Sells, the circus owner, gets the larger portion. Mrs. Ellen White of Dayton, O., and Mrs. Emma Clark of Philadelphia will get $100,000 each. Willis Sells proved that he was the adopted son of the late Mrs. Sells-Greenwood.

PLAYS TO CHORUS GIRLS.

ETHEL BARRYMORE GIVES A SPECIAL MATINEE.

Merry Villagers from Other Shows Are Guests of "Cousin Kate" at Powers' and Prove Appreciative Audience — Smiley Greene, Gus Figgey and Rose Decourcelles Disguised as Fritzi Scheff Witness Performance.

If Miss Ethel Barrymore were not Ethel Barrymore she would want to be a chorus girl, it is said. Each night after "Cousin Kate" has been placed away in the dressing room at Powers' theater, it is declared, the star seeks a restaurant where the coryphees assemble and worships them from afar with envious but affectionate eyes.

So they say. And this, they say, accounts for the audience which the actress had yesterday at a special matinée performance of "Cousin Kate." The orchestra seats of the theater were filled with chorus girls from all the playhouses. Miss Barrymore so loves them that she wanted to play for them and to them alone.

Real Money Is Really Refused.

In this scheme the press agent had no part, it is said. A few hundred veracious persons who tried to pay real money for seats and were unsuccessful can testify to it. The professional matinée was "on the square," they say; Miss Barrymore did not want the advertising which might be incident to the performance, and the general public was scarcely tolerated.

Sitting in the restaurant watching the chorus girls, Miss Barrymore decided she would like to present "Cousin Kate" for them. The stars were to be invited, and if there were any seats left in the balcony for the rank outsiders, who can see plays seven nights and two afternoons a week, they could have them. Down in the orchestra and well up in the front rows Miss Barrymore wanted the chorus girls.

Make the Star Nervous.

As C. B. Dillingham says, and as he is manager for Fritzi Scheff he knows something about the stage, Miss Barrymore "would have been less nervous if she had an audience of United States senators," but she wanted the chorus girls, and they came from every theater in town.

The stars were sidetracked in the boxes. Rose Decourcelles, disguised as Fritzi Scheff, sat in one lower box, and Wang, disguised as De Wolf Hopper, looked over her shoulders from the box behind. Up above them was the Jail Bird, who in ordinary walks of life is Harry Bulger. The Cold Bottle and the Hot Bird sat in the orchestra seats.

Gus Figgey Is Appreciative.

Smiley Greene, J. Milton Brown, Cyrus Hornbeck, and Gus Figgey were "among those present, and reported that a pleasant time was had." Gus Figgey said it was a "bully show." All the birds from Woodland were seated well up front with the merry villagers and spear carriers from "Wang." So also were the merry villagers from the "Two Roses" and the pretty visitors from "Bird Center." There was Mataya disguised as Marguerite Clark and La Veuve D'Imouase as Ada Deaves. It was a notable audience.

Up in the balcony, and well out of every one's way (every one that amounted to anything) was the "public in general," sitting with bulging eyes, with dotted lines running from them to all parts of the house, as you see in the cartoons, and trying to look at Fritzi Scheff without losing sight of Wilton Lackaye's jet mustaches. There were few seats that the public in general could have.

Critics Show Themselves Friendly.

When Miss Barrymore asked permission of Charles Frohman to give the extra matinée for the chorus girls he wired back:

"Go ahead, but don't hurt your health."

Miss Barrymore has been ill and Frohman has made her work as light as possible. Playing to the chorus girls was a strain, as she admits. The cherry villagers and spear carriers are critics compared to whom a reviewer is an angel. What they don't know about stage tricks and "business" isn't worth knowing.

Miss Barrymore put forth her best for her audience. For one act she was nervous, but the chorus girls applauded so warmly and so wholeheartedly that the actress knew her critics were friendly and she was pleasing them. They say that none has appreciated so the finer touches in "Cousin Kate." They mention the pantomime work in the second act, where Kate discovers that her "Unknown" is the fiancé of her cousin, as an instance in point. The chorus girls "rose" to it in a manner that no other audience has.

SAYS MAN TRIED TO FLIRT AND SECURES HIS ARREST.

Young Woman Annoyed by Person Professing to Be Austrian Manufacturer, Who Is Released After Warning.

A man who gave his name as Max Robert Wissbart and who said he was one of the party of Austrian manufacturers visiting Chicago was arrested last night on complaint of Marie Artin, 525 West Polk street, who declared he had attempted to flirt with her. He was released after a warning. The name of Wissbart does not appear on the list of the visiting Austrians, but the man is a foreigner and can speak little English.

The attempt to flirt is said to have been made at State and Washington streets. Miss Artin told the Central police the man tried to begin a conversation and that when she walked away he followed her. At Randolph street, she said, he followed her into a drug store and offered to buy her an ice cream soda. She again walked away without answering him, and when she reached the city hall she asked a cab driver to call a policeman.

When a policeman arrived the man was taken into the station. The supposed Austrian's explanation was that he was not aware that his conduct was disorderly or objectionable. This is said to have so angered Miss Artin that she ran to the man and tried to scratch his face.

When the young woman was told that she would have to appear at the Harrison street police station she said she would not do it, so the prisoner was freed.

FAMOUS MISSION IN SLUMS CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY.

Wives and Children of Men Who Were Reclaimed at the Pacific Garden Tell of Experiences.

Slum mission workers "hallelujah" pilgrims from the churches, and the usual concourse of the "strangers and the poor" met last night in the Pacific Garden mission at 100 East Van Buren street in honor of its twenty-seventh anniversary. For once the "sinners" were neglected in the flow of recollections of the early days of the institution and the personality of its founder, Col. George E. Clarke.

Mrs. Sarah D. Clarke, widow of Col. Clarke, who has carried on the work since his death, and is known to thousands of drunkards and tramps and criminals, who have wandered into the mission to escape the cold, told of the events of the last year.

"This is a great contrast to the few benches and oil lamps in the little Clark street room, where we started this mission twenty-seven years ago," she said. "For 10,000 nights these doors have swung open to the poor of this district of crime and wretchedness. The practical results of this rescue work are happy homes, husbands, and fathers restored to their families, and wives and children made happy."

One of the unique features of the meeting was the testimony of the wives and children of men converted in the mission.

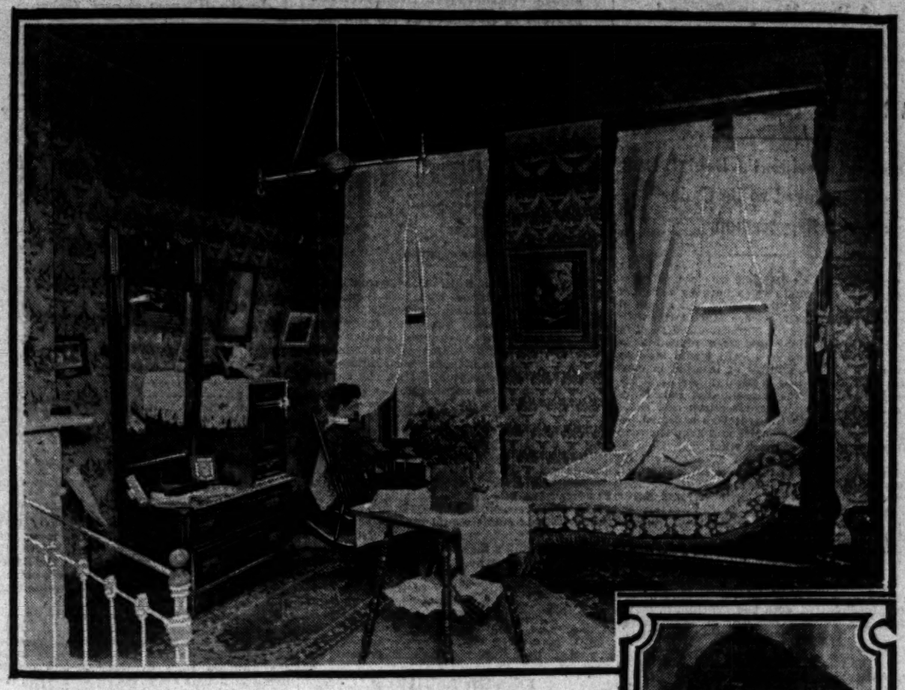

Harry Monroe was in charge of the meeting.

"How many persons here remember Col. Clarke?" he asked.

Out of the 800 present more than fifty hands went up.

"I thank God it has been so long between drinks," said one man. "Before, I used to curse when I could not have my whisky, but it has now been 268 weeks and three days since I touched a drop."

Mrs. Sadie Smith Offered This Home to Children; They Spurned It, Preferring Friends on Farm.

CHILDREN DEAF TO MOTHER'S PLEADING.

"I Love My Babies and I'll Fight to Get Them."—Mrs. Sadie Smith.

"We Prefer the Farm to a Mother We Don't Know."—Smith Children.

"What are 'material advantages' compared to a mother's love? Is it right that strangers should have my children when I can give them a home and an education; when I need them and when I believe they need me?"

These questions were asked yesterday by Mrs. Sadie Smith, who on Monday was denied the custody of her two eldest children by Judge Kavanagh.

Mrs. Smith sat at the window in her "furnished apartments" at 545 West Van Buren street, gazing out upon the dismal, rainy street. In her lap she held a picture of her children, the only picture she has ever had. Somewhere in the wilderness of the city the "stranger" held secure possession of her little daughter, Ethel, and her 16 year old son, Harry, who spurned his mother in court.

"I am their mother," she said simply, "and they were taken from me. I have searched for them seven years, and now I may not see them."

Mrs. Smith is a small, frail woman. Traces of suffering and illness are written in her face and in her tired, brown eyes. But, though tired, beaten, apparently, she has not lost hope.

"I will fight," she said. "I would sacrifice everything else in this world just to have my little girl back with me. As for the boy, I am content that he should choose for himself. When he sees his sister at home he will come, too. I bear him no ill will for refusing to come with me. His mind has been poisoned."

Her tribulations culminating in this last fight for her children reach back to her marriage at the age of 17. She summarized her sufferings thus:

June, 1896—Forced to leave her first husband, Milan K. Johnson, because of his cruelty and failure to support.

June, 1897—Deprived of her children, Ethel, Harry, and Roy, by her husband, who, without her knowledge, sent them to the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. Roy, the youngest, was sent to the home of Mrs. C. J. Dumser in Elgin; Harry and Ethel were given in charge of Miss Nettie McMillian of Sparta, Ill.

June, 1898—Deceived into signing papers giving her husband a divorce on grounds of desertion; was induced to make no claim for the children, and was kept in ignorance of their whereabouts.

Then for six years, the mother says, she wandered from city to city, ill and penniless, searching homes and institutions for her children, whom she wished to place with her parents in Macomb, Ill. Finding that they had been disposed of by the Chicago society, she was refused their address by Supt. Hart.

When at last she located them she was rebuffed by Miss McMillian. Her children, she says, had been taught their mother was dead. When the children were brought to Chicago under a writ of habeas corpus she was not allowed to visit them, and, she says, practically was ordered from their presence in the office of George B. Wall, 171 La Salle street, Miss McMillan's attorney. Then came another blow when she was restrained by a writ issued by Judge Holdom from seeing the children from Saturday until Monday, when the case was called.

The grounds upon which Judge Kavanagh based his decision allowing Miss McMillan to keep the girl were the superior material advantages afforded in the Sparta farm over the "furnished rooms" in the city.

Mrs. Smith's second husband is a carpenter in the employ of Fortune Bros.' Brewing company. His wages are $22 a week. The "home" to which the children will be sent if Judge Dunne grants the mother's appeal on Friday is a two room flat.

In a little alcove the remains of the noonday meal were piled in confusion yesterday afternoon. The walls were hung with cheap prints, and on a center table stood a bunch of withered flowers. There was a guitar, a book or two, a few untidy fragments of woman's apparel, and the carpenter's pipe. The carpet was faded and worn.

"I know this is a poor room," said Mrs. Smith, "but I will furnish up a flat if my children come back. My husband is willing to support them, and I am sure we could live happily together. I have the best husband in the world."

Then, her restraint giving way before her anger, she bitterly scored her former husband and the present guardian of her children.

"If I were a degenerate woman I would never ask to see my children again. As it is, I will pitch a tent by the roadside in front of that farm and live on herbs and plants before I will live without seeing my girl. I saw her on Saturday, and she sat on my lap in perfect contentment. She asked me to give her one of my rings, and told me she loved me again. 'Would you visit me for two weeks?' I asked her. She laughed and kissed me and said she would."

In the meantime the children are with Miss McMillan and her brother Thomas, visiting friends. The case has excited the residents of Sparta, who side with Miss McMillan. W. M. Doyle, Chicago Opera House building, represents Mrs. Smith.

While their mother was in another part of the city bewailing the court order which denied her their custody, little Ethel and Harry McMillan were happy together yesterday in a well furnished apartment. They appeared untroubled by the contest being waged for their possession.

Ethel was writing a letter to "Grandma" McMillan on the farm in Sparta, laboring over it with painstaking neatness. Harry was seated in a big arm chair by the window reading "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

"Don't talk so loud, Harry," said the girl with a loving glance at her brother, "Aunt Nettie is trying to sleep."

Ethel is an attractive girl, with the eyes and hair of her mother, Mrs. Sadie Smith, without the latter's sharp features. She was prettily dressed. At mention of her mother her face expressed trouble and some fear. A voice called down the stairway:

"Ethel, your aunt want's you."

Dear Grandma—Don't worry about us. We are coming home. No matter what she says she can never change me or Harry either. We want to come home.

"That is the way I feel, too," said Harry, "I don't remember my mother well, and I never saw my stepfather."

When the boy was told that his foster mother was accused of making a farm drudge out of him and of being a cruel woman with an ungovernable temper he lost his diffidence and said:

"I love my home and the McMillans. It is untrue that they have ill treated us in any way. Uncle Tom is teaching me to do a farm work, but I like it. A fellow couldn't have a better mother than Aunt Nettie."

The boy did not appear like a farm drudge. His face is keen and intelligent. He is big, and healthy, and clean. In his references to his mother he exhibited embarrassment and secret resentment.

"I will tell you about my life on the farm," he said. "I get up at 5 a. m. with my foster brother, who has been brought up there. He is 26 years old and does not want to leave. Sometimes in the summer mornings I drive the milk wagon to the creamery in Sparta. I like to drive. I go to school after doing chores around the house. This spring I passed the examinations into the high school. We take our lunch to school. At night I play with the boys, split a little kindling wood after supper, and read until 8 or 9 o'clock. Then they make us all go to bed. My room is good and clean.

"They will not allow me to run around the streets at night, and we have to go to church and Sunday school on Sunday. I belong to the mission society. Sometimes Ethel and I go to a party or a sociable. I have an air gun, and fishing tackle, and can ride the horses. I have a good time there and I don't want to go to my mother."

Miss McMillan was ill. The strain of the court proceedings, and the fear of losing the children who have become dear to her, had brought a collapse.

I should not have come to Chicago," she said. "I was not well. But I could not bear to let them go alone. If I was sure that it was a mother's love which this woman felt, I would give up the children, no matter how much suffering it caused me."

"And she would do it, too," said Thomas McMillan, her brother, who had accompanied the party to Chicago. "She is that kind of a woman."

The foster mother is 50 years old. She taught school during twenty-five years in Sparta.

McMillan, a big, good natured farmer, is at a loss to understand the motives of Mrs. Smith in her demands for the children.

"She does not look to me like a heart broken mother," he said. "She never even cried when she found her children. There seemed to be more anxiety to stir up trouble than anything else.

"When the man came to take Ethel to Chicago she ran out behind the barn and hid. I found her there sobbing. She is fond of my sister, and a sweet and affectionate girl. When her mother came three weeks ago to visit her, she nearly went into a spasm of fright. She clung to my sister, sobbing, and could hardly be induced to enter the room where her mother was waiting. After she had been with her mother awhile she quieted down, but said she would never leave us.

"In Ethel's fear of her mother I read something hidden in the childish mind. Her mother stole her once away from the house of her husband's parents in Prairie City, Ill. She remembers still, I believe, the terror of that night in the storm. When she finally was recovered by her father the people of the town got up a concert to send her and her brother to the Home society in Chicago."

According to the evidence in the case as presented in court Mrs. Smith deserted her husband in June, 1896. After two years he secured a divorce on grounds of desertion. She made no defense.

Judge Dunne will decide the case today.

MAKES PLEA FOR SMALL MEN.

"Billy" Manning, a Former Lightweight Pugilist, Wants Them Accepted as City Firemen.

"Billy" Manning, former lightweight pugilist, agrees with President Powell of the civil service commission in the belief that small men would make good city firemen. He urged Mr. Powell yesterday to seek a reduction of the height requirement from 5 feet 7 inches to 5 feet 4 inches. Manning, however, believes policemen should be large.

GIVE THREE R'S MORE TIME.

New School Schedule Allows "Old Fashioned" Studies Longer Periods than "Fads."

In a new "time schedule" prepared by Supt. Cooley to fit the new course of study more time is provided for the teaching of the "old fashioned three R's" than for all the so-called "fads" and other courses of study combined.

STRIKES AT THE POLICE.

PASTOR SAYS THERE IS MUCH "GRAFT" IN DEPARTMENT.

"Commanding Officers Get Big Boodle and Patrolmen the Petty," Asserts the Rev. James H. MacDonald of Law and Order League, Which Will Fight Crime—Declares Violations of Law Are Winked At—Chief O'Neill Assails Reform Organizations.

As a preliminary to the crusade against crime and vice in Chicago, which the Law and Order league will organize this evening, a divergence of opinion concerning the honesty and efficiency of the Chicago police force has arisen between Chief O'Neill and one of the league's workers, the Rev. James H. MacDonald, pastor of the Oakland Methodist church.

In discussing the need of a new reform organization to combat crime, both the chief and the pastor spoke freely. The pastor made his first detailed criticism of the police department.

Charges "Graft" in Department.

"The league expects to do a great work in suppressing crime and vice in Chicago, and will have its hands full if it accomplishes its purpose," said Mr. MacDonald. "There is no doubt, to begin with, that the police department is not all that it should be. It is the league's plan to call the attention of the department to flagrant evils by appointing vigilance committees from all the churches and making them censors of conditions in their own neighborhoods.

"For one thing, there undoubtedly is a good deal of 'graft' in the police department. Officers in charge of stations are getting the big graft, and policemen who travel beats and come in direct contact with lawbreakers get the petty graft. The result is that crime and vice flourish where they could be exterminated.

"How can this be proved? I admit it is a hard matter. I have known of cases where violations of the law were winked at by members of the police department for a consideration, but I must admit I would have a hard time proving it. A great deal of care is taken to cover up such practices.

"Another fault with the department is that all sorts of evil resorts are permitted to flourish in the absence of direct orders from commanding officers to close them. The feeling seems to be that such places should not be molested until public opinion becomes too strong to permit them to remain open."

Chief Attacks Reformers.

Chief O'Neill was informed of this statement, after he had announced that he would be "pleased to have the assistance of the Law and Order league in making Chicago a moral city."

"The reverend gentleman's charges are altogether too general," he declared. "What is needed is less hot air and more facts. If there is grafting in the department, I will be happy to have him tell me of it, and I will see that charges are preferred against the guilty persons as soon as he names them.

"The trouble with the average reform movement is that, instead of being a crusade against crime, it degenerates into an attack on the police. Rarely is anything accomplished. It was only recently that a band of reformers induced the city council to spend months in investigating the department, and the results of that investigation were so trivial as not to deserve mention.

Calls Reform a Fad.

"Reform has become a fad in Chicago. A lot of enthusiastic men get together and plan a series of meetings where eloquent speakers tell how lawlessness prevails throughout the city. Then a new reform club is organized. The officers discover an attorney and the attorney discovers one or two private detectives. The attorney and the detectives assume sole charge, and proceed to attack the police department.

"I shall be pleased to cooperate with any reform organization that really is sincere and acts in a practical manner."

Plan to Raise $10,000 Fund.

Bishop Hartzell tonight will address the first west side meeting under the auspices of the Law and Order league, at the Centenary Methodist church, Monroe and Morgan streets. Plans will be discussed for raising $10,000 with which to conduct its campaign. Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the league and secretary of the Hyde Park Protective association, the Rev. W. A. Bartlett, the Rev. Ira Landrith, secretary of the Religious Educational association, of Nashville, Tenn., and others also will speak.

PLANS TRIPS FOR PUPILS.

MRS. KEOUGH ADVOCATES TRAVELING SCHOLARSHIPS.

Will Ask School Board to Make Awards to Five Children Standing Highest at Completion of the Grammar Course—Decide Beauty Contest Not Needed in Selecting Teachers for "Chicago Day"—Divided on the "Twelve Months" Term Plan.

Five traveling scholarships for public school pupils of high standing will be established by the board of education if a plan outlined yesterday by Mrs. W. C. [illegible] Keough is carried out. She plans to introduce a resolution to that effect at the meeting of the school management committee.

These scholarships will be given to the five public school pupils having the highest average at the completion of the full course in the grammar schools. Each year, according to the plan, the pupils winning will be taken on a trip to some point of educational interest and accompanied by a public school teacher. If the board declines to spend public moneys for the endowment of the proposed scholarships Mrs. Keough will endeavor to induce local philanthropists to contribute to a fund.

Says Traveling Aids Education.

"I believe the board of education should give to some of its children who cannot afford to travel an opportunity of seeing some of the points of interest in this country," said Mrs. Keough yesterday. "Traveling is a great force in modern day education and there are many pupils with a record of high scholarship whose financial position prevents them from availing themselves of this opportunity for mental growth."

Mrs. Keough declared that her plan to have pupils of the public schools sent to St. Louis to represent the board of education on a float on "Chicago day" was intended as a stepping stone in the establishment of the traveling scholarship fund.

Beauty Contest Not Required.

A beauty contest will not be held to determine what teachers shall represent "Chicago," "Columbia," and a "School Teacher" on the school board's float. The selections will be made as follows:

To represent "Chicago": A large, well proportioned teacher, full of the "I Will" spirit. Must be a brunette to look well in the Chicago colors.

To represent "Columbia": A graceful young woman, blonde preferred.

To represent the "school teacher": A teacher of extremely plain appearance. Must be able to write a good essay on the celebration at the fair.

Children Must Write Essays.

The children to appear on the float will be selected from the three sides of the city. They must all be able to write good essays on the "Chicago day" celebration.

"They must be courageous," declared Mrs. Keough, "they must look well in the Chicago colors, they must have their parents' consent, and must stand well in school."

The float planned by Mrs. Keough will be drawn by six white horses.

Divided on "Twelve Months" Plan.

School officials and members of the board of education are divided in opinion as to the plan of abolishing the two months' vacation, and having the school year continue twelve months, as advocated in a recent address made by President Alston Ellis of Ohio university. He attacked the system of long vacations for school teachers.

District Superintendent Kirk declared the instructors and pupils need the rest and that the cost of a twelve months' session would be heavy. District Superintendent Lowry took a similar view. Trustee Chvatal favored abolishing the long vacations.

GOING TO HUNT FOR BANDITS.

Lieut. Broderick and Seven Detectives This Morning Will Again Seek Holdup Men in Indiana.

Lieut. Broderick and seven detectives this morning will go to Miller Station, Ind., again in search of holdup men. The lieutenant said last night that several men answering the description of those suspected of many Chicago robberies had been seen there within the last few days.

It is believed men who may be found there may throw light on the murder of Hans Peterson Monday night in his cigar store at West Lake and Robey streets.

In the Desplaines street police court yesterday Joseph Briggs was held to the grand jury without bail for the murder of Peterson. John White and Harry Spencer, arrested as suspects in the holdup of the cigar store, were held in $2,000 bonds on each of five charges of robbery.

YACHT CAPSIZED IN LAKE: NO TRACE OF CREW FOUND.

Steamer Finds Nameless Craft North of Waukegan, and Indications Are That the Occupants Have Been Drowned.

A nameless capsized yacht, found in the lake yesterday and brought to Chicago, is believed by boatmen to indicate that the crew has been drowned. The fact that the sails were set is held as additional proof.

The steamer Virginia sighted the craft when just north of Waukegan and five miles from shore. The capsized boat was several miles further out in the lake. With the hope that the members of the crew might be clinging to the upturned hull Capt. Pardee immediately made full speed for the wreck. A small boat was rowed close to the yacht, but there was no sign of life.

The wrecked craft is of the "sidewalk" type, 16 feet long, and is painted white. One side of the railing was torn away, apparently in the struggle to keep the boat afloat. The yacht would accommodate six persons.

No boat of that description is enrolled in the Columbia Yacht club fleet, and none is known of in Chicago by the members.

WILL HOLD A PUBLIC CLINIC.

Prof. T. Escherich of Vienna, Specialist in Diseases of Children, Will Demonstrate.

Prof. T. Escherich of Vienna, a member of the party of European savants now in the city, will hold a public clinic in the amphitheater of the county hospital at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The professor occupies the chair of diseases of children in the University of Vienna, and is foremost in his specialty. Tomorrow evening in the Public Library building he will deliver an address under the auspices of the Chicago Pediatric society and the Chicago Medical society.

Members of the medical profession are invited to be present on both occasions.

ROBBERS THROW ACID ON WOMAN.

Mrs. Mary D. Campbell Brutally Injured in Attempt to Save Her Property.

BURNS ON FACE AND HAND.

Holdup Men Hurl Liquid When Proprietor of Shop Resists; Secure $57.

Mrs. Mary D. Campbell, owner of a dye and cleaning works at 571 Forty-third street, was painfully burned with carbolic acid last night as the result of her attempt to prevent two men from robbing her establishment. The men secured $57 and an overcoat. The men entered the store shortly after 10 o'clock, while Mrs. Campbell was alone. She supposed they were customers.

"Good evening, Mrs. Campbell," said one.

She returned the salutation and had asked them their business when both walked toward the rear end of the counter. The woman started to follow them, but as she did so she was stopped.

Takes Money from Register.

Aware now that the men were robbers, Mrs. Campbell attempted to evade the one who barred her, but was seized and held while the other walked to the cash register and robbed it.

As the man behind the counter came near, Mrs. Campbell attempted to seize him. Both men then attacked her, she said, the one who had taken the money drawing from his pocket a bottle threw the contents in her face.

The men then struck her, Mrs. Campbell said, and threw her to the floor, after which they escaped through the rear door. Mrs. Campbell was found by persons who heard her cries for help.

The coat they took belonged to John R. Thompson, who had left it to be pressed and cleaned.

The police were notified and Mrs. Campbell was taken to the office of Dr. William Joyce, 576 Forty-second street, where it was said she was not severely burned. She could give no description of the robbers and the police have no clew.

Robbers Work in Drug Store.

Two holdup men shortly before midnight entered the drug store of Windmueller & Elich, Milwaukee avenue and Robey street, robbed a member of the firm and a customer, and emptied the cash register. They secured $75 and jewelry valued at $100.

Both of the robbers were young men, and were not masked. When they were well inside the store they forced the two occupants to hold up their hands. Herman Elich, 797 North Leavitt street, was in charge of the store, and the customer was J. P. Shapiro, 908 North Campbell avenue. Elich was placed by the side of Shapiro, while one of the men secured $60 from the cash drawer.

The robbers then searched the pockets of the two victims, securing $15, a gold watch, and a stick pin from Elich, and a gold watch and two rings from Shapiro. They then warned the men to stand still and make no outcry, and ran south in Robey street.

Burglary in Oak Park.

The return of W. H. Cribben, his wife, and son from a wedding in the evening interrupted the operations of three burglars who had entered the Cribben residence at 107 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park. The men secured only $60, but they attempted to take away a pillow case, in which they had placed silverware valued at nearly $700. The men in escaping jumped from the second story window, near which the silverware was found.

The family left the house at 8:30 o'clock and returned at 10 o'clock to find the three men in the house. When Cribben reached the upper floor of the building he saw the men running through the rear yard. The house had been ransacked.

Victim Pursues Robbers.

John Hudson, negro bartender in a saloon at 664 West Van Buren street, was held up in the morning by three men armed with a revolver, who robbed him of $5. Hudson pursued the men, and was joined by Detective Ashworth of the Hinman street station, who arrested Robert Jones at Wood and Polk streets. The other men escaped.

Ludwig Bara, 319 Washington boulevard, was attacked by two holdup men in the evening at Washington boulevard and Morgan street and robbed of $21.

Edgar Fake, said to be a graduate of Notre Dame college, was arrested yesterday, charged with having robbed the residence of P. B. Ritter, a lawyer, in Highland Park. The Ritter house was entered Sept. 3 and $50, a watch, and the family silver were stolen. The detectives who arrested Fake are said to have recognized a watch he pawned as the one belonging to the lawyer. A writ of habeas corpus for the release of Fake will be argued in the Criminal court Saturday.

An attack on the conductor of a West Madison street cable train Wednesday night by a negro armed with a razor ended in the arrest of the negro, after he had been beaten into unconsciousness by passengers. Several persons were slightly injured. The negro gave the name of James Washington.

YOUNG MEN ADMIT MURDER AND LAY BLAME ON DRINK.

Stephen Quinn and John Liston, Robbers, Sentenced for Long Terms for Slaying Druggist Walter G. Seibert.

Penitentiary sentences for complicity in the robbery and murder of Walter G. Seibert, a druggist at 1259 Garfield boulevard, marked a chapter yesterday in two lives of dissipation. Stephen Quinn was sent to the Joliet penitentiary for eighteen years and John Liston for sixteen years.

When Judge Chetlain sentenced the young men the mother of Quinn wept inconsolably, throwing her arms around the twin sons of the prisoner. Quinn's wife also wept bitterly.

Both men pleaded guilty when arraigned in the morning. They said their previous confessions were correct and that drink led to their downfall, as they were intoxicated when they joined William Donahue in the attack. Quinn had been a board of trade clerk and Liston had been employed in a packing house office. After they began patronizing saloons their descent was rapid. Donahue is a fugitive.

CALL CAR STRAP PERIL TO WOMAN

New York Physicians Declare Constant Clinging to Supports a Danger.

HIT "GOING AND COMING."

Merchant, as Book Backer, Loses $12,500; Drops $10,000 Trying to Beat Game.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Sept. 15.

"The young women's health is affected seriously by this constant hanging on a strap in the elevated cars morning and evening. Woman is more delicately organized physically than man, so that while the necessity of traveling in this manner may not have any pernicious effects on him it certainly does on woman.

Women in Peril from Strap Hanging.

"I know, because I have had several patients who have suffered from the effects of this sort of thing. Not only does it injure them physically, but it destroys their figures, tending to a lopsided effect which is not at all comely in a young woman."

This statement was made today by Dr. Thompson Sweeny. He said he had often thought of the harmful results on woman of traveling back and forth to work hanging on a strap, and he was glad to sound a note of warning.

He added that if men realized this they probably would be more gallant and not sit in "L" seats to the exclusion of women. Dr. Reverdy Estill of the New York hospital said the same thing.

"I have treated lots of women who were suffering from the evil effects of this habit," he said. "It is a positive danger to womankind. It is liable to bring on all sorts of diseases. I wish something could be done to rectify this condition."

"There is no question about it," said Deputy Supt. Rickard of Bellevue hospital. "Women are bound to suffer from the strap clinging, but there seems to be no remedy for it—they must get downtown."

Charles I. Lightstone, who was a woolen merchant at 115 Greene street until he went into bankruptcy on Aug. 15, lost $22,500 playing the races last spring and summer. In the parlance of the game, "he got it going and coming." When the racing season opened Lightstone went into a partnership with a bookmaker, each man putting up $12,500, Lightstone giving his note for the amount.

Bankrupt Bookie Tries to Beat the Game from Ground.

Gravesend and Morris Park cleaned out the firm's strong box and Lightstone paid his note for $12,500. Then he got an idea he could beat the game from the ground. He went to Saratoga with $10,000 in cash, hoping to get back the $12,500 he dropped in his bookmaking venture.

According to his own story, there never was such a run of bad luck. He bet on horse after horse only to see the animal finish just outside the money. Of all the ponies he played only one came under the wire first. The pony promptly was disqualified for fouling.

Leaden footed thoroughbreds were not the only cause of his undoing. He tried Wall street and dropped a bundle of money on stocks that went down when he thought they would go up. Full houses that wouldn't fill and bob tailed straights that couldn't be caught also had something to do with his bankruptcy, but now he says he will gamble no more.

"Don't marry Pearson. He has a wife in Kansas." This is the telegram which Miss Reba McChesney, the 20 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McChesney of Rahway, N. J., received tonight just as the guests were assembling for the bridal celebration, which was to make her the wife of T. S. Pearson, a young man employed by a Newark piano firm. This morning Miss McChesney received a telephone message from the manager of the firm asking her to call at his office. As she was busy with preparations for her wedding she did not do so. Just as she was arraying herself in her wedding dress the telegram announcing that her fiancé already was married arrived. She fainted and the guests were sent home. The bridegroom-elect failed to appear.

Bride to Be Is Warned by a Telegram.

Plans for a determined and extensive campaign for civic betterment were outlined at a meeting of the American Civic association, which was held here today. The entire situation with which the association will have to deal, was discussed. National headquarters will be established in Philadelphia, and active work will begin at once.

Civic Betterment Theme of This Conference.

Among the matters taken up were the Washington improvements, railroad terminal improvements, school gardens, suppression of offensive signboards, parks, children's playgrounds, public recreations, and public reservations.

There were present J. H. McFarland of Harrisburg, Pa., president; C. R. Woodruff of Philadelphia, vice president; William R. Howland of New York, treasurer; F. L. Dimsted of Boston, Frank Chapin Bray of Chicago, Mrs. A. E. McCrea of Chicago, W. A. Paterson of Chicago, and R. J. Crosby of the agricultural department at Washington.

A well dressed man was crossing Broadway at Twenty-third street tonight when he picked up a new $1 bill. He started to move on when a stranger said to him: "Excuse me, sir, but did you find a $1 bill? I just dropped it. I thank you much for picking it up, sir."

Dollar Bill Found in Street; Claimants Block Cars.

"But I don't know it is yours," said the finder, and then added quickly: "Can you tell me the number?"

Just then another man stepped up and said he had lost a bill. He started to argue the matter when a third man stepped up to put in a claim. In five minutes fifteen men were claiming ownership of the bill, and a crowd of a hundred had gathered. The cars were blocked while the wrangle lasted. Finally the finder exclaimed disgustedly:

"I'm losing valuable time; you can take your old money," and he crunched the bill in his hand and tossed it into the air.

There was a scramble, and a newsboy known as "Happy" dived between the legs of the struggling claimants, and, grabbing the bill, escaped through Madison square.

Another large wooden case, filled with Paris dresses of the latest models, has been seized by the customs officials and sent to the warehouse to keep company with the two chests previously taken, one of which contained a trousseau valued at $20,000. Altogether there are 100 dresses of fine material, all richly trimmed.

Rich Dresses Seized by Customs Officials.

Two dressmakers appeared at the custom house and claimed some of the articles, submitting a consular invoice of $4,000.

Their request was refused, as they offered no explanation, except that the boxes were sent among the baggage on the ship in order to procure quick delivery.

A shipment of clothing valued at nearly $15,000 was stolen from a firm here in broad daylight. The clothing had been packed and was being carried on a truck to the railway station when the driver stopped at one of the firm's offices on an errand. When he returned to the street the truck had disappeared. After searching the whole lower section of the city the police found the empty truck on an East river pier.

Democrats Plan Beauty Contest.

Preparations for a beauty contest, to be held by the democrats in connection with the Parker-Davis demonstration at Chutes park on Sept. 26, are being pushed to completion by the "beauty committee," of which Richard B. Considine is chairman. More than 300 young women have entered the contest. The one declared to be the prettiest will receive a $300 gold watch. Among those who entered the contest yesterday are: Miss Emma Baker, 1036 West Adams street, and Miss Margaret Curtis, 464 Austin avenue. Consolation prizes, including nearly a hundred articles, given by west side business men, will be awarded to the competitors failing to receive the honor of "prize beauty."

CHILDREN SEEK TO TOIL.

"CLEARING HOUSE" KEPT BUSY ISSUING THE PERMITS.

Central Office, Opened on Monday, Receives Applications from 206 Persons of School Age—Public and Parochial Institution Authorities Take Data and Give Educational Tests—Father Says He Has "Ten Offsprings and Nothing Else."

Two hundred and six children of school age, who want to go to work, have applied for certificates that the law requires, since the central office in the Security building was opened on Monday.

Seventy-five appeared yesterday, accompanied by their parents or guardians. The room was crowded all day. It was the greatest number of applicants since the department was established by Chief Factory Inspector Edgar Davies in conjunction with public and parochial school authorities.

Three-fifths Are Bohemians.

Old certificates from the public school were held by 156 applicants. The remainder formerly had attended parochial schools. The nationalities were approximately represented as follows:

	Per cent.
Bohemians	60
Italians	10
Jews	10
Poles	10
Americans, Germans, French, other nationalities	10

G. A. Pettys, who acts for the public schools, and Mrs. Frances Coss, who looks after former students of parochial schools, had all they could do to weigh the applicants, measure their height, find the color of hair and eyes, and the shades of complexion, and fill out the blanks.

"Ten Children; Nothing Else."

"I have ten children, and I haven't anything else," said a carpenter who came in the afternoon to secure a certificate for his son, 14 years and 3 months old. "I have been out of work for five weeks and my wife is ill."

A boy who did not appear more than 10 years old, although he said he was 15, had no certificate from the school which he had attended. The agents require these when they are obtainable.

"You will have to bring your father to vouch for you," said Mr. Pettys.

"Father can't come. He said he wasn't able," and the boy began to cry.

Investigation showed that the father was a well to do clothing merchant.

Tells of the Precautions.

"It's a great thing," said Mrs. Coss. "People are beginning to understand that they must give their children an education. We do not issue the certificates unless we are sure all the requirements have been observed. Under the old system permits sometimes were issued when the children could not read or write. I conduct a little examination of my own when I am in doubt about that."

Miss Jane Addams was a visitor during one of these "little examinations."

"Just sign your father's name here, sonny," said Mrs. Coss. He did it laboriously, but so that it could be read. His father made his mark.

"This boy can write, you see," said Mrs. Coss to Miss Addams. "I get them to sign whenever I can. Then I am sure they meet the requirements."

"I think it is a good plan," was Miss Addams' comment.

Germans Most Eager to Learn.

Mrs. Coss says that of all nationalities the Germans seem to be most eager for an education. Since the office was opened she has found only one German applicant who could not read and write. He was a 14 year old boy. The certificate was denied.

"You will have to issue the certificate," said the boy's married sister. "My father can't tell the number on his house, and he always has got along."

An Italian youth, 19 years old, was a visitor early in the week. He was 4 feet and 6 inches tall, and only weighed eighty-seven pounds. He produced a soiled certificate.

"No one will put me to work," he said. "They think I am lying when I tell my age, and are afraid they will get into trouble with the factory inspector."

ERIE IS CREDITED WITH NEW MOVE

AROUSES TALK OF PLANS.

Despite President's Denial, Deal Is Believed to Be Under Negotiation.

Considerable excitement was caused yesterday in railroad circles here by a report from New York that the Erie had acquired or is to purchase the Père Marquette, with the entire Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system. The story appeared plausible to many, because such a deal would tend to conserve the community of interest in central and trunk line territory. As an independent system the consolidated Père Marquette, and Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton were in a position, it was asserted, to stir up considerable strife and keep the rate situation in an unsettled state.

It was asserted that the arrangement by which the present Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system was formed by the recent purchase of the Père Marquette was never intended to be a final disposition of either, but was brought about to facilitate the sale of both by forcing their purchase by one of the New York trunk line systems.

Refused by the Vanderbilts.

It is known that an offer of the Père Marquette was made to the Vanderbilts before its consolidation with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, but was declined on account of the price being deemed too high. The opinion was freely expressed that it could be purchased in the future at a figure considerably less than the offer.

The purchase of the Père Marquette by the Hamilton and Dayton evidently greatly displeased the Vanderbilts, and the friendly relations existing between these roads and the Père Marquette prior to its absorption by the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton have become strained. It was due to this feeling that the Vanderbilts recently terminated the arrangement by which the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton ran its trains from Toledo to Detroit over the tracks of the Michigan Central.

President Sends a Denial.

As neither the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton or the Erie railroads have headquarters in Chicago no information regarding the alleged deal could be obtained here. Last evening, however, a dispatch was received from Cincinnati stating that Eugene Zimmerman, president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, said there was no foundation for the report and that the Erie was not connected with the recent merger.

While this disposed of the report that the Erie had secured control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton—Père Marquette system—the opinion is expressed by railroad officials here that negotiations are in progress between the Père Marquette-Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton interest and the Erie by which the two former roads will secure an outlet into trunk line territory and to New York over the Erie instead of the New York Central.

Friendly relations between the Erie and Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton have existed for years. Under a traffic arrangement between them the Erie has found a good outlet to Cincinnati. It therefore is natural to suppose that the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton interests are ready to embrace the opportunity to make a strong contract with the Erie to give the Père Marquette an outlet from Buffalo to the Atlantic seaboard.

Considers Shippers' Complaints.

The Central Freight association at its meeting here yesterday considered the complaints of Minneapolis shippers that the cancellation of the 20½ cent rate on grain from the Twin Cities to the Atlantic seaboard places them at a great disadvantage. The through rate was cut off nearly a month ago because of the clamor by Chicago shippers that milling in transit privileges should be allowed at Chicago on grain from Minneapolis. Instead of doing this they decided to do away with the through rate and add the 17½ cent figure from Chicago to New York to whatever rate the Chicago-St. Paul lines may make.

It was not deemed advisable to rescind that action, as it was "up to" the Chicago-St. Paul lines to adjust their rates to Chicago so as to give the Minneapolis shippers as good a figure as they had before the change.

ENLISTS DEMOCRATIC EDITORS.

Charter Compaign Committee Meets with Leaders of Opinion from Outside Counties.

Democratic editors of the state were enlisted for the charter movement yesterday at a meeting held under the direction of the democratic state committee at the Sherman house. Plans for the campaign were discussed, and the editors had luncheon and were taken to the theater at night.

The local democrats who addressed them at their meeting urged the necessity of supporting the charter amendment.

The campaign committee directing the charter movement, headed by Chairman B. E. Sunny and Secretary W. H. Brown, with ex-Judge Moran, met the editors, and Mr. Moran spoke before them in advocacy of the movement.

There were seventy-five newspaper men present from different parts of the state, and all promised to support the measure.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Woman Factory Inspector Hurt.—Mrs. Sarah R. Crowley, a deputy factory inspector during five years, is in a critical condition at her residence, 1245 North California avenue, as the result of an elevator accident in the Marquette building. In attempting to leave the car yesterday afternoon, she was caught by the head and shoulders. Her spine was injured and there is danger of complications.

Sue Father for Accounting.—Alleging that they have lost their interests in the $300,000 estate of their grandfather, Peter Johnson, who died in 1872, Wilson H. Stubbings Jr. and Ruth V. Stubbings, his sister, have brought suit against their father, Wilson H. Stubbings Sr., and other defendants, asking for an accounting. They also want the setting aside of all conveyances of the property involved.

Test for $1,200 Position.—An examination to select men eligible for the position of clerk in the subtreasury service in Chicago will be held on Oct. 6. The salary is $1,200 a year. The examination is open to all citizens more than 20 years old. Applications must be filed with Secretary Peter Newton of the civil service commission on or before Oct. 1.

Drop Capital from $100,000 to $500.—The George E. Marshall company and the Thayer & Jackson Stationery company each yesterday secured a reduction in capital stock from $100,000 to $500. The action was taken in order to retain the charters after the merger of the corporations last June, under the name of the Marshall-Jackson company, with $250,000 capital.

New Auto Numbers Issued.—More than 100 new number plates and certificates were issued to automobile owners yesterday under the new city ordinance. Arthur J. Eddy, holder of the old No. 1, got the corresponding number plate. No. 2 goes to Ald. Scully, and No. 3 to F. R. Jenkins.

Many Scientists to Come.—Eighty scientists and professors from Europe will arrive in Chicago today, and be entertained by a committee of business men. Ten arrived yesterday. The visitors on Saturday or Sunday will go to the international congress of arts and scientists in St. Louis.

Dissolves Oil Suit Writ.—Judge Holdom yesterday dissolved the injunction secured by four oil companies, restraining the city from enforcing ordinances governing oil delivery wagons, and requiring licenses for them. An appeal was taken.

75 Cents—Cedar Lake and Return. Tickets good Saturdays and Sundays, returning Mondays. Also $1 rate every day, returning three days. Monon Route city office, 232 Clark street, or Dearborn Station.

Total	761,942	*390,000

*Estimated or unofficial figures.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—St. Louis day attendance, whatever the actual figures will be as shown in the official count, eclipsed all previous admission records at the world's fair. Varying estimates were given by officials of the exposition, who are in touch with the attendance situation, and these depended more or less on the degree of optimism of the estimator.

Total Near 400,000.

The average of several of the estimates given unofficially by those who should be in a position to know would place the total attendance of the day at about 390,000 recorded admissions. By 6 o'clock this evening it was known that at least 200,000 paid admissions had been recorded at the Lindell entrance alone. This count would include coin, souvenir tickets, and season coupon admissions.

Half a million tags to be distributed at the gates to those who entered on paid admissions were printed. Of these more than half were distributed. Many of them had been given out before today with the advance sales of souvenir tickets. While the pass gates were all open today as usual, the man or woman who had the temerity to use them was at times subjected to embarrassing remarks.

Repeaters in Evidence.

One cause of the long delay at the gates was the frequency of repeating on the part of many of the visitors. It was no uncommon incident for a visitor to walk up to a pay gate or coin stile with a handful of money or tickets and thrust them at the gateman with instructions to "drop 'em all in."

At the Lindell entrance a world's fair director was waiting his turn to enter behind a citizen. When the citizen reached the coin stile he handed the gateman twenty half dollars and told him to count them all in. The exposition director had 15 half dollars, which he was about to have counted, but not to be outdone, he determined to raise the citizen. Losing his turn and going back to the change booth, he obtained 10 more half dollars, and after another walk he handed them to the gateman to be dropped in the slot.

The spirit that endeavored to make of St. Louis day the greatest of all days at the fair was rampant, and neither time, trouble, nor expense was spared. It is known that at one of the entrances there were 34,000 "repeaters" recorded.

Makes "Chicago Day" Plans.

"Chicago day," Oct. 8, will be one of the greatest at the St. Louis exposition, if the Chicago executive committee can accomplish its purpose. It met at the city hall yesterday for the first time.

Instructions were given to the transportation committee to take up with the railways the question of a reduction in rates, and to find the number of persons that can be carried safely. Information as to accommodations will be given by the St. Louis authorities, and this will be made public in advance. A bureau of information is to be established.

The exposition will be asked to print special tickets, with detachable coupon, which will be taken up, leaving the cards as souvenirs. These will be placed on sale at several places in Chicago.

The school committee will consider the advisability of securing one or more days' holidays for school children, to enable them to see the fair.

BOY ENDS WALK OF 7,000 MILES

Louis G. Madrigal, Who Left Lima, Peru, on Foot on Sept. 2, 1902, Arrives at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—Louis G. Madrigal, a 19 year old boy, who started from Lima, Peru, Sept. 2, 1902, has arrived here after a walk of 7,000 miles, believed to be the longest journey ever made on foot.

FUSION POPULISTS NOMINATE.

Indiana Convention Indorses Candidate of Middle of the Road Following.

For governor.....LEROY TEMBLETON
For lieutenant governor.....WILLIAM B. GILL
For secretary of state.....ADAM P. HANNA

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 15.—The fusion populists of Indiana today nominated the same ticket as the middle-of-the-roaders. The platform denounces the democratic party, declares for the initiative and referendum, for an eight hour day on public works, and against government by injunction.

TOOLE CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR.

For governor.....J. K. TOOLE
For lieutenant governor.....EDWIN FERRIS
For chief justice.....D. F. SMITH

Helena, Mont., Sept. 15.—Twice today the democratic state convention voted down propositions to make an effort to fuse with the labor, populist, and anti-trust parties, and proceeded to the work of nominating a state ticket, while other futile attempts were made to get another vote on fusion. Fusion was defeated by twenty-two votes out of a total of over 500.

JERSEY DEMOCRATS PICK BLACK

State Convention Nominates Hudson Man for Governor—Charges Republicans with Extravagance.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 15.—The democratic state convention today nominated Charles C. Black of Hudson for governor on the first ballot. The convention also chose electors. The resolutions were strong in their arraignment of the state republican administration, which is accused of extravagance. It was decided to make the term of members of the state committee four years.

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.

DOVER, DEL.—The regular republican state committee has drafted harmony overtures which have been forwarded to the Addicks faction. The resolutions ask that both factions meet jointly and agree upon one republican state ticket.

ELMIRA, N. Y.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks addressed 10,000 people at the Chemung county fair, after which he left for Parkersburg, W. Va. His speech was confined almost wholly to a discussion of the financial question.

DENVER, COLO.—William J. Bryan spoke at Coliseum hall tonight. Mr. Bryan dwelt at length upon what he termed the policy of militarism. He characterized President Roosevelt as a dangerous man.

LANSING, MICH.—A massmeeting of populists was held here and a full electoral ticket nominated. It was decided to support the democratic state legislative ticket.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national democratic committee, has arrived in Indianapolis. Mr. Taggart refused to make any statement.

BOSTON, MASS.—It is announced that Richard Olney, whose nomination for governor has been urged, has absolutely declined to become the democratic nominee.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—A tornado which struck the city early this morning cost the lives of eight men, the crew of the tug Israel W. Durham, which went down off Christiana wharf, in the Delaware river, demolished a circus, tore off the roofs of houses, inflicting damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Hargreave's circus, with seven tents and a menagerie, was on a three acre lot downtown. The tents went into shreds as soon as the storm burst. The cages containing the animals were overturned, and people living in houses about the lot barricaded the doors. An elephant got away, but was captured before it did any damage.

Siren Whistle Causes Panic.

A tree was blown down and fell across a valve of a siren whistle at the Pennsylvania hospital and opened it. The screech of the whistle caused a panic in the hospital. One patient died of shock.

An old elm tree in Independence square, there when the declaration of independence was signed, was destroyed. Trees and litter cover the streets. Thousands of windows were broken and damage to property was great all about the city.

For twenty-four hours the rainfall at Wilmington, Del., was 5.95 inches, exceeding all previous records. The wind reached a velocity of seventy miles an hour. Throughout Wilmington trees were uprooted and houses were flooded. The steeple of St. Paul's Catholic church was partly destroyed. Reports from Delaware are to the effect that all crops were ruined and that all fruit trees were stripped of their fruit. At Farnhurst a landslide blocked trains for several hours.

In Baltimore William Norton was killed by a live wire blown down by the wind, and an unknown man was drowned in the bay by the capsizing of his boat. The rainfall was nearly six inches.

Deluge in New York.

New York, Sept. 15.—The storm here amounted to a deluge, and was most severe this afternoon, when trolley cars came to a standstill. Elevated trains stopped, and traffic of all kinds was paralyzed. Trees, fences, and wires were blown down. There was considerable damage in Jersey City.

Schooners in Collision.

The schooners, Hattie V. Kelsey, coal laden from Newport News for New Haven, and the Helen H. Benedict, from Norfolk, for New Haven, with coal, were in collision off Sandy Hook. The Kelsey sank almost immediately. Its crew of seven men were rescued. The Benedict, which lost its bowsprit, was towed to this city.

A big lumber laden schooner was wrecked about a mile north of Center island. The crew of four men were rescued. The Spindthrift, a sloop yacht, was driven ashore on the Meadows in Oyster Bay.

Damage in New England.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—The storm damage in New England was heavy. Fifteen boats were driven ashore or damaged near Newport, R. I. The fishing steamer Joseph Church was wrecked in the sound. Capt. Leeman and his crew of twenty-one were rescued.

Five Drown Off Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 15.—Capt. Ingham and the crew of the Clyde line ship Huron rescued three of the crew of the fishing smack Grey Eagle of Charleston yesterday and brought them here today. Five were drowned when the boat capsized.

THREE DISASTERS ON LAKES.

Barge Burns Near Port Huron, Canadian Schooner Is Wrecked, and Gilchrist Craft Goes Ashore.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 15.—While on its way up Lake Huron in tow of the steamer D. Leuty at noon today, the barge Gardner was found to be on fire. The crew was taken off by the Leuty and the burning boat soon went to the bottom, seven miles above Sanilac. As the wreck lies almost directly in the path of vessels it is a menace to navigation. The Gardner was owned by John C. Pringle of St. Clair, Mich.

Schooner Dashed to Pieces.

Kincardine, Ont., Sept. 15.—The Canadian schooner Singapore, bound from Tobermoray to this port with a cargo of lumber, today was dashed to pieces near the entrance to the harbor during a gale. J. C. Sutherland, who owned and sailed the vessel, his wife and three children, and the crew of five men were rescued. The boat was not insured.

Gilchrist Steamer Ashore.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 15.—The steamer C. C. Hand of the Gilchrist fleet is reported ashore on Madeline island, Lake Superior. The steamer was bound down with iron ore. The steamers Neosho and Mars have been sent to the assistance of the stranded boat.

BRIDGE BURNS, SEVEN VICTIMS.

Fire Apparatus and Crowd Precipitated Into Lake During Fire at Stillwater, Minn.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 15.—The bridge across Lake St. Croix caught fire today, and when the fire apparatus and the crowd attempted to cross it, it fell into the water, about twenty feet below. Two persons were killed and five injured.

Five Children Burn to Death.

Columbia, Ky., Sept. 15.—Five children were burned to death and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sapp, were fatally injured at Rolly, Ky., near here, today. All were sleeping when their farmhouse caught fire.

OBITUARY.

MAJ. CHARLES EMMETT MOORE, who died Wednesday evening at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Lew, 2136 Washington boulevard, will be buried tomorrow afternoon from St. Mel's Roman Catholic church. The burial will be at Calvary. Maj. Moore was a Chicago pioneer and a veteran of the civil and Mexican wars. He was born in Ireland in 1821 and came to Chicago in 1848. In 1851-'52 he was an alderman from the old Seventh ward. Five children are living—Mrs. T. J. Lawler, Mrs. Lew, Charles Moore, Mrs. A. L. Morrison of Santa Fé, N. M., and Thomas D. Moore of Austin.

CLARENCE A. MURRAY, Waukegan, 53 years old, died yesterday morning after a long illness. Mr. Murray was born in Elgin, but lived in Waukegan since he was 11 years old. He was for years well known among republican politicians, being for a long time chairman of the congressional committee, member from 1886 to 1888 of the state central committee, and chairman for ten years of the republican county committee for Lake county. At the time of his death he was in his third term as postmaster of Waukegan.

HALIFAX SWEPT BY FIRE.

LOSS OF $500,000 ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

Dynamite Used to Blow Up Buildings in Effort to Check Spread of Flames—Sudden Shifting of Wind Chief Factor in Saving Entire Business District—Launches Brought Into Service to Aid in Rescue—Girl Killed and Fireman Fatally Hurt.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 15.—A fortunate shift of wind saved Halifax from destruction by fire today. Nevertheless, the city suffered a loss of $500,000 in the business part of the water front, and the progress of the flames was only staid by the dynamiting of a dozen buildings by the sailors from the fleet and soldiers from the garrison.

The fire consumed six wharves, two coal piers, two hotels, a dozen warehouses, and a number of retail shops.

During the fire a large tree fell, killing Flora Ring, 28 years old, and wounding two others.

One fireman was fatally injured by a live wire, while another was badly hurt by falling slate.

The burned district, which covered about two acres, was one of wooden buildings three and four stories high, many of them built years ago, when Halifax merchants dealt heavily in fish. The buildings were saturated with fish oil and burned fiercely.

Crowds of people who had rushed down Smith wharf found themselves hemmed in, with the fire on one side and the harbor on the other, and all had to be taken off by launches from the warships.

MEETINGS OF VARIOUS BODIES.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Delegates from New York, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Kentucky, and Tennessee are arrived today to attend the national colored Baptist convention. Reports read disclosed marked activity, but pointed out the necessity for more liberal contributions to further the work.

PITTSBURG—A parade, participated in by local and visiting members of the American Veterans of Foreign Service and other local military organizations, formed the principal feature of today's meeting in this city of the second annual convention of the service men.

ST. LOUIS—The chamber of delegates to the International Electrical congress adopted resolutions recommending the creation of a commission to fix an international standard of electrical measurements to be established by uniform laws in all countries of the world.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—The annual encampment of the Union Veteran Legion of America closed with a campfire. Corporal Tanner of Washington was the principal speaker. William H. Manning of Columbus, O., was elected national commander.

MILWAUKEE—The National Association of German Press Clubs decided to continue the national headquarters at New York instead of Milwaukee, owing to the larger membership in the east. Franz Richter of New York was chosen president.

ST. JOSEPH, MO.—The great council of the United States Improved Order of Redmen closed its session and the delegates and their wives started for St. Louis. Saturday will be redmen's day at the world's fair.

DULUTH—The second day's session of the American Institute of Mining Engineers was devoted to technical discussions on the geology of the Lake Superior iron district, to be visited by the party.

ODELL DOMINATES STATE CONVENTION

His Choice, Higgins, Nominated for Governor, Beating T. S. Woodruff.

PUNISHMENT FOR PLATT.

For governor.....FRANK W. HIGGINS
For lieutenant governor.....M. LINN BRUCE
For secretary of state.....JOHN F. O'BRIEN
For attorney general.....JULIUS M. MAYER
For controller.....OTTO KELSEY
For state treasurer....JOHN G. WALLENMAIER
For state engineer and surveyor.....
.....HENRY A. VAN ALSTYNE
For chief judge of the Court of Appeals....
.....EDGAR M. CULLEN [Dem.]
For associate judge of the Court of Appeals..
.....WILLIAM E. WERNER [Rep.]

The motion carried with no dissenting votes, although the Brooklyn delgation was in an ugly humor. In presenting Mr. Woodruff's name William A. Prendergast had made a bitter attack on the methods of the Higgins forces, declaring that the opposition to Woodruff was a form of punishment for Senator Platt.

When Woodruff's name was first mentioned by Prendergast a wild demonstration followed, led by Platt, who rose and stood, an unusual thing for him to do.

There were no contests for the other places, and the convention adjourned at 2:30 p. m.

Woodruff Begins Day Determined.

The second day of the convention opened with every evidence that the contest would be carried to the finish. A protracted conference was held early in the day between Senator Platt and Mr. Woodruff. At its close Senator Platt refused to be interviewed, and Mr. Woodruff said:

"There is no change in the situation. My name will be presented to the convention."

Immediately after Mr. Woodruff had left Senator Platt, Gov. Odell called upon the senator. Later he said his call was simply friendly, and that he understood Mr. Woodruff would go into the convention and get as many votes as he could.

In the convention the Woodruff faction was exceedingly enthusiastic and insistent. But the only thing approaching a showing of strength was when his name was first placed in nomination. There was no slight anywhere in the proceedings to Senator Platt, save in the refusal of the convention to accede to his declared wish for the nomination of Mr. Woodruff. Every mention of his name was enthusiastically cheered.

Depew Answers Cockran.

Mr. Woodruff's withdrawal of his name and his motion to make unanimous the nomination of Mr. Higgins removed the last evidence of discord from the convention. The remainder of the convention was of a more or less routine character, save for the speech of Senator Depew, who, in presenting for renomination the name of Secretary of State John F. O'Brien, took occasion to answer some of the democratic arguments in the speech of Congressman Bourke Cockran last night at Tammany Hall.

Most of the delegates and others who attended the convention left on afternoon and evening trains and tonight Saratoga bears little of the animated appearance that has characterized the town since Sunday.

Synopsis of Platform.

A synopsis of the platform adopted follows:

The republicans of the Empire state, the home of Theodore Roosevelt, in convention assembled congratulate the country on the splendid results of the recent elections in Oregon, Vermont, and Maine, and the inspiration they have given to the cause of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

We indorse the platform of the republican national convention in Chicago in June last, in all its declarations, particularly those in favor of the maintenance of the gold standard and protection to American workmen, and the industries by which they thrive.

The republican party's safe guidance is evidenced by the fact that during the administrations of McKinley and Roosevelt wages reached the highest point on record, and prosperity superseded adversity which resulted from democratic policies just reaffirmed at St. Louis.

The administration of Gov. Odell is commended and indorsed; the policy of raising revenues for state maintenance by indirect taxation is approved, and any necessary revision of the state tax laws is favored.

The people of the state have decreed that the canals shall be improved, and we reaffirm the position heretofore taken by the party in regard to good roads for the construction of which the state already has paid or appropriated over $3,250,000.

We believe in increasing the effectiveness of the school system, greater appropriations for common schools, and the extension of free tuition in high schools.

We believe in maintaining the laws for safeguarding the interests of labor as well as of capital, and in extending such laws whenever additional safeguards may be necessary.

NEW YORK PAPERS REBUKED.

Henry Watterson of Louisville Tells What He Thirks of Way Editorial Association Was Treated.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Regarding the treatment of the democratic editorial conference in New York by the New York newspapers, Mr. Henry Watterson said:

"For my own part, I take all such matters lit or miss, and when I am well treated I am duly grateful. Nevertheless, it is true to say that the New York newspapers might have been a little more effusive. The Herald stazed out to guy the whole affair—why, I am at a loss to divine—but it quickly dropped that tone and its reports of the subsequent proceedings were full, fair, and graphic.

"Of course, Mr. Pulitzer, being a part of the performance, the World was from first to last friendly.

"The Times, however, and the Evening Post turned their backs upon the committee and its guests before the event, and after it had nothing to say except in the way of ill tempered depreciation."

Taking for his text two editorial extracts, one from the New York Times and the other from the Brooklyn Eagle, Mr. Watterson in tomorrow morning's Courier-Journal enters a protest against their peculiar method of dealing with the campaign and the national committee. The following are some suggestive quotations:

"We may well assume that neither Mr. Ochs nor Mr. Miller nor yet Dr. McKelway is unknown or unconsidered in Thirty-fourth street. If they be truly in earnest, if they are really solicitous for the election of Judge Parker, would it not be the part of wisdom—at least until they have some reason to doubt the efficacy of their approach—to deliver their counsels, to make their protest if need be, first to the head or heads of the committee, or to Judge Parker himself, before taking them to the public, to be greedily snapped up by the republicans for their own campaign uses?"

"The editor of the Courier-Journal had the misfortune to be in the east at the time—he did not volunteer to go there—and though quite out of the activities of politics, he could not refuse to sit down at table with his professional and political brethren and to speak when called upon to do so. He pursued exactly the line pursued by the Eagle and the Times. Yet is he discredited by each of them, and abused outright by the Evening Post.

"Mr. Clark Howell of Georgia received the same cavalier treatment.

"Will Mr. Ochs, will Mr. Miller, will Dr. McKelway tell us just how they would run the campaign, what they would do and what they would not do in case the whole business were turned over to them?"

Nominee for Governor of New York.

FRANK W. HIGGINS

Frank W. Higgins, who was nominated for governor of New York by the republican state convention at Saratoga yesterday, has been lieutenant governor for two years. He was a member of the state senate from 1893 to 1902, and was chairman of the finance committee of that body. He is wealthy, owning a string of general stores in New York and Pennsylvania, besides mining and timber lands in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. His home is at Olean, Cattaraugus county. He was born at Rushford, Allegany county, N. Y., in 1856, and was graduated from the Riverview Military academy at Poughkeepsie in 1873, later taking a business course. He began his business career at Stanton, Mich., where he opened a general store in 1875. He was married at Sparta, Wis., in 1878 to Miss Kate C. Noble.

PLEDGE WISCONSIN VOTE.

LA FOLLETTE MEN TO ABIDE BY "REGULARITY" DECISION.

Representative Body of Governor's Supporters Write to Chairman Cortelyou Saying It Is Their Purpose to Keep the State for Roosevelt Even If Ruling Goes Against Them—Sets at Rest Rumors That They Would Bolt if They Lost.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—One hundred and seventy-five prominent La Follette men in the state have signed a letter to Chairman Cortelyou, assuring him that regardless of the state fight President Roosevelt's campaign will not suffer and assuring him that in the event of the Supreme court deciding in favor of the Cook ticket, they will abide by that decision and support the regular state ticket.

On account of the prominence of many of the La Follette men, the letter is interesting, as it includes many delegates to the national and state conventions.

It has been said that the La Follette men would split the party in the state if the decision on the regularity of the ticket went against them. Their letter to Chairman Cortelyou is their first expression on the subject and flatly contradicts this allegation.

Pledge La Follette Allegiance.

The letter is as follows:

George B. Cortelyou, chairman republican national committee, Washington, D. C.—Sir: The undersigned supporters of Robert M. La Follette in his contests for the nomination for governor and of his administration and the measures advocated by him, lamenting the present condition of the republican party in Wisconsin, and the consequent disquiet which it must bring to the president and to republicans throughout the country, beg leave to assure you, and through you the president, that he need not fear the loss of the electoral vote of Wisconsin.

We are republicans because of our belief in the principles of the party and our conviction that through the success of those principles alone is the best interest of the whole country to be secured.

We affirm our allegiance to the national republican party and the principles declared by its conventions. The party can only be maintained by organization, and all questions affecting its unity and regularity must necessarily be submitted to the highest political tribunal for settlement, and such settlement will be accepted by all good republicans, unless it be found to be at variance with the decision of our courts.

We deprecate the untruthful report that has gone out to the country that, believing the republican party to be under the baleful influence of corporate wealth and had drifted away from the old principles of Lincoln and his compatriots, a considerable number of Wisconsin republicans seek a new alignment of the political parties of the United States. The republican party is good enough for us and those whose sayings gave rise to the report represent an element too radical to obtain a foothold in republican Wisconsin.

We address this to you that you may make such use of it, if any, as will encourage republicans throughout the country in the belief that Wisconsin, which never but once in the history of the party has failed in giving its electoral vote to republican candidates, will surely be found in the republican column in November, and will, at the same time, tend to discourage the fatuous belief upon the part of the destructive democracy that, because of party division, Wisconsin is a doubtful state in its electoral vote.

Judge Debars Himself.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Judge Siebecker, a brother-in-law of Gov. La Follette, and appointed by him to the Supreme bench, retired this morning from participation in the case which is to decide whether La Follette or S. A. Cook is the regular republican nominee for governor.

The first public intimation that such action was contemplated came when the judge made the announcement at the opening of court. He explained that the factional case had developed—especially since the amended complaint had been filed—features that involved "the personal and politic fortune of a relative," and that, therefore, he had decided he should leave the bench during the time it was pending. He left immediately after the announcement.

Opposes Any Action by Court.

H. W. Chynoweth, for the La Follette faction, continued his contention against the court assuming any jurisdiction of the case.

John Barnes, counsel for the La Follette wing, followed Mr. Chynoweth. He contended that the proper tribunal to settle a party feud was the party itself. When there is no statute obliging courts to decide such questions, he said, the majority of them hold, and rightly, that they will not assume to decide such controversies.

SAYS INDIANA IS SAFE.

HARRY C. NEW DOES NOT FEAR DEMOCRATIC TACTICS.

Declares Still Hunt Does Not Alarm Him and Insists That People of the State Are Scandalized—Hoosiers No Better or Worse than Others, but Vote According to Principles—Congressman Cannon Predicts Republican Success All Over Country.

Harry C. New, member of the republican national committee from Indiana, had some things to say about his state yesterday. It had been suggested the democrats were making a still hunt there which might make trouble, and Col. New said:

"Indiana is being scandalized. That state cannot be bought any more than any other state. There is always talk about the use of money in Indiana, but I never saw it worked out.

Hoosiers Good as Others.

"The people of Indiana are no better and no worse than those in other states, and they vote according to their principles just as the citizens of Illinois or Iowa do. I know we have got a bad name in Indiana, but we don't deserve it.

"It has been suggested the large negro population in the state gives cause for alarm, but I do not think so. There are reasons why on a local election a negro may vote the democratic ticket, but in years when a president is elected the colored vote has always been found in the republican column. I have no fears but it will be there this year."

Cannon Makes Rosy Report.

Congressman Cannon was in Chicago yesterday, but left in the afternoon to go to South Bend, Ind., where he made a speech in the evening. His reports were of a rosy character, and he predicted republican success all over the country. He will be in Vincennes on Saturday, and then comes to Illinois, being booked for speeches at Fairfield, Sparta, Belleville, and Metropolis next week. Then he goes to Nebraska.

Congressman Tawney has assigned Secretary of War Taft, Senator Beveridge, and George A. Knight to speak at the convention of republican clubs at Indianapolis Oct. 3 and 6.

ticket, and Senator Davis read to Mr. Parker the better part of his own epistle of acceptance.

It was announced tonight that Candidate Parker's letter of acceptance will be published on Sept. 26. The letter of Senator Davis will come a week later.

Rapid Fire Conferences.

Thereafter during the day there was a string of callers who came and went by appointment so rapidly and so secretly as to make it difficult to keep track of them. Perry Belmont was one of the first. He was put off until afternoon, but returned at 3 o'clock, and in that way got ahead of August Belmont, who did not reach the hotel until late in the afternoon. P. H. McCarren, the Brooklyn leader who is fighting Tammany; Daniel S. Lamont, the personal representative of Grover Cleveland in New York; Senator Gorman of Maryland, who is to have actual charge of the democratic campaign in the eastern states; Leader Murphy of Tammany hall, John L. Martin, sergeant at arms of the national committee, and half a dozen others were among the callers during the twelve hours the conferences were in full swing.

Hill Looks After Jerome.

David B. Hill was not an early visitor to the hotel, because he had had his work cut out for him when he visited Mr. Parker at Esopus a few days ago. While the conferences were going on in Longacre square, Hill made his way unexpectedly to the office of District Attorney Jerome. Hill has absolute control of the state democratic machine, as the leaders have now found out to their cost.

He went to Jerome with something more than an olive branch in his hand, and the two men talked in the shadow of the Tombs prison for more than an hour and a half. They were locked in the inner office of the district attorney's suite, and when the conference closed Hill wore his peculiar, inscrutable smile and Jerome went singing down the hall, the inaccuracy of his music being compensated for by the genuineness of his expression. There is nothing which makes your real reformer sing so readily as to offer him a new and better job than the one he holds.

Jerome's Strength Analyzed.

It was brought to the attention of Mr. Parker some time ago that Mr. Jerome, probably more than any other man in the democratic party, would be fitted to capture the imagination of the independent voter in New York state. He is hated and despised of Tammany hall, but Tammany would be glad to get rid of him. His successor would be appointed by Gov. Odell and would be a republican, but even so would be less distasteful than Jerome.

On the other hand it has been represented to Judge Parker repeatedly that Jerome's undoubted success as district attorney, and the honesty and integrity with which he cleaned out New York City would make him an extremely sound candidate, and would add the strength to the state ticket necessary to secure the electoral vote of New York state.

Bosses Don't Want Him.

Jerome, as governor, would not be at all acceptable to some of the democratic bosses. There is an enormous canal fund to be distributed, and there is a belief that, while Mr. Parker may not be elected president, the democrats might carry New York state, and the next chief executive will have the principal say so of the distribution of this big slush fund. For this reason the leaders, as well as Tammany hall, are unfriendly to Jerome, whom they know they could not use for improper purposes.

It has been suggested, therefore, that Jerome might be given the democratic nomination for one of the vacancies on the Court of Appeals. The republicans already have nominated Judge Cullen, a democrat, for the chief judgeship, which Mr. Parker has resigned, but they have coupled with him a republican, named Werner, of New York, for associate justice. David B. Hill does not want any republican on his ticket, and it therefore has been suggested that if the nomination is given to Jerome the ticket will have the benefit of his personal strength, a vacancy will be created in the district attorney's office, to the satisfaction of Tammany, and a "safe" man can be made governor.

Parker Prefers Shepard.

Mr. Parker prefers Edward M. Shepard as head of the state ticket. He makes good speeches and is a good campaigner. Hill always has wanted John B. Stanchfield, his former law partner. Stanchfield comes from Elmira, and Hill makes the point that the up state democrats would never vote heartily for any man from Greater New York.

The democrats believe that Higgins, the present lieutenant governor, who was nominated for governor today by Odell's convention at Saratoga, will not be a strong man before the people. He is, however, an up state man and has run a successful grocery business there, which has identified him with many different interests outside New York City.

Democratic Prospects Brighter.

Taking one consideration with another, the rapid fire conferences today seem to have strengthened the democratic situation quite materially, and some clever politics is being played under the direct inspiration of the presidential candidate himself. The conferences will be continued tomorrow.

RABBIT AN ISSUE FOR POLITICIANS.

ARE AFTER YATES SCALPS

Now Purpose to Take Local Fight Before Republican State Committee.

Br'er Rabbit and Molly Cottontail are threatened with a hard winter, and their troubles have their origin in a political fight. The "rabbit shepherds," their legal guardians, who also constitute the most formidable machine the present state administration possesses, are the objects of an attack arising from the Sangamon county contest.

Cullom men declared yesterday that unless they were recognized as constituting the regular republican organization in Sangamon county they would carry the game law into the courts and have it declared unconstitutional, thus wiping out 102 state positions.

Richard Sullivan, county treasurer of Sangamon, chairman of the Cullom committee, and Secretary Robinson, with an attorney, laid their claims before State Chairman Roy O. West yesterday and will take the case before the state committee today if they can get past the doorkeeper with it. Incidentally they threatened the game law and the "rabbit shepherds" with destruction and promised other kinds of trouble in case the Yates' committee is not unseated in favor of the Cullom followers.

Duplicates Wisconsin Mixup.

In the county contest, the state committee has a duplicate in miniature of the fuss the national committee has in Wisconsin. A meeting of the state organization has been called for today and the Cullom men in Sangamon have taken advantage of the occasion to force the issue.

In the primary fight the Cullom faction was known as "the Hamlin crowd," and the state convention recognized the Yates delegates. Now it is a contest between Cullom and Yates for the control of the county looking forward two years to the senatorial contest.

The state committee had adhered to the ruling of the state convention, and Gov. Yates even secured the position of secretary of the state committee for the chairman of his Sangamon county commitee, Dr. J. A. Wheeler. At the congressional conference held in Springfield six weeks ago the Cullom men tried to get a hearing, and State Chairman West politely but firmly refused to believe that they were alive. The courts in Sangamon county decided the Cullom county ticket was the regular republican ticket and threw out the Yates men.

Committee Is "Breathing Threats."

Now the Cullom committee is knocking at the door of the state committee again and breathing threats in case of a "trun down." The game law is the principal object threatened. Sullivan informed Mr. West that the law contained a flaw, in that it permits a land owner to shoot on his own property. A man who has six feet of land, it was explained, might shoot a rabbit which happened to stop long enough on that six feet, while the humisman who didn't own the land would be obliged to stand by and watch the slaughter without being able to take part. This is class legislation, in the opinion of the Cullom men, and, therefore, unconstitutional.

Republicans are not losing sleep over the fate of the rabbits which may be deprived of their guardians, but Sullivan believes they will hesitate to sacrifice 102 state positions.

Appeal Probably in Vain.

The probabilities are that the threat will prove vain. The state committee professes to be unconcerned about the fate of the "rabbit shepherds," and it is probable that the Cullom committee will receive the same ceremonious black eye today that it "went against" before and that it will be allowed to depart and accomplish such destruction as it may be able.

It is explained that any defects in the game law can be corrected by the legislature before the case could get to the Supreme court and that no serious damage could be done, even if the administration should regard the loss of the "rabbit shepherds" as serious.

During the primary fight some of the "shepherds" sprang into fame with peculiar financial systems. Several developed the plan of hiring rigs from themselves and charging the rent to the state, a method which did not meet the entire approval of the administration.

Deneen's Itinerary for Week.

Mr. Deneen's itinerary for next week was issued during the day by Scott Cowen. It includes speeches in thirteen counties and brings the candidate in Will and Kane for six week-end speeches. The schedule is as follows:

Monday—Hardin, Calhoun county; Jerseyville, Jersey; Carrollton.
Tuesday—Winchester, Scott; Pittsfield, Pike; Jacksonville, Morgan.
Thursday—Canton, Fulton; Rushville, Schuyler.
Friday—Plainfield, Will; Aurora, Kane.

Mr. Deneen will return to Chicago tomorrow.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

The appropriations made for the postoffice department for this fiscal year exceed by about $60,000,000 those for 1896. One reason is that there are more people to be served now than then. There is more mail matter to be carried. Another reason is that the field of activity of the department has been widened. The rural free delivery system has come into existence. It will cost this year $20,000,000. The farmers who have had the postoffice brought to their doors will not say that the money is being wastefully used. Neither will their city cousins, who have long had their letters delivered at their homes and offices.

Eight years ago the farmer had to go to the country postoffice for his letters, papers, and magazines. If he lived at a distance, and the weather was too bad, or he was busy in the harvest fields, the mail had to lie in the office. At times he and his family were cut off from the world. In 1897 the rural free delivery experiment was tried on a small scale. Forty-four routes were established at a cost of $40,000.

The experiment proved a success, and in 1900 there were 1,276 routes. There are today 24,560. Two-thirds of the territory of the United States available for rural free delivery having a sufficiently dense population—now has that service. The people of the districts to which it has not yet been extended are clamoring for it, and will get it soon.

Each route is intended to take care of 100 families. Consequently, there are now about 2,456,000 families for whose members the isolation of farm life has ceased. They are in closer touch now with the business, the political, and educational world. They get the market and other news of the day promptly. They can buy and sell to better advantage. The young men and women are less inclined to rush off to the city, for country life has become less monotonous.

If it is not a proper function of the postoffice department to deliver and collect mail for an increasing number of farmers, then the present administration, which has extended the rural free delivery system rapidly, is censurable, and has been extravagant in spending so much money on it. Is the extra money spent on rural free delivery a part of that extravagance which Judge Parker and Mr. Davis promise to correct?

RUSH STREET BRIDGE AFTER DARK.

It appears that to the knowledge of city officials a dangerous state of affairs has existed for some time at Rush street bridge after dark. When the bridge is open no warning signal light is displayed. No policeman is on duty and no chains are stretched across the driveway. Unless a chauffeur or driver is extremely careful there is nothing to keep him from going headlong into the river. One automobile did go in the other day, and it is fortunate that there has been but one accident. The precautions taken in the day time—when all but the blind can see if the bridge is open—are fairly satisfactory, but why should there be none at night?

The city officials admit that there is danger, but only "late in the evening." They admit that there is no excuse for the lack of signals, but do not explain why there are none. The matter of providing them has been referred to the superintendent of bridges. He is out of the city now, but when he returns the subject will receive his attention. In the meanwhile those who cross Rush street bridge after dark, especially on black nights, should make sure that the bridge is in place.

JAPAN'S AVAILABLE FORCE.

A correspondent says that the north and south, with a total population in 1860 of 31,400,000, put in the field during the civil war 3,370,000 men. Therefore he assumes that Japan, with a population of over 44,500,000, should be able to put in the field about 5,400,000 men, if the adult male population of that country bears about the same relation to the total population as that of the United States did in 1860.

Comparisons of this kind are not illuminative. The proportion of its population which a nation can utilize for offensive warfare depends upon the extent to which the necessary work of that country is done by machinery. The north had the advantage over the south in 1861 of a larger population, but if it had not had harvesters and other agricultural machines in use it would have had to keep many more men on the farms in order to raise the necessary crops. If the south had been as well supplied with labor saving machinery as the north was it would have been a still more formidable antagonist.

The Japanese, unlike the Chinese, take kindly to machinery. They have factories run by steam or water power which give employment to half a million operatives, but agriculture is still a matter of hand labor. While all the men who work in the fields would be available for service if Japan were invaded the situation is quite different in the case of an offensive war. Women and children cannot do all the field work and leave the men free for service in Manchuria.

Japan does not use labor saving machinery today so extensively as the United States did in 1860 and cannot put so large a percentage of her adult male population in the ranks as the north did.

But if Japan's soldiers are all of as good stuff as those she has sent to Manchuria she will not need 5,000,000 soldiers to hold her own, even if the war should last for four years.

DENEEN AND PRIMARY REFORM.

George Bernard Shaw, in his "Maxims of a Revolutionist," says: "Democracy substitutes election by the incompetent many for appointment by the corrupt few."

This is misleading when taken by itself for the reason that the many become less and less incompetent the more they exercise the right of suffrage.

But sometimes they do not really exercise the right of suffrage. In Illinois, for instance, Mr. Shaw's maxim would become perfectly and absolutely true if it were put in this way:

"Supposedly democratic institutions are sometimes so devised that the bewildered many do nothing but elect the men already appointed by the busy few."

Mr. Deneen is showing himself a statesman by making this fact his main issue in his campaign for governor. "If you elect me and also a republican legislature," he said day before yesterday, "and primary reform is not then accomplished, I shall consider my administration a failure."

The primary laws of Illinois at the present time are so devised that public officials are in innumerable cases appointed by the busy few. Shall we therefore have less democracy? Not if Mr. Deneen is elected. He proposes more democracy. His plan is to give the bewildered many a better chance.

Why are there only sixty candidates, counting both republicans and democrats, for the fifty-seven places to which Cook county is entitled in the lower house of the next Illinois general assembly? Because the bewildered many did not have a chance. The delegates to the conventions which nominated the legislative candidates were appointed by the politicians. This appointment was merely ratified by the voters. The delegates were not pledged to any candidates mentioned to the voters. The voters could not make their preferences felt. In fact, they had no preferences. The whole game was taken out of their hands. On primary day they voted blindly for delegates whom they did not know. On election day they will vote blindly for candidates whom they do not know, nominated by the delegates whom they did not know.

It ought to be impossible for a delegate to go to a convention without carrying with him instructions from the voters who send him there. If every delegate is pledged the voters know what they are doing. Otherwise they might as well stay at home.

One way of preventing the delegates from running the conventions to suit themselves is to abolish both delegates and conventions. In that case a man who wanted to become a member of the next legislature would go before the people on primary day under his own name and the people would have a chance to vote either directly for him or directly against him. This is called the direct primary system. It puts the game directly up to the people.

Cook county needs the direct primary system. Democracy has suffered too much from keeping the many bewildered. The way to make them as busy as the present busy few is to give them an opportunity to get busy. Let them choose their own candidates. Mr. Deneen will find a tidal wave of public sentiment behind him.

CONSUMPTION IN SCHOOLS.

Dr. S. A. Knopp, a high authority, outlined recently in an address before the American Academy of Medicine at Atlantic City some of the means which ought to be adopted by public school officials and teachers to prevent the spread of consumption among pupils. The school building should be on a high point where the air is good. There should be connected with it either a large playground or a roof garden. The rooms should be kept cool and well ventilated. A gymnasium every public school should have, and, if practicable, a swimming tank, and regular exercise should be obligatory. Precautions should be observed against overtaxing boys and girls at the critical period when they are verging upon manhood and womanhood. When the weather is good classes should be heard frequently in the open air. Pupils of every age should sing a good deal. The German army authorities have of late much encouraged singing while marching as an effective means of repelling pulmonary troubles and raising the general health and vigor of their troops. Tuberculous children are removed from French, German, Italian, and Dutch schools and placed in public sanitariums, where they are both treated and fed, and Dr. Knopp advocates the adoption of a similar plan in this country.

In the census year 1900 the people who died of consumption in the United States numbered 110,059, more than were carried off in the same year by appendicitis, railway accidents, diphtheria, grip, cancer, and typhoid combined. Any and all measures which promise to check the mortal ravages of the "great white scourge" are worth trying almost regardless of cost.

THE FRAUDULENT PROSPECTUS.

The fraudulent prospectus is the subject of complaint in two interesting suits begun this month, one in New York and the other in Baltimore. In both cases the defendants are banking institutions which attempted to unload on the public securities which were by no means so valuable as the prospectuses described them as being.

In the Baltimore case the plaintiff is a woman, who was induced to buy some of the bonds of a consolidated street railway system in Nashville, Tenn. The trust company which had charge of the flotation of the stocks and bonds is accused of having made deliberate misrepresentations. The plaintiff alleges that it hid the fact that some of the franchises of the road were about expiring; that the sum paid by the promoters for the properties, which they capitalized at $13,000,000, was only $1,873,000; and that the $1,000,000 of bonds professedly reserved to extend the system really was reserved to make much needed repairs. Nearly the entire issue of bonds, says the plaintiff, was unloaded on the "confiding investing public of Baltimore," to the great pecuniary injury of that public.

In the New York case a national bank sues a trust company which, by a deceptive prospectus, had induced it to become one of the underwriters for the United States Cotton Duck company, a concern with a capitalization of $30,000,000, but nothing like that amount of tangible property. It is charged that the prospectus was issued with intent to defraud.

A suit was begun recently by a shareholder of the Electric Vehicle company for declaring a dividend when it had not been earned "for fraudulent and illegal purposes." In 1899 8 per cent dividends were paid on the preferred and 2 per cent on the common stock. As a consequence the preferred sold up to 150, and since then it has brought 3½.

Investors generally submit too tamely when they have been taken in by deceptive prospectuses. If they had grit enough to sue and expose the operators who have defrauded them those operators would be less audacious. At present they reckon that the investing public, even when it has been badly bitten, will grumble for a time, but will do nothing more serious.

YES, it was a great day—for St. Louis.

IT becomes more apparent every day that President Roosevelt's letter did not please the esteemed New York Evening Post.

THE conditions were all right, but at the last moment the frost decided yesterday morning not to live up to them.

THE weather has succeeded in dodging nearly all of Prophet Foster's predictions this month.

COMING events are beginning to cast shadows before that assume the shape of a gridiron.

THE Hon. Tim Woodruff of New York had himself photographed the other day in a plain white vest, but it did no good. It was too late.

IT does not seem possible that Candidate Parker can be so unmindful of the principles laid down by Col. Watterson for the guidance of all presidential candidates as to stump the country.

EVEN yet the str—w h—t flaunteth itself.

THE New York republicans have spoken.

His name is Higgins.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Unanswerable.

"What is your name?" said the police justice.

"Ben Davis," replied the prisoner, a dilapidated specimen who had been run in for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

"Is that your real name?" sharply asked the justice.

"Y'r honor," said the prisoner, the rest of his face turning red to match his nose, "if I wanted to give ye a fictitious name do ye reckon I'm so lackin' in self-respeck that I'd pick out sich a name as that?"

Its Educational Effect.

"What's the good of all this?" groaned the tired, sleepy militiaman, at the close of the third day's mimic battle.

"To show you what durned fools men are that enlist in real war," grunted the other exhausted militiaman.

Sad Fate of Hiram.

To a Bluegrass town went Hiram Potter,

But the people straight way turned him down,

Only a Form.

With much pomp and ceremony the doge of Venice had wedded the Adriatic sea.

"If I may be so bold as to inquire," said the distinguished foreign visitor, "why do you do this?"

"I am merely exercising my riparian rites, sir," the doge responded, in his loftiest north shore drive manner.

Troubles of the Inventor.

"Last time I saw you, if I remember rightly, you were about to make a trial of your new system of long distance pneumatic tube service, guaranteed to carry packages at the rate of a mile in six seconds. How did it come out?"

"It was a perfect success, except—except that the—ah—friction burnt the package to a cinder."

Unfortunately.

Archie—"Yas, I'm proud of that new mount of mine, and I ride a good deal. You've never seen me on horseback, have you?"

Proper Spirit.

"Do you love your teacher, Wendell?"

"It is scarcely to be expected," answered the little Boston boy, "that one can love one's teacher, but I have, I trust, the requisite feeling of tolerance for her."

DROUGHT PREVENTS AUSTRIAN MANEUVERS.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Allow me to inform you of the real reason why the so-called imperial maneuvers in Bohemia (Austria) were in the last moment abandoned.

It is erroneous to believe, and naïve to state, that the sudden abandonment of the grand military maneuvers was because of the aged monarch being ill, and, therefore, prevented from attending the same.

There would be nothing easier for the emperor than to appoint an archduke to represent him. By so doing he would have justified the anxiety felt in his behalf.

But the real cause why the maneuvers did not take place was beyond the power of a worldly monarch to counteract.

Want of water was the great cause. For several months a dreadful drought prevailed over the country, and people are everywhere heard complaining of the sad consequences, and it will require several favorable years to make good the remarkable sterility of this one.

The imperial maneuvers are a pleasant remembrance to me, as it is just this month five years since I stood in the front with my comrades in the presence of the Emperor Francis Joseph, who then addressed us with gratifying words.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

ALTHOUGH two years have elapsed since Andrew Carnegie placed at the disposal of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands the sum of nearly $2,000,000 for the construction of a building at The Hague to be devoted to the use of the International Tribunal of Arbitration there, yet not a single step has been taken towards the execution of the project which the great American-Scotch ironmaster had in view. The Dutch people have always been known as phlegmatic and deliberate in their movements, but in this particular instance they have surpassed themselves, and neither the queen nor the government has fulfilled the offer to find a site on which to erect the so-called "Palace of Peace."

It was at first proposed that the building should be erected at the entrance of the park of The Hague, to the rear of the Malieveld. But this did not meet with the approval of the population, who strenuously objected to the alienation of any part of the park, which is one of the glories and the pride of the Dutch metropolis. It was thereupon suggested to erect the building in the little woods of Scheveningen, near the sea shore. But this proposal was likewise rejected, on the ground of its distance from the city. Then, lastly, it has been suggested to devote the deer park, at the extremity of Koelman, at The Hague, to the Palace of Peace. But here, again, the people of The Hague and its municipality oppose the idea, basing their objections on prerogatives which they hold by virtue of a royal charter granted in 1576.

There the matter remains, and there is no prospect in sight of the realization of Mr. Carnegie's project—namely: a palace to be devoted to the sessions of the International Tribunal of Arbitration, and to the greatest library in the world on the subject of international law. It is possible that in the end he may become so much disgusted by the treatment to which he has been subjected in the matter that he may withdraw his generous offer.

King Edward's action in attending mass while at Marienbad, on the occasion of the emperor of Austria's birthday, has aroused no end of criticism not only among his Protestant subjects but also on the part of a certain element of Roman Catholics. It is true that he had on several occasions previously attended nuptial and requiem masses. But this was the first occasion of his being present at an ordinary high mass, and, to make matters worse, the British ambassador, Sir Francis Plunkett, who is a Roman Catholic, stood at his side to find the right pages for him in the manual, "The Garden of the Soul."

While the Protestants object to his attending the mass at all, and insist that it is contrary not merely to the spirit but even to the letter of the British constitution, which he solemnly swore to observe, a number of Roman Catholics are manifesting offense at his failure to kneel during the elevation of the host.

But those who take exception thereto apparently ignore the fact that he attended the mass at Marienbad in the uniform and in the capacity of an Austrian field marshal; that is to say, as a soldier, and that soldiers, by common custom in all Catholic countries, stand upright at the most sacred moments of the mass, even the pope's own soldiers refraining from kneeling when his holiness celebrates mass. Whatever else may be said about King Edward, he is most strict on the subject of etiquette, and he certainly would never have attended mass at all, unless he had made up his mind to conform with the observances that are required on the part of those present.

While Edward VII. was at Marienbad the other day, he received a visit from the Servian minister of foreign affairs, concerning which a considerable amount of secrecy was observed, and which had for its object to urge the King to resume diplomatic relations with the court of Belgrade. It is said that the king held out prospects of compliance with the request as soon as ever Col. Mashin, the ringleader of the conspiracy for the assassination of his sister-in-law, Queen Draga, and of her husband, King Alexander, has been relieved of his command, which is now declared to be imminent.

The crown prince and crown princess of Montenegro, the latter by birth a duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, are to be present at the coronation of King Peter, who is their brother-in-law, next Wednesday, and I hear that Queen Helen of Italy has prevailed upon her husband to send his cousin, the count of Turin, to represent him at the ceremony. Possibly, too, Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria may attend.

The insignia of royalty with which King Peter will be invested consists of three objects: a crown, a scepter, and an orb, all three made of bronze, taken from a cannon used by the Servians at the time of their first insurrection against the Turks, more than 100 years ago. The scepter is adorned with a diamond of 14 carats, which formerly figured on the scimiter of the first of the Karageorgeviches.

The anointing of the king will take place a week later, on Sept. 27, at the historic monastery of Zitcha, which was founded in the twelfth century by Servia's patron saint, Sava. A peculiarity about the church of the monastery is the extraordinary number of its walled up entrances. It was in that church that the former czars of Servia used to be consecrated in the middle ages, and whenever a ceremony of this kind took place a special entrance was made in the wall, by which the sovereign entered, and it was immediately bricked up as soon as the ceremony was over. Students of history may remember that when King Louis XIV. and the Infanta Maria Theresa of Spain were married at the church of San Jean de Lux in France, a doorway for them was cut in the same way in the walls of the church, by which they made their solemn entry, and it was bricked up as soon as they left the edifice.

Since writing the other day about the failing health of the Austrian emperor, I learn that he was conspicuous by his absence from the famous chamois drive at Traunstein, which only takes place once in every three or four years, and which until now he has never missed. Greatly to the sorrow of all present the imperial special train from Ischl arrived without the venerable monarch, his place being taken by his two sons-in-law, Prince Leopold of Bavaria and Archduke Francis Salvator, whose wives are with their father at Ischl. More than threescore chamois were killed. But the satisfaction which would otherwise have been caused by the success of the drive was overshadowed by the gloom resulting from the emperor's absence, and by the indication which they furnished of the truth of the rumors which have been current concerning the condition of his health.

There are many people at Washington who will remember Edward Thornton, who was attached during several years to the British legation at Washington when his father, Sir Edward Thornton, was at its head. Edward Thornton, who, like Sir Edward, bore the title of count de Casalibas in the peerage of Portugal, and had received the permission of the English crown to make use thereof, has just died at Guatemala, where for the last three years he had been stationed as British minister, with a salary of $10,000 a year and allowances. He leaves a widow, who I fear will be but ill provided for, as, although he succumbed to the climate of Guatemala while in the performance of his duties, his widow is entitled to no pension, and her father-in-law, old Sir Edward Thornton, has himself considerable difficulty to make both ends meet, most of the enterprises to which he was induced to give his name in London in the hope of supplementing his ambassadorial pension of $8,000 a year having resulted in failure.

Montenegro is so diminutive a country, with its population of 200,000, that one is apt to forget it when enumerating the European states that have no constitution, and that are subject to an absolute form of monarchy. Nicholas I. has, however, just drawn attention to the fact by solemnly announcing that he intends to bring his country into line with other modern powers and to endow his people with a parliamentary form of government, to be modeled on that of Italy—namely: an upper house, or senate, composed partly of elected peers, and partly of nominees of the crown; and a lower chamber, of which all the members will be elected by the people.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

The band is swinging gayly as it leads the big review.
(But where's the little drummer and his drum?)
The fifes are all a-chuckle and the flags are snapping, too.
(But who is this that's asking for his chum?)
The cannons have been polished and the stains are wiped away,
The fog of smoke has lifted and no more is drifting gray,
And we can see the sun that wasn't shining yesterday,
(Is that a dirge that some one tries to hum?)

The orders speak of glory, and of how we won the fight.
(But who has seen the little drummer boy?)
(You'd think he thought his drum a Christmas toy.)
You see the harness glisten with the polish on the straps—
You wouldn't think these fellows had been making over maps
Unless you chanced to notice that the ranks are showing gaps.
(His mother said he was her only joy.)

They've sheathed the clanking sabers and the flags again are furled.
(But where's the little drummer and his drum?)
They say a day like yesterday will influence the world.
(The boys all wonder why he doesn't come.)
It's strange that some one's speeches, or the scratching of a pen,
Can send us out to kill or to be killed by other men—
And when one war is over they will talk and write again.
(The little drummer's hands are white and numb.)

There'll be an arch of welcome for the boys when we return.
(They found him with his drum, upon the sod.)
But there'll be women waiting, and their hearts will always yearn.
(They laid his drum in with him, did the squad.)
It's all a part of glory—all the banners they will wave,
And all the ringing speeches made in honor of the brave,

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

"Joseph Entangled," in which Henry Miller and Hilda Spong will appear at Powers' next Monday night, is by Henry Arthur Jones, and enjoyed a certain measure of success in London last season. Mr. Frohman secured it for Mr. Miller's use, and, in accordance with the agreement made with that star, the first production in this country took place in San Francisco during Mr. Miller's summer engagement there. Thus it happens that Chicago will see the play before it has had presentation in the east. It is a comedy, farcical in matter and manner.

The story has to do with a certain Lady Verona whose husband is visiting in Scotland. Sister of hers is in danger of eloping, and Lady Verona goes to London to prevent the ill advised step. Sir Joseph, man of the world and a former lover of Lady Verona, also goes to London and, not wishing to stop at a hotel, accepts the suggestion made by Lady Verona's butler of stopping at the mansion, the servant not knowing her ladyship has returned to the city. Sir Joseph stops, and he and Lady Verona are greatly surprised when they meet at breakfast next morning.

There is consternation when a telegram is received that the husband is coming up to London on business. A rumor to the effect that his wife intends running away with another man has reached his ears and he comes to town to investigate immediately the origin of the story. In this he is assisted by a matter of fact uncle, a feminine relative of his wife, and several other persons, all of whom only add to the confusion. Lady Verona visits Sir Joseph at his club, and is able only with difficulty to keep him from making ardent love to her. The husband continues the investigation, but the matter is cleared when he chances to overhear a conversation between the two supposed lovers. Miss Spong plays Lady Verona, a rôle said to be admirably suited to her abilities.

Wilton Lackaye is truly terrifying in his strenuosity. Not only does he go through "The Pit" at highest pressure nine times a week (and oftener than that if a holiday or any sort of a festival gives him the slightest excuse for offering an extra matinée) but he is said to keep his company constantly working at certain scenes in the Norris melodrama to bring them nearer his ideal of what they should be. He is also reported to be busily engaged preparing Mr. Ibsen's "Pillars of Society" for presentation on some afternoon when he finds things theatrical a bit quiet. And now comes the report that he is to play Svengali in a German performance of "Trilby." It appears that Mr. Wachsner's company of excellent German actors has been getting a translated version of "Trilby" ready for early production and Mr. Wachsner has now approached Mr. Lackaye with the suggestion that a special matinée be given at McVicker's, that the German company give "Trilby," and that Mr. Lackaye be the Svengali of the cast. The suggestion is declared to meet the actor's approval and there is therefore imminent probability of our having not only "Pillars of Society" precipitated upon us but of a German "Trilby" with an English speaking Svengali also offered for the filling of one of our idle afternoons.

"A Chinese Honeymoon" comes to the Auditorium the week of Oct. 5 for a stay of two weeks. The Policemen's Benevolent association will be the beneficiary.

The Grenadier Guards band of London, England, the band of the oldest regiment in the British army—the Grenadier Guards—is now on the Atlantic on its way to St. Louis, where it begins a four weeks' concert engagement on Oct. 8. At the close of the stay at the fair the band will come to Chicago and will be heard in concerts at the Auditorium, and will then play in a few other cities on its way home. In 1871 the band of this same regiment came to Boston to represent Great Britain at the Boston jubilee. This, however, will be the first time that an English regimental band has made a concert tour in this country.

Mr. Luders, the composer of the music of "Woodland," has just completed a new song for the Lady Peacock in that "fantasy of the forest." It is announced that Miss Carus will use the new number next week at the Studebaker. Mr. Bulger is also reported to have just added some new stanzas to his topical song, "They'll Have to Go." Let us hope they may.

"The Shepherd King," a biblical play, with David as its central figure, was produced late last season in New York by Wright Lorimer, a young and comparatively unknown actor and playwright. Despite considerable flapdoodle on the part of certain of the Gotham reviewers the elaborately mounted piece proved a pronounced popular success and remained in New York until the warm weather began. The production is now to be taken to Boston, thence to Philadelphia, and then brought to Chicago. The engagement here will begin about Christmas holiday time and it is announced from the east will be eight weeks in duration.

Love and Statecraft Blend in Betrothal

Duchess Cecile, to Whom the German Crown Prince Proposed Over a Cup of Tea, an Excellent Housekeeper.

FREDERICK WILLIAM BREAKING A JUMPING RECORD.

THERE was a charming domestic setting to the climax in Crown Prince Frederick William's wooing. They were enjoying a cup of tea, after an automobile ride, he and the Duchess Cecile of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, at her home when he put the supreme question.

What the royal suitor said is nominally a secret, of course, but princes are only flesh and blood (Louise of Coburg says), and, therefore, most men and every woman can guess pretty accurately at the language employed.

Prince Loves Wisely.

It has been said that it is a love match. Whether or not it is one, it is certain that there are strong reasons for the marriage, outside of the views of the two young people. The match is a pleasing one to the emperor because it will unite the royal families of Denmark, Great Britain, and Germany, and through other marriages those of the Netherlands and Russia. The emperor has long desired to bring these families into closer relations.

The Duchess Cecile Augustine Marie was born on Sept. 20, 1886, and is just a few days short of being 18. She has been brought up simply and so far little has been seen of her.

She is a tall, slight girl, and has light hair and brown eyes. She is not what might be called pretty, but has a bright face and a vivid complexion, and is of sprightly demeanor.

For many years she has lived outside of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. Her education has been one that will fit her for the station in life she is to occupy. She learned the duties of housekeeping just as the daughter of any country gentleman would. She is fond of riding and driving and speaks English and French perfectly and Russian well.

For a youngster the crown prince has quite a lot to shoulder in the way of names and titles. His full name is Frederick William Victor August Ernest.

"Put Through Sprouts" as Boy.

He was born in the marble palace near Potsdam on May 6, 1882, and is consequently in his twenty-third year. He is a slightly built young man, somewhat taller than his father. He is as fond as his father of outdoor sports, and he has shown that he possesses artistic tastes, which he doubtless inherits from his grandmother, the Empress Frederick.

The home life of the prince was managed on by no means a luxurious scale. As soon as he was able to begin his studies he was obliged to study constantly. He rose punctually at 6 a. m., summer and winter. At 7:30 he breakfasted with the empress and his brothers, and this meal consisted of tea and bread and butter.

Lessons began at 8 o'clock. The course of study was a severe one, and foreign languages, especially French, were ground into him. At 9:30 a second breakfast was served, and then more lessons, a military drill and exercises followed until 1 o'clock, when luncheon was served.

After luncheon there was a short time spent in recreation and then more study. This time science and music, until 6 o'clock, when supper was served. After supper there was allowed one hour for recreation, and at 7:30 the young prince went to bed.

A Dare Devil Ride.

As soon as the crown prince was able to sit on a horse he had a pony of his own. He is an accomplished rider and something of a dare devil when bestride a horse. He gave an exhibition of his horsemanship some time ago when he was taking a company of recruits from his regiment at Potsdam to show them the sights in the palace. He led the way, mounted on his horse, through the beautiful gardens of Sans Souci, and then rode the horse up the long flight of steps leading into the little palace.

There are some 200 of these steps, and all the spectators watched his performance with astonishment. When the head of the steps was reached he dismounted, conducted his party through the different rooms, and explained the objects of interest.

The German princes have always been allowed to romp and play, and the emperor himself would play with them at times. The emperor, too, thought well of giving the princes opportunities to become acquainted with important personages about him.

It was the custom to have the princes come into the dining hall after luncheon to meet the guests. The crown prince and his brothers would then be introduced and chat with the ministers of state, diplomats, or generals, who might be present.

Full of Fun and Mischief.

The crown prince as a boy was full of fun and mischief. In later years the same qualities have at times got him into serious scrapes.

Once when a distinguished visitor had audience with the emperor, so the story goes, the crown prince noticed that the visitor before being ushered into the emperor's presence compressed his opera hat and laid it on a chair in the ante-room. The hat was a novelty to the prince and he examined it and experimented with it.

Some time later the Rev. Dr. Dryander, court chaplain, called to see the emperor. He wore a new tall hat and left it in the ante-room.

The crown prince happened to be near with his younger brother Eitel. He at once started an investigation of this hat. He remembered the way the opera hat collapsed and tried to compress the chaplain's hat in the same way.

His efforts were not entirely successful, and then he ordered his brother to sit on it. The command was promptly obeyed, and the court chaplain's hat much resembled a pancake when Dr. Dryander recovered it.

Early Military Training.

When 14 years old the crown prince was sent to Ploen, the military academy in Holstein, where, separate from the ordinary cadet school, the prinzenschule is maintained, an educational institution intended for the princes of royal blood.

Here he pursued his studies with great assiduity, but at recess rode a bicycle, played tennis, rowed on Lake Ploen, and rode horseback.

He was fond of tennis and became an expert player. He could sail a yacht with skill, and was always the best and most daring horseman.

While at Ploen the strictest kind of discipline was maintained and festivities of any description were absolutely forbidden. He was at the military academy four years, and it was the standing order of the emperor that no social entertainments should be permitted to divert the prince's attention from his work.

The crown prince was graduated one of the first of his class and then served for a short time with his regiment at Potsdam. He then entered the university at Bonn. This was in 1901. The emperor attended his matriculation, which was marked by much ceremony. A commers had been arranged by the students for the evening, and there the emperor introduced his son.

Emperor Addresses Students.

"It is my desire," he said, "that my son, whom I now place in your midst, may enjoy as happy a time as was vouchsafed to me when I was a student. And when the foaming gobiet passes around and the gleeful song bursts forth, then your minds may thoroughly enjoy the delightful moments as will seem befitting for German youths. But the spring from which you draw, may it be pure and clear as the golden juice of the grapes, be it deep and sonorous as the Father Rhine."

The prince attended the lecture assiduously and paid strict attention to his work. He made many trips to places in the vicinity. He always traveled in a democratic way and always was accompanied by a number of student friends.

On one occasion, while returning from Godesberg, the railroad train was crowded, and all the first class carriages were occupied. The station master was in despair. He, as a last resort, proposed that one first class compartment should be cleared. The prince objected. He said:

"No, my good man, get some benches and chairs and put them in the baggage car. It is cool and pleasant there."

Accordingly, the return trip was made in the baggage car, to the amazement of the railroad official.

While bicycling once the prince's wheel did not have a lamp, as required, and the party had the misfortune to encounter a gendarme a short distance from the city. The prince was ordered to halt and dismount.

The policeman demanded a card of identification of every student in the party. The prince complied, and then a sudden change came over the policeman. He saluted abruptly and stammered an incoherent apology. Laughing heartily, the prince mounted his wheel and rode home.

Liked an American Girl.

It was in 1902 that he attracted much attention through his infatuation for Miss Gladys Deacon. He met her in England, and her beauty so attracted him that he fell deeply in love with her and was ready to give up his prospects as heir to the throne in order to make her his wife.

He gave her a ring which was an heirloom. When the emperor heard of it he sent a messenger to Miss Deacon, demanding its return, saying that the ring was not the property of the prince, but was a gift of the Empress Frederick to the German nation. Miss Deacon, backed by the duchess of Marlborough, indignantly refused to part with the ring.

The ring, though, was finally returned. Meantime, the crown prince was closely confined to his room, and his uncle, Prince Henry of Prussia, was sent to represent Emperor William at the coronation of King Edward in his stead.

When he was 17 he received a gift of shooting preserves in the forest of Spandau. He enjoys shooting much, and, like his father, always makes a big bag. On one occasion his bag was 236 hares and one buck, and on another 166 hares and two bucks.

SWEET CHARITY IN LUCK.

EVERYTHING LOOKS FINE AND DANDY FOR OAK PARK SHOW.

John Farson Coming from New York Just to See the Opening and Mrs. Jarvis Hunt Will Exhibit Her Star Horses—Parade to Be Something to Talk About All Winter and Special Trains Are to Be Provided for the Hosts of Visitors.

Two announcements gladdened the hearts of the managers of the Oak Park horse show yesterday.

One was that John Farson, who has been in New York City at the bankers' convention since Monday, will make a flying trip and arrive in Oak Park in time to witness the opening of the show.

The other was that Mrs. Jarvis Hunt of Wheaton, who has one of the finest stables around Chicago, will exhibit her best horses.

"The cup of our happiness is full," said A. J. Flitcraft, secretary of the association. "It only remains to have a bright day."

The show opens at 2 o'clock today on the grounds of the Westward Ho Golf club, one and a half miles from Oak Park. There are over 200 entries. One hundred and forty boxes have been sold.

Fair Spot for the Show.

"Sweet charity" never chose a fairer spot upon which to turn an honest penny than the grounds of the Westward Ho club. The show is pitched upon a field near the clubhouse. Under the busy hands of the ladies' auxiliary, of which Mrs. A. S. Ray is president, the club colors of yellow and red and black are being woven into picturesque effects.

The tiers of boxes, arranged in horseshoe shape, are draped with bunting, as is the judge's stand in the center and the refreshment booths. There is a comfortable promenade for the boxholders, from which they can view each other's gowns to the greatest advantage.

In the refreshment booth, which is made of pine boughs, Mrs. Charles Moses and Mrs. Lee Jackson will dispense lemonade and root beer in imported steins. They will be assisted by six young women and some small boys arrayed in jockeys' costumes.

Parade to Open Performance.

The performance will begin at 2:15 o'clock, immediately following the parade of the Oak Park Business Men's association. Pairs of horses used for commercial purposes will enter. The contestants are Delos Hull, Marshall Field, Charles F. Drochsler, and Mandel Bros.

J. Fred Butler, president of the board of managers; John Farson, and Mrs. J. W. Adland will be prominent exhibiters. The judges are Samuel Cozzens, Thomas H. Cross, and Mortimer Levering. Features of the show will be the pony parade in decorated carts for the children, and the equipage of Francis Low, 92 years old, the representative of the Borrowed Time club.

Music will be furnished by the Illinois Naval Reserve band. The social features will be many. Mrs. John Farson, as chairman of the reception committee will entertain. Other hostesses are Mrs. E. Mallen, Mrs. D. C. Ward, Mrs. R. H. Traill, and Miss Helen Hayden. Tonight there will be a band concert, and Saturday night a dance in the clubhouse. The Colonial club will also open its season by a summer garden concert tonight.

Oak Park in Gala Dress.

Oak Park is putting on its gala dress. Stores and schools will be closed during the afternoon. There will be a night parade and a grand street illumination. Twelve buses will carry guests to the grounds from the station of the Oak Park elevated road.

The Chicago and Milwaukee trains leaving the Union station at 11:25 and 1:30 stop at Galewood station, a few minutes walk from the grounds. The Chicago and Northwestern train which leaves the Wells street station at 12:30 today will stop at the Oak Park avenue station. Buses will meet it.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

The wedding of Miss Catherine Dexter to Mr. Stanley McCormick took place yesterday in Geneva, Switzerland. Both a civil and religious ceremony were performed, the first taking place at 11:30 o'clock at the Hotel de Ville before the members of the family and the latter at the Church of the Maccabees, where the Rev. Mr. Frothingham of Boston read the service.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Wirt Dexter of Boston, wore an exquisitely embroidered gown of white French muslin, with a magnificent set of pearls, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Dexter wore a costume of mauve mousseline and Mrs. McCormick a gray brocade.

Immediately after the religious ceremony a breakfast was served at the Hotel Beau Rivage. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick left early in the afternoon for a touring trip in an automobile. Their plans for the winter are not known.

An equally simple wedding was that of Miss Madeleine Noyes to Mr. Hubert Galt, which took place in Winnetka. The ceremony was read at 3 o'clock in the Episcopal church by the Rev. James S. Stone of St. James' Episcopal church, Chicago. There were only a few guests outside of the family and neither the bride nor the groom was attended.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Noyes, the seventy-five guests having been asked orally. A special car on the Northwestern took the guests to Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Galt will spend their honeymoon in Canada, where they will visit Mr. Galt's family. They will return to Chicago in about a month and will then reside at 85 Rush street.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jean McGinley, daughter of Mr. J. R. McGinley of Pittsburg, to Edward Small Moore, son of Mr. W. H. Moore of New York.

The wedding of Miss Florence Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Smith, 3134 Vernon avenue, to Mr. Whitney Warner of Cleveland, O., will take place on Oct. 4 at 8 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian church. Miss Smith is a Wells college graduate and made her début several years ago.

Miss Cordelia Rockwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Rockwell, 4953 Lake avenue, will be married to Mr. Fred Morgan Hill on Nov. 2. Whether it will be a church or home affair has not been decided.

The engagement is announced of Miss Margaret Loretto Durkin, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. J. Durkin of Waukegan, Ill., to Dr. William T. Kirby. The marriage will take place on Oct. 19 at Waukegan. Owing to recent bereavement in both families the wedding will be a quiet celebration, with only the immediate family present.

Mrs. Augustus Byram, Miss Muriel Byram, and Miss Marjorie Burns, 2909 Michigan avenue, will sail for home the first week in October, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howard of East Division street, who have been traveling with them since July.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan and Miss Forgan, 541 Dearborn avenue, will leave for St. Louis on Sunday to be absent several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wetmore-Smith of the Hollywood, Edgewater, will move to 44 East Fiftieth street on Oct. 1.

Mrs. Frank T. Bliss and son, William, 3565 Grand boulevard, sailed from Liverpool on Sept. 13 and are expected to arrive in Chicago on Sept. 23.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The Rev. Thomas W. Smith of New York City, pastor of the New York Presbyterian church, and Miss Jane Russell of this city were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Russell, on Mound avenue, this evening. The bride is a sister of Andrew Russell, member of the state board of pardons.

HOW WE DINED.

THE cook having deserted us for her weekly holidaying, and paterfamilias being agreeable to the family's dining out at $1.50 a head, we sallied forth to Wabash avenue, turning in on Monroe street, and in another half minute had been ushered within huge glass doors up a few marble steps to the threshold of a long, darkly red, cozily brilliant salle à manger. For salle à manger let us Frenchily term this dining room of the "only exclusively French kitchen of the west," and French let us see in the homey quality of the quietly gay feeling of the place which that nation alone that has no word for home can impart as it will to its public retreats.

This touch of a home, of a home presided over by a Parisienne, is daintily evidenced in the soft lace frill edging the shelves of the small mahogany hall cabinet stocked with glasses, and in the family feature of a slender buffet piled with glass and silver for use as needed.

There is a Parisienne, too, in the brunette gay profile of the girl in deep blue with hat of deeper blue and pale, pale green, in the festive feminines in evening cloaks and white fluffy, big hats, whose gentle merriment with their bearded escorts daringly soar into a lilt of song for one instant. There is French in the pairs of bachelors tête-à-têteing here and there, some as dark and convivial as Parisian boulevardiers, as they smoke over their viands, there is French in the round gentleman who brings in the wonderfully pink cheeked girl, wisely dressed in black, with her hat matching her lovely cheeks; and there is French—genuine, lovely loving French—in the family party that gathers—granny and little girl and all—around a big round table in the middle.

But chiefest of all is the beautiful France manifested in the strict business of the occasion, the waiters, who are more truly importations than many Paris bonnets, and, lastly, mainly, grandly, the dinner—even although, like the melodious French tongue, it does its own borrowing from England.

We behold, for example, that while we have French bread in a long twist to tear off as required, side by side it are a little mass of Yankee oyster crackers; and the first number on our prandial program after the radishes and celery is blue points in unalloyed English phraseology, and in orthodox New York fashion with a tiny tumbler of catsup in the center of the basin and a piece of lemon.

Then alphabet soup—"consommé A, B, C," it is on the menu, a descriptive name, by the bye, for the soup is exactly that, a plain consommé, with the A, B, C's of paste that are sold for the purpose sprinkled in.

A halibut steak follows, with dainty marguéry sauce; and now our waiter gayly fares forth with an Anglican importation in an American mite of a chafing dish. He likewise brings two plates and two pieces of toast, and from the chafing dish covers them with coarsely minced creamed chicken—"boneless chicken, chafing dish." With it he offers cauliflower in butter sauce, genuflecting graciously with every inflection of his voice, which is also gracious.

But it is when we call for our wine that our gracious servitor, a living picture from Du Maurier, and suavely, softly suggestive of the Latin quarter, out-Du Mauriers himself, blithely hopping metaphorically from bottle to bottle and from vintage to vintage as they are catalogued on the card, and boundlessly joyous as we order the St. Germaine which he elected for our delectation. We must pay another dollar and a quarter for that, but prices are soon forgotten in pleasures.

After the chicken, spaghetti à l'Italienne, which is delightful. As we proceed to discuss its delights a genuinely Parisian incident occurs. Our host himself approaches us in the courteously free continental fashion. "Ah, you have been in Italy, I see by the way you take your spaghetti."

"But you cut your spaghetti too short to take rightly," we reply, by rightly meaning the Italian way of twisting it round the fork held rigidly upright and revolved around the point on the plate, gathering the long spaghetti in its revolutions. "Yes," he rejoins, "the waiters get careless; there are so few of our guests who know what it means when the spaghetti is long. They think it is a mistake."

And after the sherbet a charmingly done little filet of beef. The salad is served simultaneously—fine lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Now the dessert, ice cream and a wee sponge finger apiece.

The decks are cleared once more for action—for cheese, to be specific. The cheese is Geravise, a cross between the cottage cream and de Brie varieties, and is almost too daintily, deliciously delicious to be of this earth. It is served on a verdant lettuce leaf, with a cracker apiece to daub it with, but when the cracker apiece is demolished we seize upon all the remnants of our long twist of bread and lustily muster it into service ere bidding our reluctant adieu to the fromage Gervaise.

Black coffee and a pear au naturel are the finale, and when the finale comes and our host again salutes us, inquiring as to whether we have been well served, we can assent cordially, knowing by experience that here is one of the best all round dinners in town for a big or little dinner party of mixed tastes.

Nevertheless our dinner has its "but." The Japanese say you cannot say "magnificent" until you see Nikko. Well, you have not dined here until you have tasted "escargots." These are not on the table d'hote menu, but may be had to order and are a species of snails in their shell, refined and flavored and variously glorified to the point of palatable nicety, yea, palatable bliss.

TABLE D'HOTE.

14 September, 1904.

Boneless chicken, chaf. dish.	Fromage Gervaise.
	Poirs. Café noir.

Your Corner.

BENJAMIN, July, 1860: You have a bright, active mind, with a keen sense of the meaning of words, and quick comprehension of the thoughts of a speaker. You are inclined to feel dissatisfied, and, although you are studious and industrious, yet you feel that things are much against you in this world. You should mingle in society and keep your mind occupied, otherwise this tendency may be the cause of sorrow and ill health in old age. Marriage is likely to occur more than once. A woman whose birthday occurs in March or in August would prove the most congenial. Business promises to be prosperous during the coming year, but will be a source of much annoyance. In about three years you will be under fortunate planetary influences bringing an increase of wealth.

BLANCHE FLUER, August, 1858: Much annoyance in business matters is what is promised by the stars for the coming year. Beware of quarrels and of writing letters which might tend to make a disagreement. A happy marriage and home life is shown, but you are so sensitive to the actions and thoughts of those you love that you are liable to great extremes and should beware of the first thought of envy or jealousy if you would not alienate the affections of one of the best of husbands. Family life is decidedly the best for you, but you have much practical business energy and some qualifications for a literary career.

JULIETTE H., April, 1875: You are positive and decided in everything you do and apt to go to extremes. Are liable to act and speak upon the first thought, and, as a consequence, sometimes get into trouble. Marriage promises to be a series of quarrels and make up until it ends with a divorce, but you will make a second marriage, which will prove no happier than the first. The coming year will be the most fortunate of the entire life; love will be yours and the opportunity to make many changes which you have so long desired, but be careful in business matters that you do not lose money through lack of forethought.

HAROLD E. SCOTT: You have a love of beauty, grandeur, and elegance in domestic life; are so sensitive to inharmonious conditions that it takes but little to unnerve and make you ill. You picture in imagination an ideal world for excelling this and at times it is hard for you to endure present environments. You are economical and industrious and inclined to be over anxious about the future. Achievement of all your ambitions is certain, but you are destined to a hard struggle, but your innate pride and philosophical mind enable you to smile in the face of misfortune.

ZULU ZONG, July, 1860: You have a determined will and indomitable persistency, with a disposition to be head and controller in whatever sphere of activity you are employed. Have an innate dislike of being influenced by others, even in the smallest matter. You are destined to make many mistakes and lose many friends as a consequence, and, unless you suppress this disposition and become more reasonable, a sad and lonely old age is in store, perhaps worse than that, as you have not been endowed with great mental power. Cultivate the love and affection of those around you and be determined to live more for others.

CARA, October, 1856: You are well adapted to public life; possess mechanical ability, talent in elocution, fine intuitions in trade and in the care of children, and much pride of personal appearance. You have power to read character at first sight, so much so that you can almost read the thoughts of others and determine what they are about to say. The present outlook is unfavorable for health or business and you are likely to suffer much in both this coming year, but will come through all successfully. Beginning with 1909 you will experience a gradual rising of the star of good fortune, which will not set during the remainder of the life.

K. W. JR., April, 1886: You are inclined to be conventional and have a disposition to please the people; are pleasant and make friends easily; your language is clear and to the point, so that you are seldom misunderstood. You would never be satisfied to live in the country, but are fitted for the bustle and excitement of city life. You would make a good, practical business agent, although well adapted to succeed in literature or journalism; you know instinctively what will please or displease the masses.

TOPSY, 1888: You have a bright, active mind and are ambitious for the future. Are inclined to think too much of love and marriage and to be too romantic to make a choice likely to bring much happiness. Be determined to acquire an education and fit yourself for some useful career; you cannot be too well qualified to earn your own living, especially as you are shown to make an unfortunate marriage and will be obliged to earn your own living and also provide for your children.

GEOGRAPHERS TO BE GUESTS.

Delegates to International Congress Will Hold Session Tomorrow at University of Chicago.

Delegates to the international geographic congress recently held at Washington, D. C., will arrive in Chicago tomorrow and hold a morning session at the University of Chicago.

Commander Robert E. Peary, the arctic explorer, will reply to an address of welcome by President W. R. Harper. Other speakers will be Dr. Albrecht Penck of Vienna, M. Guillaume Grandidier of Paris, Dr. Hugh Robert Mill of London, and Dr. Rollin D. Salisbury and Dr. J. P. Goode of the University of Chicago. The session will be open to the public.

The meeting will be followed by a luncheon at Hutchinson commons, a visit to the Field museum, and a reception given in the evening by the Chicago Historical society.

Milwaukee Hotel Men Here.

Fifteen Milwaukee hotel managers will be entertained tomorrow by the Hotelkeepers' association of Chicago. A tour of the south parks in automobiles and a banquet at the Wellington hotel have been planned. The Milwaukee men will come to Chicago on the steamer Virginia. Three years ago the Chicago hotel managers were entertained in Milwaukee.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

SIR FELIX SEMON, physician extraordinary to King Edward VII., was the guest at a dinner given at the Chicago club last evening. The host was the Chicago Laryngological association. Dr. E. Fletcher Ingals presided. Sir Felix is on his way to St. Louis.

DR. E. B. CRAIGHEAD, president of the Missouri State Normal school, has been offered the presidency of Tulane university, to succeed Dr. Alderman.

PROF. O. B. CLARK of Eureka college, Eureka, Ill., has accepted the professorship of history in Drake university, Des Moines, Ia.

Coffee Complexion

What's the use to keep one?

A lady says: "Postum has helped my complexion so much that my friends say I am growing young again. My complexion used to be coffee colored, muddy and yellow but it is now clear and rosy as when I was a girl. I was induced to try Postum by a friend who had suffered just as I had suffered from terrible indigestion, palpitation of the heart and sinking spells.

"After I had used Postum a week I was so much better that I was afraid it would not last. But now two years have passed and I am a well woman. I owe it all to leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place.

"I had drank coffee all my life. I suspected that it was the cause of my trouble, but it was not until I actually quit coffee and started to try Postum that I became certain; then all my troubles ceased and I am now well and strong again." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

COACH IS DISAPPOINTED.

Says He Expected to See Heavier Men—Needs More Half Backs and Ends.

Real football practice began at Northwestern university yesterday with more promising prospects than have attended an opening at Evanston in years. Thirty-two men responded to the call of Coach McCornack, and, while the material was not all that might be desired, it was the best bunch that ever appeared at Sheppard field for the opening of the season.

Coach McCornack expressed himself as discouraged at the outlook, as he expected to see heavier men and more good backs and ends. The men certainly weighed much less than at most western colleges this year, but they were far superior to the lot with which McCornack had to deal last year.

Capt. Allen was out in a suit for the first time this season, having practically recovered from his recent sickness. The most pleasing thing to the rooters was the appearance of the two Carlisle Indians, Johnson, the quarter back who was placed on Walter Camp's All American team, and Williams, one of the best full backs in the east last year. They not only took part in the practice but assisted McCornack in teaching the new men.

Johnson Is No Disappointment.

The work of both men in the practice was pleasing, especially that of Johnson, who took part in all branches of the practice in a way that demonstrated he is all that has been claimed. The way he handled punts on the dead run was most impressive. Johnson is a short man, much on the order of Eckersall in build, and appeared to be as light on his feet. Williams hardly looks the part of a full back, but is stocky and well built, and was quick in all the plays.

McCornack started the men in as if they had been in training for a month, and all were well tired out after the day's work. It consisted of practice with the charging machine, signal drill, and quick starting stunts. The candidates were also instructed in the details of each position. The squad was finally divided into three sections and signal practice given. The older men took a little work on the side, running back punts, then, after a lecture from the coach, the tired lot was dismissed.

Walter Steffen Among Missing.

McCornack had expected to see Walter Steffen, who has been at Wisconsin for the last few days, appear in a suit, but he did not show up. Before going to Madison Steffen said he would return and look over the prospects at Evanston. McCornack has given up hopes of seeing him, but others expect him today. It is a question whether or not the North Division lad can enter the Evanston school, one purple alumnus stating last night that he could not.

"I am a little discouraged over the prospects," said McCornack after the practice. "I had been led to believe some of the new men were heavier. There are not enough half backs or ends for my style of game and we must find more of them."

Colton and Blair, half backs; Weinberger, end, and Carlson, center, were the old men in the practice. Rueber is expected on Monday. McGann is in school again, but will not play unless he is absolutely needed. Kafer is expected today. The members of last year's second team out were Sexauer, half back; McPerrin and Watts, ends; I. I. Scott and Gilbert, tacklers, and Hanson and Hanns, half backs. Schock, one of the best players on the 1900 team, also reported, but he is lighter than when he played before.

New Material on Hand.

The new men out were Turner, end from Englewood, who will be tried for quarter; Gemmel, end at Oak Park; McGanahan, guard; Farrell, tackle; Davis, a 240 pound center from Waukesha; Vancht and Merrill, half backs. One of the most promising of the new men was Ward, a 180 pound tackle, who played with the Marshall Field team last year. King, a full back from Fordham college, who weighs 176, is also a promising looking candidate. Two good men appeared from Kansas Wesleyan in Hunter, a full back, and Condeu, tackle.

Bent, a colored end weighing 180 pounds, from Quincy, was the best looking of the candidates for end. He played at half on the school team four years. Jenkins, a 175 pound tackle, from Big Rapids, Mich., who was a member of the squad for a short time last year, was out in a suit. Flanders, quarter back on the West Aurora High school team for three years, watched the practice from the side lines. He brought with him a colored lad from Aurora named Wilson, who played at Franklin college. Both will be in the practice today. Shauver, an end and half from Naperville college, also watched the practice, but wanted to get his eligibility straightened out before beginning work. He played against Northwestern last year and is said to be a good man. If he is eligible he will be out today.

BORG GOES BACK TO NEBRASKA.

Yesterday was a gloomy day at Marshall field when it was learned that C. E. Borg, the promising center from the University of Nebraska, had returned to his alma mater. The cause for the sudden change of mind in the cornhusker center rush was undoubtedly the presence of Coach Booth in the city. Borg himself gave Coach Stagg no reason for his desertion other than that he simply had to go.

Chicago fans see in the desertion of the big center the loss of their chances for the championship. Although Borg had worked only four days in his maroon togs he gave students a mighty good impression of his ability.

Following the action of Borg another western candidate for center was announced. Shaver, a 200 pound center from the University of Washington, will join the team next week and try for the same berth. Shaver is said to be a remarkable man for the position and will arrive with Spidel, captain and half back at the same school last year.

Turner, a 185 pound tackle from Bethany college, Wichita, Kas., was the only new man to report yesterday, although Mark Catlin, former full back, took his first workout.

Two elevens, led by Speik and Eckersall, lined up, and each was able to score a touchdown. Parry and Hogenson carried the ball over. Hill, De Tray, and Hogenson all came in for praise from the maroon coach.

WHAT'S THIS? ROSE PUT OUT?

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Michigan's squad at Whitmore lake was increased today by the arrival of Schulte, the 200 pound guard of last year's team. Curtis is now the only missing veteran. Yost spent a day of mixing up practice, putting Graham, the 250 pound Chicago boy, at half, working the giant Rose at tackle and some of the smaller men in the line. Stewart, the new punter, who registers forty-five yards every time his leg swings, was worked a long time at quarter, and also in the line. Rose was set at goal kicking and made several from the thirty-five yard line. The day's pace was extremely fast and ended with a sprained ankle for Garrels, a towering end, who is after Hedden's vacant place. It also put Rose completely out of the game. He spent the latter part of the afternoon on his couch instead of at practice.

New arrivals include Frank P. Forgy, a young giant from Ohio, who doesn't know much football, but weighs 195 stripped and looks tough as rope, also Tad Weeks, the fourth member of the famous family to try for the Michigan team. He weighs but 142 pounds. Two other brothers are also out.

Ramey Joins Purdue Squad.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Ramey, who has been a member of the University of Chicago football squad, joined the Purdue squad today. Ramey played half on the North Division High school team last year.

SCHOOL TEAM ON STRIKE.

WENDELL PHILLIPS BOYS DECLINE TO PLAY FOOTBALL.

Reason Given Is the Refusal of Board of Control to Permit the Former South Division Eleven to Compete in the Minor Instead of the Major League—Little Else Besides Routine Business Is Transacted at the Meeting.

Because the high school athletic board of control considers them better football players than they claim to be, the members of the Wendell Phillips (formerly South Division) high school eleven yesterday decided to give up football. The schoolboys claimed they were not strong enough to class with Hyde Park, North Division, and Englewood, and asked the board to allow them to join the minor section of the school league, but the board decided the lads were too modest and must play in the major section.

The members of the football squad were at practice when they heard the action the board had taken. Play was immediately stopped, a consultation held, and a vote taken. It was unanimously decided that football be given up, for they all wished to be leaders among the small fry rather than tail enders along with the better class of players. They say that under no circumstances will they play in the major league in football, although they are willing to compete in track work, and will wait until winter to win athletic glory. The boys are much disappointed, as they say they were compelled to give up their fraternity associations the first of the week in order to play football, and now they are compelled to give up the game altogether.

The school board took the action because the school has one of the largest enrollments of any in the city.

The board did little but routine work, and took no action on the new fraternity rule, thinking it best to leave that to the principals. The league was divided, as usual, into two sections, according to supposed strength. There were several changes in the board, several old members resigning. The new men are much more experienced in athletic matters, and things are expected to go more smoothly.

C. A. Cobelli, gymnasium instructor, succeeds Prof. Holland of Hyde Park, and Charles Peters, a former Northwestern football player, succeeds Grant Beebe at Medill. The other change was the resignation of Fred Maxwell of West Division in favor of James Reed. The league is divided as follows:

Major league—Englewood, Hyde Park, Robert Waller, and Wendell Phillips High schools.
Minor league—John Marshall, Oak Park, Northwest Division, and West Division.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Coach Appleman and the Lombard college eleven will leave tomorrow afternoon for Chicago where on Saturday they will play the Chicago eleven. The lineup will be: Capt. Shaffer, center; Goad, right guard; Myzner, right tackle; Alvord, right end; Wennstrom, left guard; Wertman, left tackle; Job, left end; Robinson, quarter back; Justus, full back; Shelby Case, right half; Burnside, left half. Substitutes, Ray and Shelby Case. While the team has been showing fairly good form, neither the coach nor the eleven expects to make much of a showing because the men are not yet down to team work. The men are lighter than last year.

MISS CARPENTER THE WINNER.

Captures Championship Cup of Washington Park Club's Women's Golf Event.

Miss J. Anna Carpenter of Westward Ho won the championship cup in the Washington Park club open tournament yesterday, by defeating Miss Mary Gardner of Hinsdale in a nicely played contest for the finals. Miss Carpenter won on the first round, being 4 up at the turn. On the next four holes she increased her lead by 2, finishing the match 6 up, 5 to play.

Mrs. Edwards of Midlothian won the first flight cup, defeating Miss French of Windsor 2 up in the finals, and Mrs. Brochon of River Forest defeated Mrs. D. Collins of Calumet, 7 up, 6 to play, in the second flight finals.

In the mixed foursome event Miss French and A. C. Perry of Windsor were low gross and net, with 79—8—71. On the first round they scored a good 41, and on the second they were one under bogey for the course with 38. Miss Elizabeth Young and A. R. Gates were tied for the second honors with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Donohoe, and the pairs will play off some time next week. They each had a gross of 84 and a net of 75, Miss Young and Mr. Gates going out in 43 and returning in 41, while the Edgewater pair reversed the scores. Summary:

	Gross.	Hcp.	Net.
Miss French and A. C. Perry, Windsor	79	8	71

McCreary, 107; Miss Thomas and O. J. Buck, 101.

The results in the first round of match play for the Hill cup at Westward Ho yesterday were as follows: Bruce Darling defeated Wilbur Kettlestrings, 5 up, 4 to play; S. M. St. Clair defeated N. S. Patton, 6 up, 5 to play; Thomas H. Gale defeated P. V. Castle, 4 up, 3 to play; F. A. Elliott defeated Paul Blatchford, 1 up; Dr. Worthington defeated H. H. Deithrick, 2 up. The second match round will be played next Thursday.

Six New Men at Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—Six new arrivals today swelled the number of Wisconsin's football aspirants to thirty-six. Trainer O'Dea also returned. Conville, the big tackle from Michigan, continues to make a favorable impression. Cummings, the Andover full back, also showed well.

KLING'S DOUBLE ENDS LONG GAME

Chicago Colts Defeat Cincinnati, 2 to 1, in Twelve Innings.

BRIGGS AGAINST HAHN.

Pitchers' Battle, in Which "Buttons" Has the Better of Firing.

With a clean two bagger into the deep shadows which obscured the far corner of right field Johnny Kling drove home the run which brought victory to the Colts in the last half of the twelfth inning on the west side lot yesterday. The score was 2 to 1 against Cincinnati, and if the game had not been decided in that round there would not have been glimmer enough to play another.

"Buttons" Briggs and "Noodles" Hahn got hooked up in a pitchers' battle in which they were so thoroughly "it" that there was scarcely a wave of excitement in the game until the last three innings. Briggs had the call all the way in the figures, but his support was so much better than Hahn's that there was no comparison.

Retires Fifteen in a Row.

The reds scored their one run before Briggs got ready for business. Seymour opened the pot with a screamer to right center and made three bases on it, because of slothful work in the outfield. He scored on Dolan's out. Sebring followed with a double, but that was where Briggs stopped them. In the remaining eleven innings just five reds reached first base, three on singles and two on passes. In the last five innings played Briggs retired fifteen men in a row.

Hahn gave the Colts almost no opening for eight innings. Once in the fourth Barry led off with a single and reached second on Odwell's return throw, which got away from everybody. McCarthy sacrificed Barry to third and Slagle slapped one on the nose, straight at Hahn's feet. "Noodles" couldn't get them out of the way, so the ball was blocked and stopped dead near the slab. Hahn ran around in a circle looking for it, and spied it just in time to shoot it home, where Barry was nipped simply because he did not hit the ground, but let Peitz catch the ball right on him.

Tie Score and Then Win.

That was the last opening until the ninth, and Cincinnati's one run looked plenty big enough. Then Barry arrived with a clean single to left, McCarthy sacrificed him to second, and he scored in a walk when Corcoran hoisted Slagle's grounder several yards wide of first base. That tied the knot, and, although Slagle reached second on the wild heave, Tinker and Evers proved unequal to the task of batting him home.

Kling aroused false hopes in the tenth by leading off with a single, but Briggs bunted hard enough to force him at second. Jones hit to the pitcher, and Casey struck out. The eleventh was one, two, three for both sides. Then Tinker walloped a safety to center at the beginning of Chicago's half of the twelfth, and it proved the right wedge. Evers failed to sacrifice, forcing Tinker at second, but partially retrieved the fault by stealing second. He did not need to, however, for Kling folowed with a liner so far into right field corner that Evers could have scored from first. And the lights went out. Score:

PHILLIES AND SUPERBAS SPLIT.

First Game Is Good Contest, While the Second Is Farce of Errors and Misplays.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Philadelphia and Brooklyn played a double header today, the visitors winning the first game by 5 to 2 and losing the second by 14 to 7. The second game, by agreement, was called in the seventh inning, and the errors on both sides were both frequent and inexcusable. Hanlon tried his new pitcher, Durham, in the second game, and he was batted out of the box in the fourth. Score:

Out of Suits at Illinois.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—With eighty candidates many aspirants cannot practice because the suit supply has given out. It is announced that Todd Kirk, the recruit from the University of Missouri, will arrive on Monday. Gregory, the heavy candidate for guard, and Diener, the 208 pound forward, are showing up well. Joe Taylor of baseball fame joined the squad.

FIGHT FOR FIRST PLACE.

BOSTON HOPS BACK INTO LEAD BY BEATING HIGHLANDERS.

Champions Take First Game by One Run, Pitcher Tannehill Striking Out Last New York Batter When the Bases Are Full—Second Game Results, as Did the Second Game on Wednesday, in a Tie Score—Sox Have a Day of Rest.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—Boston won the first game with New York today, 3 to 2, and tied the second game, 1 to 1.

Both games were hard fought and full of excitement. With three New York men on bases in the ninth, Tannehill won the first game by striking out Conroy. In the second game both teams had good chances to win, but both Winter and Powell pulled out of the bad places.

Cleveland, 0; Detroit, 0.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 15.—Detroit and Cleveland were to have played two games today, but Detroit did not arrive until 4 p. m. Neither team was able to score in the six innings that were played before game had to be called on account of darkness. In the fifth inning Drill was removed from the game for disputing a decision.

Cantillon Gets a Cleveland Offer.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15.—Manager Cantillon of the Milwaukee American association team, received a letter tonight from President Somers of the Cleveland Americans asking him if he would confer with the Cleveland owners on the subject of managing the Cleveland team next year. Cantillon says he will do nothing now, but will meet Somers in Chicago after the season closes. He is strongly inclined to remain in Milwaukee unless the Cleveland offer is too tempting to refuse.

Notes of the Colts' Game.

Cincinnati again today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

Manager Selee turned his batting order bottom side up to change the Colts' luck and it was highly successful.

McChesney and Hoffman, the Western league outfielders, are expected to report for duty here tomorrow, and, if they do, Manager Selee will play them.

It isn't often a double play is made off a bunt on the ground, but that was what happened when Briggs tried to sacrifice with Kling on first in the third inning.

Manager Selee said he had not decided when to double up the postponed game with the reds. It will be played off tomorrow, probably, as the Colts have to catch an early train for the east on Sunday.

Tinker made a brilliant running catch of Peitz's foul in the seventh inning. Casey was after it, too, and, although there was a runner at second and only one out, not a Colt remembered to cover third base. Consequently Huggins meandered over there without opposition. It didn't happen to matter, but it might have, and it wasn't far for Briggs to go out of his way to cover the base.

HARD RACES AT LIBERTYVILLE.

Chicago aldermen laid siege to the purses at the Libertyville trotting meeting yesterday. Ald. Maypole landed with Kate Maceo, Ald. Hunter got second money with Flash Lightning, but Ald. Kunz with Hayden D. was outside the money.

The races were fiercely contested, and the betting was lively. King Airy was favorite in the 2:30 trot, but after he won the first two heats it was all Kate Maceo. In the 2:09 pace Monnut was an odds on favorite, but the best he could get was third money, the Idaho mare, Oregon Maid, getting the big end of the purse after a hard fight, in which four horses got heats. West broke down in the second heat.

Barongale, favorite in the 2:12 trot, finally won out in a five heat fight with Flash Lightning. Janita and Hartland Grattan collided in the slow trot, both drivers being thrown out, but neither hurt. Summaries:

DELAGOA FIRST IN FLEETWOOD.

DALVAY A CLEVER COLT.

Tichenor's Racer Beats Port Royal and Others with Great Ease.

Delagoa, S. C. Hildreth's Kingston—Rhodesia mare, picked up 117 pounds and won the Fleetwood handicap at Hawthorne yesterday in the easiest manner imaginable. The mare was simply loaded with speed and demonstrated it by taking the lead immediately after barrier rise, ran her earliest contender, Floral King, into submission in the first four furlongs, and had matters her own way after that.

Floral King finished second and ran a smashing good race. He hung to Delagoa to the turn, where the mare cut him off, to which no attention was paid by the judges, dropped back to fifth place before reaching the stretch turn, then came again and beat Big Ben for the place. Kurtzmann, the only 2 year old in the race, was well up for five furlongs, and McGee, the favorite, ran far below the notch pegged for him.

Dalvay's Brilliant Showing.

The other race of importance, at one mile and seventy yards, was won by M. H. Tichenor & Co.'s consistent colt, Dalvay, exceptionally well ridden by Nicol. The boy took him to the front at the first turn and showed the way into the backstretch, where Felipe Lugo passed him and quickly opened a gap of several lengths, to which Nicol paid little heed. Rounding the far bend Nicol gave Dalvay his head and he went by the Baldwin colt in a jiffy. That ended the race, as Dalvay turned for home with a lead of a length which he increased to six at the finish.

J. B. Respess cleaned up handsomely when his Lissak—Thora filly, Woodland Belle, won the mile race, the fifth on the card. The books laid 4 to 1 against her at the opening and at post time 6 to 5 was the best, with the smart set still sending in the money. Nicol got the filly away nicely, raced Cyprienne into the ground, and won without any trouble.

Horses for New Orleans Meeting.

Secretary Sheridan Clark of the Crescent City Jockey club returned to New York yesterday after consulting with President Bush concerning the stakes for the coming winter's meeting at the New Orleans fair grounds. The announcement will be made from New Orleans within a week. It is understood there will be few, if any, changes, and that the added money to stakes and purses will aggregate $300,000, or an average of $3,000 a day. J. L. Hall wired Mr. Bush from New York yesterday that judging by the applications for stables the list of New York horses at the fair grounds would be larger and of better class than last winter.

KING PEPPER SPRINGS SURPRISE

Wins the Mercury Handicap at Brighton Beach at 20 to 1—Jim Beattie at Long Odds.

New York, Sept. 15.—King Pepper at 20 to 1 won the Mercury handicap, the feature of the card, at Brighton Beach, today. Lady Amelia made the running to the stretch, where King Pepper and Mineola moved up. King Pepper won driving by a head.

Jim Beattie, backed down from 30 to 1 to 8 to 1, won the last race. As a result of the colt's victory the ring suffered a heavy loss.

P. J. Gorman claimed Vidalia out of the first race for $2,000.

The track was in remarkably good condition, but the weather was cold. Summaries:

First race, selling, 6 furlongs—Lochinvar, 112 pounds [Shaw], 6 to 5, won; Eke S., 102 [Hildebrand], 5 to 1, second; Salt and Pepper, 104 [Phillips], 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 2-5. Crippen, vice president; Lieut. J. D. Saurberg, secretary; Lieut. C. E. Black, treasurer; and Sergeant T. J. Houston, director.

EQUITY BRINGS CUP TO BILLINGS.

Defeats Track Record Made by Sadie Mack at Pittsburg on Tuesday.

TROTS THE MILE IN 2:08¼.

Rivalry of the Big Amateur Stables Is Feature of the Day's Sport.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—C. K. G. Billings' horse Equity made a track record at Brunot's island today in the 2:10 trot, against Queen Wilkes, owned by E. E. Smathers, Equity winning in two straight heats, time, 2:10 and 2:08¼. This was one quarter of a second better than the record made by Smathers' Sadie Mack last Tuesday and thereby gives the cup offered for the fastest heat of the meeting to Mr. Billings. The former track record was 2:08½.

Six thousand people witnessed the struggle between the horses from the rival stables. Mr. Billings left for Chicago last night and W. P. Murray of Cleveland drove his entries. Billings withdrew his entry in the 2:16 trot and two of Smathers' horses were pitted against each other without results.

Inaha, owned by Smathers, was first and Murray Howe, owned by Billings, second in the 2:14 pace; time, 2:13½ and 2:12½. In the free for all pace Smathers' horse, John M., was first and Billings' Prince Direct second. Time, 2:09; 2:10½.

Imogene from the Billings stable took first place in the 2:12 trot. Jolly Bachelor, owned by Smathers, and Pug, owned by E. P. Whitcomb of Pittsburg, tied for second. Time, 2:14; 2:13½.

There were several races in which the Billings and Smathers stables did not enter. The day was cold, a strong wind blew up the track all afternoon.

ALBERTO WINS FROM SONATA.

Surprise in the 2:14 Trot at Readville—Grace Bond Beats Three Year Olds.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 15.—Considering the downpour this morning the Readville track was in good shape in the afternoon.

Sonata was a big favorite for the unfinished 2:14 trotting event, but the New York gelding Alberto proved a surprise. Grace Bond won the colt race handily, only losing the second heat by a break at the distance flag. She was the favorite.

The 2:14 pacing class was close, the judges having difficulty in separating the leading horses in two heats. Barnetta B., the winner, was the second choice.

Euxenite had little trouble in the 2:18 trot. The 2:12 trot was unfinished. Invader was favorite. Both heats produced thrilling finishes. Summary:

2:14 class, trotting, purse $1,000:
Alberto, by Pellini [Dickerson] ...2 2 1 1 1
Sonata, b. m. [Kinney] ...1 1 4 3 2

Sixth race, 1½ miles—Attilla, 6 to 5; Prof. Neville, 4 to 1; Bar le Duc, 2 to 1.

Feats of the Bowlers.

The best bowling done last night was in the West Side Business Men's league, where the Luhnows rolled 958 in the last game. Richter with 225 and Roer with 209 were the heaviest contributors. The Luhnows were beaten two out of three games by the Chicago Feather Dusters. Veronas won the deciding contest in the North Chicago league from the Ben Alls, Joe Shaw averaging 194 1-3. In the Southwest league the Ruehls took two games from the Royals.

A CIGAR must be good—it must be in natural condition but above all it must be UNIFORM, it must be good ALL THE TIME. It is for this that every bit of the tobacco used in the making of the cigars we recommend is carefully selected, thoroughly ripened, cured and rendered mellow, rich and even in character. We sell nothing which proves these facts more conclusively than the Employment Agencies.

HARD HEADED BUSINESS MEN—

men of wide experience—have learned that our system of bringing employer and employe together is the correct solution of a vexatious problem. Business men who would not think of patronizing an "employment agency" come to us for assistance. That they are well suited is evidenced by their letters in which they make such remarks as, "We wish to compliment you upon the efficient service which you have been able to render." "We thank you for your prompt assistance in securing us desirable help on several occasions."

YOU ought to know what we can do for you. Will be glad to tell you of our system and advise with you as to the best plan to pursue that you may

CLAIRVOYANTS.

AN HONEST PROPOSITION — PROF. JAMES White, Chicago's celebrated clairvoyant, palmist, and spirit medium, is permanently located here. His honesty, test of time, and 11 years of continuous practice in Chicago have proved beyond all doubt that Prof. James White is the leader of his profession. As proof of his WONDERFUL POWER, to all who come prepared for readings this week he will tell your FULL NAME, ADDRESS, OCCUPATION, AND THE OBJECT OF YOUR VISIT ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE. His advice pertaining to love, law, business, wills, estates, lawsuits, buying or selling property, speculation, investments, marriage, divorce, etc., is unequaled. He reunites the separated, causes speedy and happy marriage with one you love, restores lost affection, removes evil influence—in fact, everything. Prof. White's advice is much sought for on past or future investments, for which he has no equal. He charges not one penny for such advice until the investment has paid a handsome profit. Is this not fair and honest? Great reduction this week. Prof. White, as a matter of advertisement, this week will give his complete life reading for 50 cents; satisfaction absolutely guaranteed or no fee accepted. Everything strictly sacred and confidential. His residence is arranged so you meet no strangers. Don't mistake name and number. PROF. JAMES WHITE, TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-THREE WARREN-AV., bet. Robey and Hoyne-av., West Side. Consultation hours, 10 to 6. Sundays included. Letters with stamp answered.

PROF. HERRMANN, THE GREATEST LIVING adviser on the continent, 1806 Michigan-av. At a glance, before you have a chance to utter one word, he will tell you what you call for. Tells you everything; good or bad; the truth, and nothing but the truth. Complete life reading this week ONE DOLLAR.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

GREAT PIANO VALUES!

Opportunity to buy a Steinway, Weber, or other well known piano at very small cost.

Following our annual custom, we continue a general clearance sale of all special pianos. Here and there in our stock are pianos that are not quite of the latest model, or have had some slight use, or have been taken in exchange. All these instruments have been placed one side and marked for immediate sale, as we wish to avoid carrying even one of them over into next season's stock.

Steinway small upright, ebonized case, good as new; Steinway Baby Grand, shows hardly any trace of use; Steinway medium size upright, mahogany case, rented short time; Steinway, same as above, in ebony case; Steinway cabinet grand upright, ebony case, in excellent condition; Steinway small upright, in fine playing order; Weber upright, medium size, walnut; Weber cabinet grand, walnut case; Weber baby grand, mahogany case, latest pattern; Knabe cabinet grand, mahogany case, used for concert purposes only; Knabe parlor grand, very dainty.

Also a number of Fischer uprights and Hazelton uprights at a discount of $50 from former prices.

Very attractive bargains in a carload of latest model uprights from a good maker, bought recently at an extra discount. They are of intrinsically good musical value and will be closed out at $185.

Magnificent new Steinway Vertegrand uprights, $500.

A special lot of new uprights, all woods, greatest value in Chicago, at $145.

Also a room full of new and second hand uprights, your choice at $195, either cash or long time payments. Many of these pianos have been held at $300. Several leading makes are included. A number of very fine pianos from a musical standpoint will be found in the collection. The extreme dullness of the past summer makes it peremptory upon us to reduce this stock at once.

Pianolas, slightly used, $150. A new special upright and one of these special pianolas, both together, $275.

Visitors are always cordially welcome to our salesrooms. From 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. groups of piano customers will always be found upon our piano floors, but we have such ample facilities and such a large corps of salesmen that we can sell twenty different instruments simultaneously without the least delay.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured by small first payment. On low priced pianos we are prepared to accept a cash payment of $10, and monthly payments thereafter of $5. No advance in price when easy terms are desired. Pianos of all descriptions included in this offer.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list and also our schedule of freight rates on pianos.

We ship pianos everywhere.

EXCHANGE CERTIFICATES—With every inexpensive piano we include free a certificate which gives the owner the privilege of exchanging said instrument as part pay toward any new piano of higher cost in our stock.

SUICIDE CAUSE IS OVERDRAFTS.

Lieut. Duffy Believes Financial Embarrassment Led Attorney John M. Biegler to End His Life.

Financial embarrassment was assigned yesterday by Lieut. Duffy as a motive for suicide in the case of John M. Biegler, the young attorney found dead in his office in the Title and Trust building last Monday.

The police found, they said, that he had seriously overdrawn his bank account.

As to the amount of money which Biegler had in the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank, Lieut. Duffy and relatives of the attorney differ.

"Biegler had only $384 in the bank, instead of $800," Lieut. Duffy said yesterday. "He had drawn checks exceeding this amount by $129. He would have been financially embarrassed had he lived."

SUSPICIOUS OF MARKET.

BROKERS CANNOT UNDERSTAND MOVEMENT OF NEW YORK STOCK.

Advance of Pennsylvania and Steel Not Warranted by Any Information Made Public and Thought by Outsiders to Be Fictitious—Block of Colorado Fuel Thrown on Sale Without Explanation—Further Uneasiness Among Dealers.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The stock market today was regarded with suspicion. The movement of prices was so mixed that no logical reason for it was apparent, and as a result there grew the suspicion of a fictitious nature for some of the movements.

The continued advance of Pennsylvania and the United States Steel stocks was the most influential factor in shaping sentiment on the general market, and was fairly effective in supporting the level of prices in the face of profit taking in some of the stocks which have made previous striking advances.

There were rumors of an important short interest in the United States Steel stocks which was meeting difficulties in covering, and the urgent demand for these gave plausibility to the report. Another source of uneasiness was the marketing of a large block of Colorado Fuel, which had the appearance of an order to sell at the market.

The movement in the cotton carriers was plainly based on the favorable prospects for that crop, but Southern Railway was a marked exception to the movement, and continued to be sold to take profits.

The full foreign trade statement for August partly offset the unfavorable impression caused by the showing of exports for domestic products. The making up of the call loan rate of 2 per cent evidently foreshadows a further shrinkage in the bank surplus, and was an inference in the growing weakness of the stock market. The stock market closed easy.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $4,555,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Close: Money on call, steady, 1@2 per cent, closing bid, 1; offered at 1½. Time loans, steady; 60 days and 90 days, 3 per cent; six months, 3½@3¾. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange, easy with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.70@486.75 for demand and at 484.30@484.35 for 60 day bills. Posted rates, 485@485½ and 487½@488. Commercial bills, 484¼@484¼. Bar silver, 66⅝c. Mexican dollars, 45¼c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, firm.

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

WILL MEET TO TALK EXPENSES.

Head of Joint Meeting Announces That Insurance Conference Will Be Held Next Month.

Manager Littlejohn of the North British and Mercantile has notified the members of the joint committee of union and nonunion companies to take up the subject of expenses in the large cities, that no meeting will be held until October. It was impossible to get the managers together, owing to vacations. The large cities committee of the union hoped to have a definite report to make at the forthcoming session as to the progress made in connection with nonunion companies, but this will be impossible.

Manager Littlejohn is now in the east and will go to Round Island to the union meeting.

Henry P. Magill & Co., with offices at 57 Washington street, Chicago, have been appointed agents of the Louisville Insurance company for Illinois. They will appoint local agents throughout the state and will write surplus lines in the western field. Mr. Magill is secretary of the National Church Mutual, which insures Methodist church property in the United States. He will appoint a man who will have charge of the department devoted to the Louisville.

The Northwestern Fire Prevention association has been organized at Minneapolis by Minnesota and Dakota field men and will have for its purpose the correcting of defects in special hazards, fire departments, and water supply. The president is George C. Main of the North America; vice president, H. R. Loudon of the Liverpool and London and Globe; secretary pro tem, W. I. Fisher, secretary of the Minnesota and Dakota state board; treasurer, F. H. Barney of the Hanover.

An effort is being made by some of the smaller local agencies in Chicago to form a consolidated agency something like the plan of the Insurance Agency company of St. Louis. Several of the younger men are working on this plan, believing that if a successful method can be evolved it will reduce expenses and give the agents more time for outside soliciting.

Considerable speculation has been aroused among members of the Western union as to the next head of the organization. President Blackwelder has served two terms, and it is an unwritten law that a new executive must be chosen at the end of that period. Among the names prominently mentioned are J. W. G. Cochran of the Hartford, Fred S. James of the National, H. C. Eddy of the Commercial Union, and George W. Law of the Royal.

Aubrey Warren, connected with the Chicago office of the Liverpool and London and Globe, who returned a few days ago from a month's vacation, is ill with typhoid fever. Yesterday the attending physician expressed doubts as to his recovery. He is a brother of W. S. Warren, resident secretary of the company in the west.

President J. J. Henry of the Newark Fire, who has been attending the Knights Templar convention in San Francisco, is expected in Chicago tomorrow, and will appoint a special agent to succeed E. S. Wheeler, who resigned to go into the varnish business.

Ruling on Fraternal Insurance.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The benefits of fraternal societies cannot be enjoyed until all the terms of membership have been complied with, according to a ruling made by Judge Orr today in denying Mrs. Christine Schubert's claim to $1,000 from the Minnesota Modern Woodmen.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

Deficiency Charges Against Brooklyn Not to Be Removed by Board of Underwriters.

New York, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The New York fire insurance exchange has just issued a circular headed "Alleged Improvements in the Brooklyn Water Supply," and reading as follows:

"As communications are being received in this office from Brooklyn agents to the effect that water has been turned on in certain new mains and asking the immediate reduction of the rate in certain risks, therefore the manager takes this method of notifying all concerned that individual requests for the removal of the Brooklyn deficiency charges were not to be considered by the committee. Those charges were imposed for general conditions after careful tests and investigation had determined the need for them. They will not be removed until equally careful tests and investigations have shown the deficiency has been corrected."

James Boomer, for many years Canadian manager of the Manchester Assurance company, died at his residence in Toronto Tuesday morning.

John C. Dornin has been appointed second assistant manager of the Pacific department of the National of Hartford at Springfield. Dornin will be succeeded in his former special field by C. H. Anderson.

Manager Frank Lock of the Atlas Assurance company has arrived from Europe on the steamship Mesaba.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The organization of a new fire insurance company, making the fifth, with headquarters here, has been perfected by leading business men. It will be known as the North State Fire Insurance company, and will start out with a capital stock of $100,000 and a surplus of $25,000.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—William H. Wyman, general agent of the Ætna Insurance company's northwestern branch at Omaha, completed his fifty years of service for the company today. A solid silver loving cup was presented to him by the directors and officers of the Ætna, the presentation on behalf of the company being made by W. H. Harford.

ASKS FOR TERMINAL PROXIES.

Committee of Five Issues Circular Representing That Stockholders Are Not Informed by the Management.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—[Special.]—A circular was issued today to shareholders of the Chicago Terminal Transfer railroad company asking for their proxies to be issued for the annual meeting on Oct. 12, at which directors are to be elected. The circular was signed by the following:

W. H. Heaton, Albert E. Goodhart,
H. C. Pomroy, A. O. Slaughter.
Charles W. Mowry,

After pointing out the value of the property and the extent of the improvements, the circular says:

"The committee believes the above descriptions of the property to be correct, that the widely distributed holdings of shares has not properly been represented by the management of the company. It is desirable that the shareholders should be fully advised as to the existing leases and possible new leases, and to that end we solicit your proxy."

A member of the protective committee pointed out today that the circular has been issued for the purpose of finding out what could be done to place the property on a paying basis, but no plans have been formed.

THEOSOPHISTS WILL MEET HERE

Coming from Many Parts of the World to Attend National Convention, Beginning on Sunday.

Theosophists from many parts of the world will be in Chicago to attend the annual convention of the society beginning Sunday morning at the Athenæum building at 26 Van Buren street.

Following the regular program of the convention, which will last two days, there will be lectures by several of the 500 delegates expected to attend.

Among the speakers will be Charles W. Leadbeater, the English theosophist; Basil Hodgson Smith of London, C. Jinarajadsa, Mrs. Kate W. Davis, Alexander Fullerton, and Henry Hotchner.

FIGHTS CHARGE OF CONTEMPT.

William T. McGuire, Accused of Hiding His Adopted Daughter, Takes Appeal and Gives Bonds.

Carrying the case from the Juvenile to the Appellate court, William T. McGuire yesterday secured his freedom from jail under $1,500 bonds. He is charged with hiding his adopted daughter, 11 months old, from the officers of the Juvenile court, and with keeping her in McGuire's hotel, an alleged disreputable resort conducted by his wife. The latter, also sent to jail for contempt, secured her freedom on a writ of error.

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

As was expected by real estate men, the Alhambra theater and hotel property at the southwest corner of State street and Archer avenue was bid in at foreclosure sale yesterday by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, mortgagee, for $265,000. This approximates the claim, although the interest due and the cost increase it to around $275,000.

The property fronts 293 feet in State street, 175 feet in Archer avenue, 151 feet in Twentieth street, and 200 feet on an alley. A four story and basement building containing the theater, hotel, stores, and apartment covers the entire site.

First Purchase Price $600,000.

The property was acquired by the Perry Smith estate from A. J. Cooper twelve years ago for around $600,000. The estate conveyed in part payment his homestead at the northwest corner of Pine and Huron streets and other property. The Alhambra then was looked upon as an excellent investment, having a rent roll of around $40,000, which has decreased to around $25,000.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, in 1893, made a loan of $260,000 on the property, the one which has just been foreclosed. The late Dunlap Smith, who was the active agent in the purchase of the property, had much confidence in it, and had he lived it is believed by many that he would have saved it.

Transferred Three Times.

Bertha F. Waters quitclaimed to William M. Hoyt the property in Waveland avenue, 200 feet east of Pine Grove avenue, 40x160 feet, north front, and the property at 302-310 Illinois street, for $37,500. For a nominal consideration Mr. Hoyt quitclaimed the property to Nelson L. Hoyt, who, in turn, quitclaimed back to W. M. Hoyt, the transactions being for the purpose of perfecting title.

John Wilcox has purchased from William N. Taylor 75x235 feet in Evanston avenue, 350 feet south of Winona street, west front, for $12,000, subject to an incumbrance of $5,000.

A mortgage of $25,000 given by James Henning to the Fidelity Trust company of Louisville was filed for record. It bears 6 per cent interest, without time for payment specified. The instrument is peculiar, in that Mr. Henning gives as security his interest in all his lands in Kentucky and Illinois which were conveyed by the will of Mrs. Fanny Speed, but which are not specified in the mortgage.

SUES THE SOUTH PARK BOARD.

Actions Are Begun by Estate of Boy Drowned in a Lagoon on Aug. 14.

The estate of Haman Cohn, 17 years old, drowned in the Jackson Park lagoon Aug. 14, yesterday began suits for $10,000 damages each against the south park board and the commissioners individually.

The intention was declared to be to test the contention that park boards cannot be held liable for damages.

It is said the lights on one of the park electric launches were extinguished and a collision with the rowboat occupied by Cohn was the result.

OFFERS PANIC PANACEAS.

A. J. FRAME OF WAUKESHA, WIS., READS PAPER TO BANKERS.

Suggests Changes in Present Laws That Would Make Times of Financial Stress Less Hurtful to the Commercial World and to the Individual Depositors—Kansas Member Tells of His Colleagues in the West—E. F. Sweeney to Be President.

New York, Sept. 15.—Western bankers had the floor at today's session of the convention of the American Bankers' association. The principal speakers before the convention were A. J. Frame, president of the Waukesha National bank of Waukesha, Wis., who read a paper on "Panic Panaceas," and W. C. Robinson, president of the First National bank of Winfield, Kas., who talked about "The Western Banker."

Mr. Frame is not an optimist who believes that the days of panics are passed, and in his paper he suggests a number of ways in which to make them less irritating to the commerce of the country. History, he says, should be profited by and conservative and sound banking laws enforced. Cash should be provided on sound lines to meet extraordinary demands, and this cash, having performed its function, should be retired immediately. This latter precaution to prevent inflation and artificial values.

Language of Law Should Be Plain.

The language of the statute should be so unequivocal as to the redemption of silver coins in gold that no man would dare disobey it.

Mr. Frame presents a table comparing the loss to depositors through state and national banks, respectively, and draws the inference that the inspection laws of the United States are far superior to the banking laws of most of the individual commonwealths.

A substantial reserve is imperative in times of stress. He quotes Lyman J. Gage as saying twenty years ago: "I would not sleep nights with less than 40 per cent," and he cites the career of the First National bank of Chicago as a monument to Mr. Gage's sagacity, as well as to his conservatism.

Calling attention to the fact that there is $10,000,000,000 deposited in the banks of this country, he advocates even more stringent laws than the present to protect the depositors.

Law Should Inspire Confidence.

"When panic threatens," declares Mr. Frame, "the profoundest problem is how to respond to the insane demand of frightened depositors."

A feeling on the part of depositors that the law protects them will do much to prevent hysteria.

The paper then goes on to compare the banking system of this country with the systems of Europe, the United States appearing in a favorable light. The Wisconsin man would not object to a central bank under federal supervision, modeled on the lines of the Bank of England, however.

He suggests that the government be empowered to issue but one kind of note; that the government surplus over current requirements be deposited in banks; that the limit of reduction of national bank notes be raised from $3,000,000 to $6,000,000 a month, and that in times of stress national banks be permitted to issue emergency currency.

The Western Banker.

Mr. Robinson's paper on "The Western Banker" was mainly historical, and showed how, by sheer force of enterprise and integrity, he had forged forward from a position in which he was looked upon with suspicion to a place of honor among financiers. He cited the fact that some of the greatest financiers, including secretaries of the treasury and controllers of the currency, had come out of the west, and that while at least one prominent national banker of New York chased the free silver rainbow, the men in the front rank in the west were solid as a rock for sound money.

Paper by Eugene E. Prussing.

Eugene E. Prussing of Chicago was to have given an address, but President Bigelow announced that Mr. Prussing was unable to be present and the paper was read. The paper said in part:

"Broadly speaking, state banks and trust companies are not regulated by law in their investments and loans, and there is practically no requirement as to their cash reserve. If the national banks as a class are to maintain their positions something radical must be done with the legal situation thus created. It is with great hesitancy that I suggest at least a partial remedy in the expansion of the national banking act so as to cover modern conditions.

"Much would be accomplished by placing the national banks on an equal footing with the state banks and trust companies and giving the national banks the great advantage of proper legal restrictions and regulations. The amendments regulating investments and reserves would be comparatively simple matters, for we have many precedents in experience and in existing laws of various kinds.

"The power to accept and execute trusts may require much careful hedging. It might be conditioned upon a compliance with the laws on the subject in force in the state in which the banks are located."

According to the slate prepared today E. F. Sweeney of Kansas City will be elected president of the association, and John L. Hamilton of Hopeston, Ill., vice president.

ACCUSED OF THEFT FOR HOUSE.

Father and Son Alleged to Have Stolen Material from Railway During Three Years.

After spending three years in building a residence for the family John O'Rourke and his son, William, have been charged with stealing the lumber from the Belt Line railroad, which employed the father. They were arraigned in Criminal court yesterday, and a jury will give its verdict this morning.

In their haste to complete the house the builders, it was charged, recently hauled 2,000 feet of lumber from a car. The marks of the wagon wheels were said to have been traced to the site at Eighty-third street and Adams avenue.

Other and smaller thefts of material were charged and were said to have included every kind of stock needed except the singles. The slow progress of the work excited no suspicion among neighbors, since it was believed the family was buying the lumber in installments.

Attorneys for the railroad urged that the two be sent to the penitentiary.

SEEK NEW COTTON FIELDS.

Europe, Alarmed by American Speculation, to Encourage Colonial Planting.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—The recent great cotton corner apparently has caused a permanent fright in Europe, where all of the cotton using nations have set themselves to the task of producing their own cotton. Consul General Skinner at Marseilles calls attention to this important movement in a special report.

He says that an association has been formed in France for the purpose of arousing public opinion and securing support for the projected development of the French colonial cotton fields.

This country now produces 75 per cent of the world's cotton.

BULL SENTIMENT RULES IN WHEAT

FROST LIGHT; CORN LOWER

General Selling on the Weather, but Big Longs Check Decline—Other Markets.

Wheat opened easy and sold off ⅝c in the first few minutes, chiefly for the reason that a good many local traders thought the time had come when it would be safe to sell short and force a further decline. They had the encouragement of a weak curb in Minneapolis, of less severe frosts than feared, and of a soft corn market.

But the break brought no pressure of long wheat, some of the bulls who had sold out on the previous bulge were willing to reinstate their lines on a break of over 3c, and the market turned strong, recovering all its loss, and at the best showing gains of 1⅜c to 2⅛c. A little rush of selling on this spurt caused a quick break of 1c late in the session, but the close was strong at net gains of 1c to 1⅜c. The greatest strength was shown by the December delivery, for which there was a concentrated demand on the early dip, forcing an advance from $1.13⅜ to $1.16⅛, with the close at $1.15⅝ bid. The September closed at $1.13, both the nearby deliveries gaining 1⅜c. May sold from $1.15⅝ to $1.17⅞, and closed at $1.17 sellers, a gain of 1c.

Exceptional strength in Kansas City, which made the best rally for the day—futures up 1⅝c and cash wheat strong on the falling off in receipts—and the light receipts here, only 39 cars estimated for today, affected the September and December. The cabled estimate of an increase in the Argentine wheat area of 20 per cent encouraged the early bearish sentiment, but was more than offset by the advance of ⅜d in Liverpool and the semi-official estimate of the crops in fifty governments of European Russia showing a decrease in production of 102,000,000 bu from last year.

Northwest Is Weak.

The northwest markets dragged all day, Minneapolis finally closing ⅛c to ⅜c higher and Duluth ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. The weather in the northwest was clear, there were more reports of good yields in Minnesota and Dakota, one or two as high as 30 bu and others as high as 20 bu, and the northwest also sent estimates of a more liberal movement in the near future. Receipts there, while still much below last year's figures, were less out of proportion, 398 cars, compared with 567, but more attention was paid to the falling off of the Kansas City receipts, to 147,000 bu, compared with 198,000 bu last year, and the prediction receipts would be even smaller today. Primary receipts were 731,000 bu, compared with 924,000 bu last year. Minneapolis stocks decreased 300,000 bu for five days. One mill there bought 75,000 bu to arrive.

Winnipeg reported snow and rain in western Manitoba and sent some small thrashing returns, as low as 7 bu per acre and of poor quality. Cash prices here ranged from 1c lower to 1½c higher, choice wheats ruling strong on good milling demand. Clearances were 91,000 bu wheat and flour. Continental markets were all lower, Buda-Pesth off 2⅞c. The buying of December, which started the rally from the low opening, was led by Love and Fyfe-Manson. Wrenn bought May, but on the extreme bulge turned a heavy seller. Ware put out a short line on the late decline. Bartlett-Frazier were steady buyers of May, and it was assumed Patten was adding to his line. Ware-Leland, McDougall, and Spencer were buyers at times. There was selling by Peavey, Kneeland, and commission houses generally on the advance.

Corn Prices Work Off.

A few scattered notations on the weather map announcing light frosts at several points in Iowa, in St. Louis, and even as far south as Cairo, Ill., with temperatures at these points at 7 o'clock ranging from 42 to 52 degrees, did not strike the corn talent as suggestive of any serious damage to the crop, and the fact that killing frosts were reported at three points in northern Iowa not shown on the map did not alter the general sentiment that the market ought to break. And break it did, but the decline was kept within moderate bounds by the continued heavy buying of one or two bull houses already long large holdings for Wall street and northwestern speculators.

Opening declines reached 1⅛c, but they proved the low points for the day. A large part of these losses were recovered at one time on the buying referred to, but there was another recession later, with closing prices ⅝c lower for September, 1c lower for December, and ⅝c lower for May. The May range was from 52c to 50⅞c, the close at 51⅜c bid. Some messages from points in Iowa claimed temperatures as low as 30 degrees, though 34 was the minimum reported by the government bureau, and killing frosts with half the crop green. Messages to elevator interests seemed to indicate that what damage there was by frost was confined to the extreme northern section of Iowa. Their reports showed no injury in this state, Nebraska, or Missouri. The prediction of warmer weather for tonight removed the fear of frost damage for a time.

Cash prices were ½c to 1c lower, the shipping demand dull, sales 125,000 bu. New No. 3 corn is offered here for arrival in December at 5¼c under December, with no demand. Receipts were 398 cars, with 533 estimated for today. Primary points had 703,000 bu, compared with 611,000 bu last year. Clearances were only 5,000 bu. The buying of May was led by Wrenn, Cudahy brokers, McReynolds, Knight-Donnelly, and Champlin. Ware-Leland bought December, which was sold by Wrenn. Spencer and Ware bought May early, but turned sellers later. There was scattered commission selling and general selling by the local crowd.

Tame Trade in Oats.

Oats still followed the lead of corn, off ⅜c at most, but recovering somewhat and closing ⅛c to ⅜c lower. Trade was moderate in volume, a feature the changing of September and May, McReynolds and Harris-Scotten buying September and selling May, and Nye-Jenks taking the opposite end of the trade. Logan-Bryan bought December. Cash prices were ¼c to ½c lower. Sales for shipment were 100,000 bu and charters were made for 100,000 bu. There were only 101 cars inspected in and 131 estimated for today. Clearances were 16,000 bu.

Nearby deliveries in the provision list continued to sag under scattered liquidation by holders, and January product was relatively firmer, lard and ribs closing a shade lower and pork 5@7½c higher. October pork lost 5c, lard 10c, and ribs 7½c. There was selling of October and buying of January by the grain houses, holders getting away from the cash, and some of this changing for Cudahy was noticed also. The packers were fair buyers of October lard and ribs and sellers of January. Local hog receipts were 19,000 head, and 15,000 are expected today. Prices at the yards, 5c lower. The western points received 53,900 hogs, against 58,700 last year. Shipments of meats were about the same as last year, and of lard 600,000 lbs smaller. Cash demand was good. Liverpool bacon was up 6d, lard up 3d, and hams 1s lower.

Rye about steady. September was 74½c, nominal; December, 76½c bid, and May, 78½ bid. No. 3 sold at 75½c to go to store. Receipts, 7 cars.

Flaxseed was easy with Duluth, September, $1.18 sellers, and December, $1.22 sellers. No. 1 northwestern sold at $1.26; No. 1, $1.21½. Receipts, 7 cars here, 44 at Minneapolis, and 2 at Duluth.

Timothy seed 5c higher for choice country lots, sales from $2.25@2.75. September, $2.80; October, $2.80 bid; and March, $3.00 bid. Clover seed, 20c higher at $11.70@11.80 for spot prime. Country lots, $9.00@12.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

The weather bureau's report showed light frosts Wednesday night at the following stations, with temperatures at 7 o'clock yesterday morning: Des Moines, 40 degrees; Dubuque, 40 degrees; Davenport, 44 degrees; Keokuk, 42 degrees; St. Louis, 50 degrees; Cairo, 52 degrees. Of fourteen stations reporting to Des Moines the minimum temperature was 30 degrees. Killing frosts were reported at Forest City, Iowa Falls, and Maquoketa, Ia., heavy at Charles City and Waterloo, and light frosts at four stations in Nebraska, four in Iowa, two in Illinois, four in Indiana, and one in Kansas. Nye-Jenks had messages from twenty stations in Nebraska claiming no frost. Private messages from Forest City, Ia., said considerable damage had been done to corn in that section, and a message from Belmont, Ia., said there had been a heavy frost there and that half the crop was green. Thick white frost was reported at Portsmouth, Neb., but elevator interests operating in that state had no advices of damage to corn. Van Ness Bros. received the following messages from this state and Indiana: San José, Ill.—Light frost; slight damage to late corn low location. Fairbury, Ill.—Trace of frost; no damage. Sadorus, Ill.—No trace of frost; prospects warm today. Danforth, Ill.—Cloudy; no frost; some wind; bright and sunny. Melvin, Ill.—No frost. Kewanee, Ill.—Light frost last night; some damage on low ground. Ashland, Ill.—Light frost; no damage, but a help. Kentland, Ind.—No frost.

"There was a decrease of nearly 100,000 brls in the output of the Minneapolis mills last week," says the Northwestern Miller. "The quantity turned out (week of Sept. 10) was 182,345 brls, against 261,125 in 1903. The output for the current week is likely to amount to 275,000 brls. While margins have not been satisfactory to the mills, one miller reports making the heaviest sales of any week for the last six months. Orders are chiefly for small quantities and almost exclusively domestic, only one or two Minneapolis mills and exporters reporting any export sales. Importers have, however, come up materially in their offers, and shippers think if present wheat prices hold importers will soon advance their bids, particularly on clears, to a workable point. With the wheat market on a rampage in the last two days, it has been next to impossible for mills to quote a price on flour that would hold; hence they have dropped out of the market, as have buyers, and business has been checked to a great extent. Meanwhile mills are working on old contracts."

The action of local cash interests in declaring their independence of the Iowa Grain Dealers' association, which has been trying to boycott farmers, elevator companies, and dealers who buy grain of them, is said to have stirred the regular dealers into the contemplation of a counter blow. A Des Moines paper reports that forty grain men assembled in that city and pledged themselves not to ship a bushel of grain to the Chicago brokers handling stuff from the coöperative concerns, and to also use their influence in preventing others from shipping to them. In turn, this reported action is said to have stirred up the coöperative elevator men, who are threatening to organize in a counter organization, claiming the large elevator lines have tried to cause them trouble by endeavoring to have railroads give them poor service by boycott methods with grain receivers and by uniform bids sent out through the country which show wide margins.

One sale of new corn to arrive here in December was made yesterday, a lot of 5,000 bu No. 3 yellow at 5c under December f. o. b., cars local; old No. 3 yellow is now selling at about 3c over December. A lot of 50,000 bu new No. 3 was offered at 5c under December on the same terms, but no demand could be discovered for it. Cash prices for corn were ½c to 1c lower, the shipping demand dull except for an occasional lot of yellow. Sales included 75,000 bu No. 3 yellow for quick shipment at 4⅛c over December, c. i. f. Buffalo. Oats sales were 100,000 bu. Sample wheat prices were 1c lower to 1½c higher, with better grades in good demand speculatively, but milling demand less in evidence. At Kansas City prices were steady to 2½c higher; No. 2 red, $1.12 and No. 2 hard, $1.06@1.06½; milling demand reported excellent.

"I do not know where there could have been any stocks of wheat in the country at the end of the last crop year," said B. A. Eckhart, "outside of the small stocks at the different visible supply points. Certainly there were no reserves in farmers' hands. High prices had been ruling for six months and cash wheat was bringing about 25c premium over the new crop futures. Certainly farmers would not hold their wheat under such circumstances and the fact that no old crop wheat has come forward the last few months shows there was none to come, as farmers would market their old wheat first."

"Eastern millers have experienced a good demand for flour for some time," said George Urban, the big Buffalo miller, "and the demand has been particularly good for the last two weeks. As eastern buyers put off coming into the market until forced by urgent requirements, Buffalo millers have had a good business, because they could ship quickly. As a rule, if a buyer telegraphs an order in the afternoon he wants the flour shipped that night, this showing how low stocks have become. The demand, however, is still only for immediate needs. I do not think the trade is stocking up."

"Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan raised a big crop of oats," said Henry L. Goemann of Toledo, "and have been selling them freely. A good many oats were consigned to the east and some of the consigned oats are still held there. That forced Ohio dealers to press sales, and we have kept a cent or more under the Chicago basis. While the movement has let up now, there are a lot of oats back in those states. I believe the yield in all of them was considerably larger than indicated by the government figures."

The semi-official report of fifty governments of Russia cabled by Broomhall showed a deficiency from last year of 202,000,000 bu in the wheat crop, 22,000,000 bu in the rye, and 72,000,000 bu in the barley. The oats crop is 114,000,000 bu larger. The totals are: Winter wheat, 91,360,000 bu, against 128,000,000 bu last year; spring wheat, 260,000,000 bu, against 325,500,000 bu; rye, 722,400,000 bu, against 744,000,000 bu; barley, 205,000,000 bu, against 277,000,000 bu; oats, 662,400,000 bu, against 548,000,000 bu.

Winnipeg messages reported snow and rain in western Manitoba, and some of the advices from there were "blue." A Condie, Assiniboin letter said: "The frost of Aug. 29 did considerable damage, and quite recently black rust has worked fearful havoc with wheat. Where a few weeks ago the wheat was plump and full it is now withered to the bran. The weather has been unfavorable for the last two or three weeks, wet and foggy—just the conditions for rust to work in."

John Inglis wired Pringle-Fitch-Rankin: "Southwestern counties of Nebraska are poor; some good fields, but much of it dried up. From Oxford, Holdredge to Hastings streaked, large percentage of poor fields, and some that will run 50 bu. So far in Nebraska it is below a good average. Heavy rain last night; cold today. Seventy-five per cent of the corn here will need two weeks yet."

Local millers report a good demand for flour, but with orders still in small lots, jobbers only coming into the market as a rule to fill orders they have already booked. One mill sold 3,000 brls at advanced prices. buyers have stopped haggling over prices, but take what they can get, and usually as quick as they can get it.

Public stocks of standard oats are being even more liberally contributed to by private operators and another heavy increase is expected this week, added to an increase of 1,473,000 bu since Aug. 22. The output by the mixers for four days has totaled 653,000 bu.

The buying of about 1,000,000 bu December wheat by Ffye-Manson and others, which was at first presumed to be for Armour, was credited later to two Milwaukee speculators, Biglow and Shepard, who recently paid for 400,000 bu September wheat in that market.

The Price Current says: "Two-thirds or more of the corn crop is secure from frost injury. Considerable of the remainder needs two weeks of good weather. The final official wheat estimate is not likely to exceed 540,000,000 bu. Oats indicate 875,000,000 bu.

The lake rate to Buffalo was firmer at 1¼c. There were charters for 200,000 bu corn and 100,000 bu oats.

H. B. Perine is now with the Armour Grain company as a cash grain broker.

LOCAL MONEY SITUATION.

Some Bankers Assert That Only the Best Borrowers Are Entitled to That Figure—Steel Situation Shows Improvement — Elevated Traffic — Tobacco Consolidation—Can Reorganization Is Unconfirmed—Gas Company Is Rushed with Orders.

There is no particular change in the western monetary situation, but strength is gaining gradually, and practically none of the local banks is putting out funds under 4½ per cent. In some instances bankers assert that only the best class of borrowers is entitled to that figure.

Much sentiment is based on what the conditions were a year ago, and as rates now are around 1 per cent lower than at that time many of the best judges of conditions feel there will be a sudden improvement.

Western Steel and Iron.

The western iron and steel situation is showing steady improvement. The increase in demand for products is said to cover the full list, and while small in each individual instance forms a considerable volume when taken as a whole. The recent reduction in prices for finished materials had the influence of keeping back trade for a time, although now this hesitancy is gradually being eliminated.

Consumers are beginning to feel that prices have nearly reached the bottom for the present.

Tobacco Consolidation.

Since the announcement of the plan of unification of the Consolidated, American, and Continental Tobacco companies, experts have been endeavoring to ascertain how the contention of the syndicate managers to the effect that a reduction in capitalization of around $110,000,000 is to be effected under the plan can be figured out.

When the Consolidated Tobacco company was formed three years ago for the purpose of acquiring control of the American and Continental Tobacco companies, it issued $40,000,000 of common stock of both companies. At that time the American had $54,500,000 of common stock outstanding and the Continental had $48,146,100 of common stock.

The American stock was acquired on the basis of $200 in bonds for $100 in stock and the Continental on a basis of $100 in bonds for $100 in stock. All but $225,450 of the American common stock and $17,000 of the Continental were thus acquired.

Plan of the Consolidation.

The outstanding American Tobacco company 8 per cent preferred ($14,000,000) and $31,077,500 of Continental Tobacco 8 per cent preferred were left undisturbed. It should be stated, however, that $16,767,100 of Continental Tobacco preferred in addition to preferred referred to above is held in the treasury of the Consolidated company. The capitalizations of the Consolidated Tobacco company and of the American and Continental companies would then compare as follows, the former two companies before and the latter after the consolidation:

CAPITALIZATION.

	American.	Continental.	Consolidated.
Com. stock	$54,500,000	$48,846,100	$40,000,000
Pref. stock	14,000,000	48,844,000
Bonds			157,378,200

The foregoing table shows a combined capitalization of $166,190,700 for the American and Continental companies, of which $119,873,700 was acquired by the Consolidated company, leaving $46,317,000 outstanding.

As the Consolidated Tobacco bonds were issued to take up the stocks, it is hardly fair to count this stock, acquired and held in this manner, as actually outstanding, so by combining the amounts not acquired by the Consolidated company with the capitalization of the latter company, the following table shows the remaining capitalization of the three companies:

Consolidated Tobacco common stock	$40,000,000
Consolidated Tobacco 4 per cent bonds	157,000,000
American Tobacco com. outstanding	225,450
American Tobacco pfd. outstanding	14,000,000
Continental common outstanding	14,000
Continental preferred outstanding	31,077,500

Can Reorganization.

Diligent inquiry among bankers, commercial interests, and brokers here has failed to verify the reports that plans for the reorganization of the American Can company are being carried forward. Much to the contrary, one local interest, a man who is a fair sized holder of the company's securities and who usually keeps in thorough touch with such matters, says that financial readjustment of the Can company's affairs is a long way off.

Match Situation.

"It may be perfectly true that the Union Match company is preparing to precipitate a price war, but we have not felt the competition locally as yet," said an officer of the Diamond Match company. "They always have made a practice of shading prices, so we do not feel the renewed efforts to obtain business alleged on their part. We have not lowered our prices in the least, nor is it expected that we shall have to. There is plenty of business to handle without fighting for that which always is more or less competitive. Our September sales thus far have fully equalled those of a year ago."

People's Gas.

The meter and gas stove department of the People's Gas company is said to be rushed to its utmost capacity filling fall orders. It is said that the inquiry for ranges and heating devices is fully as brisk as it was a year ago at this season, and it is believed the output for the entire autumn this year will show up fully as well.

Chicago Stock Market.

The shares of the American Can company were a redeeming feature in an otherwise dull local security market yesterday. Following are the sales and range of prices:

Foreign Exchange.

Sterling opened weak, and shortly after trading began declined fully ten points. The fall was attributed principally to the small demand for remittances, as offerings were not large.

Rates for actual business were quoted as follows: Bankers', sixty days, 4.8430@4.8435; bankers', sight, 4.8655@4.8660; cable transfers, 4.8705@4.8710; commercial long, documents payment, 4.84@4.84¼.

Continentals were also lower; francs closed at 5.18¾, plus 1-32@5.18¼, less 1-32; marks, 95 5-16@95⅜, less 1-64; guilders, 40 3-16@40¼. The market was heavy at the close. Posted rates of the leading drawers were quoted as follows:

Sterling	4.88	Vienna, kroners	20⅝
Paris, francs	5.16¼	Switzerland, francs	5.16¼
Berlin reichsmarks	95½	Italian lire	5.15⅝
Amsterdam, florins	40½	Russian rubles	51.80

Clearings in Chicago yesterday were $28,758,612, and a week ago $32,599,586.

New York exchange sold yesterday in Chicago at 30c discount before clearings and 20c discount after clearings.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—[Special.]—The market was strong all day, but did not reflect the great strength shown in New York. There were good buying orders under the market, but they failed to stimulate activity. American Telephone, for which active demand appears to have ceased, declined. Home rails were steady. Call loans, 2¼@3¼ per cent; time loans, collateral, 4@4½ per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 4@5 per cent; clearing house loans, 2 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Despite the fact that it was stock exchange pay day there was little pressure in the money market today. Discounts were affected by the heavy gold shipments to London. Consols hardened on investment purchases, but eased at the close. Americans opened firm, and were unusually active and buoyant. Erie, Pennsylvania, and United States Steel were the features. Prices closed easier. Grand Trunk recovered on traffic hopes. Japanese were weak on the realizations of tired bulls.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, increased	£978,000
Circulation, decreased	416,000
Bullion, increased	562,303
Other securities, decreased	463,000
Other deposits, decreased	1,877,000
Public deposits, increased	2,448,000
Notes reserve, increased	963,000

Government securities unchanged.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 58.56 per cent, as compared with 57.15 per cent last week.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Prices on the boerse today improved upon New York advices. Iron shares were higher on large foreign demand.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Stocks on the bourse today were firm and buoyant. Russian imperial 4s reacted 95.14. Russian bonds of 1904 were quoted at 503.80. The private rate of discount is 1¼@1½ per cent.

Treasury accounts current, increase, 19,250,000 francs.
Gold in hand, decrease, 10,425,000 francs.
Bills discounted, increase, 26,000,000 francs.
Silver in hand, decrease, 5,500,000 francs.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—No material change in the attitude of buyers of dry goods is evident, but the statistical position of many lines is growing stronger every day, and it is believed that a realization of this condition may change the attitude of certain operators before long. Jobbers are still fairly active, but the rush of the business is over in the local market.

CENSURES THE UNION TRACTION

The coroner's jury yesterday in the case of Mrs. Goldie Kurtzon, 115 St. Louis avenue, returned a verdict censuring the Union Traction company for not properly regulating the running of cars in the Washington street tunnel. The woman died of injuries received in a collision on Sept. 6.

6% Gold Mortgages

secured on the best farming property in the Northwest.

As safe as government bonds and far more profitable. I have some choice offerings which will appeal to trustees of estates and colleges and conservative investors everywhere. I will afford the fullest opportunity for investigation, examination and inquiry as to both the investment and my standing, responsibility, and reliability. I will be at Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, from September 15 to September 18, and will welcome business callers.

I personally know all about every piece of land covered by these mortgages, and every person giving them. Been selling these mortgages for 18 years and have never lost a cent for a customer, nor foreclosed a mortgage. I collect all the interest and principal without charge, and remit in New York Exchange. One national bank president has invested $50,000 of his own money with me and $25,000 in trust funds.

Write me here or write or call on me in Chicago.

WILL SEE REMODELED THEATER

Visit of Inspection to Old Iroquois Is Planned by Special Council Committee.

The special theater commission of the council this afternoon will make an inspection of the old Iroquois theater building, remodeled into a vaudeville house, which will open next Monday.

John E. Sullivan has recommended the granting of a license, and the fire department and building department also must act.

Sullivan reported that the Randolph Amusement company, incorporated Aug. 20, will operate the theater, with Richard Hyde president, H. W. Behman vice president and treasurer, and Hugo Hirsch secretary. All are residents of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Only Two Days More!

BUT YOU WILL FIND A HARVEST OF BARGAINS HERE UP TO the last hour of the sale tomorrow afternoon, because the conditions are constantly creating new bargains. Department heads are instructed to prevent, from day to day, the accumulation of broken lines in their stocks.

These Last Days

bring such crowds that heavy stocks of merchandise literally melt away before them. Such tremendous selling inevitably produces broken lots in the course of daily business. Our constant effort is to make prices that will cause all such broken lots to be closed out at once.

LAST 2 DAYS

at our new location, State and Madison streets, where we have bought the business of H. G. Selfridge & Co., is always in mind. We desire nothing but fresh, new goods there. That is our motive—and the strongest possible motive—for continuing these bargain opportunities to the last.

The Last "Bargain Friday"

of the closing out sale is today. As this sale has surpassed any previous event of the kind, so today in the Original Economy Basement will surpass any previous "Bargain Friday" on this corner. You cannot afford to miss it.

The Opportunities for Men to provide themselves with distinctively men's goods at savings never before equaled will also end tomorrow. On the main floor just inside the Washington street door you will find them—the best values ever offered to Chicago men.
